THE INDIAN FIGHT.

Conflicting Reports—Further Trouble Feared.

Joe Smith arrived here last Thursday evening from Izee and was seen by THE TIMES-HERALD man. Mr. Smith was not in the fight with the Indians but saw some of the posse, talked with them and was given to understand that all the Indians were killed. Reports are conflicting. Prosecuting Attorney Miller received a telephone message from the sheriff Livingston of Grant county Friday evening which stated that two Indians were killed, two wounded and two captured. Below is given the report of the battle as it appeared in the Canyon News and also a later dispatch which we get from the Boise Statesman.

Izee Or., Oct. 25—9 o'clock P.M. [Special] to the News:
The Columbia Indians who are camped here were on the war path today. The Indians accused a hired man of Dave McGill's of stealing a horse, prompting the hired man to shoot at the Indians. The redskins assembled at the home of Dave McGill demanding the surrender of the man and threatening to shoot the women on the place. During the melee Mr. John Hyde was shot at but luckily the bullet fell wide of its mark. The woman occupants of the house were ordered to deliver up the man and were nearly frightened to death, the Indians covering them with guns.

Dean and Charley Officer arrived in Canyon City on horseback, making the trip of nearly 40 miles in three and a half hours. They left shortly afterward with two pack horses loaded with ammunition. Dave McGill and wife, Henry Snodgrass and a posse of citizens from John Day left about 1 o'clock in the morning loaded with ammunition and guns.

THURSDAY 10 A.M.
An engagement took place between the Indians and settlers this morning on Deer Creek. One Indian was killed, Geo. Cutting son of Dave Cutting was seriously wounded by a shot in the arm. 12 o'clock M.

Fred Mosier and Frank Duntin had their horses shot from under them. Fighting is still going on. The people are flocking into the town from the surrounding country. Women and children are greatly frightened.

12:30 p.m.
A message was received asking for medical assistance and more armed men.

At 1:30 p.m. Dr. Ashford and Tom Morrison left for Izee, and expect to reach there about 7 o'clock. A posse of citizens from town under the leadership of Judge Laycock have just left for the scene of battle. The following well known citizens compose the posse, Judge Laycock, Elmer Overholt, special correspondent for the News, Gary Cozad, Sam Parrish, Clyde Lockwood, A. B. Hennessy and C. Toddhunter.

GEORGE CUTTING DEAD
1 p.m. Geo. Cutting died from the effects of his wounds at noon today. Justice Rullison issued warrants for the arrest of the Indians, and turned them over to Clay Toddhunter.

2:20 p.m.
The Indians have headed toward Murderer's creek with the settlers in full pursuit. Several Indians are reported killed.

2:30 p.m.
The redskins have scattered at the head of Murderer's creek, some going in an easterly direction and some going toward the South Fork of the John Day river. The boys are hot after them.

3 p.m. another posse of citizens composed of Ed Luce, Walter Brown and Atty. Wood headed by Clay Toddhunter left in Ed Luce's conveyance loaded with rifles and ammunition.

3:45 p.m. Several of the mounted horsemen have returned, having pursued the Indians as far as Deer creek.

Latest from Izee at 11 o'clock says: Everything is quiet, the posse arrived at 8:30. Our correspondent says he would like to have a bed.—Grant County News.

LATER.

(Boise Statesman.)
Baker City, Or., Oct. 28—A telephone message from Canyon City states that Columbia Joe and nine warriors came into Prairie City today and informed the citizens there would be no further bloodshed. Still great excitement prevail and settlers fear further trouble, as the number of Indians in the vicinity is increasing and they are well armed. Several settlers today telephoned to Baker City for a large number of rifles and more ammunition. They say they are able to take care of themselves and will easily subdue the Indians upon arrival of the fire arms.

Cutting, who was killed in Wednesday's battle was buried at Canyon City this afternoon.

Dr. Ashford of Canyon City has responded to the summons from Cummings creek the scene of yesterday's battle to attend wounded Indians. Three of the wounded will die, making the total of seven killed since the trouble began.
