On the expansion question Mr. McKeley is once more proving that he is a follower, not a leader.

If the railroads are allowed to have their way in Chicago, the name of the town should be changed to Yerkesville.

There are a great many New Yorkers who will refuse to accept Tom and Teddy as a satisfactory substitute for Tom and Jerry.

In Bob Ingersoll's philosophy mankind is divided into two classes—those who are willing to pay to hear him lecture and those who are not.

Poor old Gen. Garcia! Spanish bullets and Cuban fevers could not kill him, but he died, in Washington, Sunday, of pneumonia.

It may be distressing to some individuals that the democrats of the house are harmonious, but it is highly gratifying to the rank and file of the democratic party.

Southern hospitality opened its doors to the presidential party, and it will be a long time before any member of the party forgets their experience "Away down South, in Dixie."

Perhaps Uncle Sam will not get so much British jolly, now that the joint commission has failed to agree upon a scheme of commercial reciprocity for this country and Canada.

The Maine legislature will have an opportunity next month to show whether it indorses the un-American attitude Senator Hale took previous to the war and still maintains. Hale's successor is to be elected, and he is, of course, a candidate.

Warner Miller's Nicaragua Canal Company, which will receive $5,000,000 if the bill now before congress becomes a law, claims to have spent in actual cash $4,500,000; but that claim doesn't explain that the money was mostly spent in paying big salaries to lobbyists and ornamental officials.

Keeping constantly at it is the key to successful advertising, says the Brooklyn Chronicle. You can outspurt much and win. A business career that goes by fits and starts will not pay so well in the long run as a business that follows a course mapped out for it and keeps increasing its advertising as the business demands it until the maximum is reached. There is a maximum for a small business beyond which it is not economy or policy to go. Have you advertised from policy because some one else did, or because you meant to get something out of it? This will bear thinking over.

An Irishman, in order to celebrate the advent of a new era, went out on a little lark. He didn't get home until 3 o'clock in the morning, and was barely in the house when a nurse rushed up and uncovering a bunch of soft goods showed him triplets. The Irishman looked up at the clock which said three, and then at the three of a kind in the nurse's arms, and said: "O'm not superstitious, but thank heaven that Oi didn't come home at twelve."—Ex.

A Fatal Accident.

Oregon City, Dec. 14.— Isaac Allison, aged about 55 years, was killed this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by falling on a steam woodsaw while it was in motion. He came out of the woodshed and attempted to pass between the woodpile and the sawtable, when he slipped and fell on the saw while it was making about 100 revolutions per minute, the steam having just been turned off. The saw caught his right shoulder and nearly severed his body, cutting off the lower part of the heart. He left a widow and four grown daughters, three of whom are married. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.—Morning Oregonian.

Mr. Allison was formerly a resident of this county. His son in law F. M. Jordan, received a letter from a daughter of the deceased in which she stated that the fatal accident occurred at their home where the woodsaw was at work sawing their wood. The last stick had been cut and the owners of the machine were preparing to move it. The old time friends of the family here, deeply sympathize with the bereaved family.

Geo. Marsden Dead.

Burt French arrived from the P-ranch yesterday evening with the sad news of the death of George Marsden, brother of our esteemed fellow-townsmen, Dr. W. L. Marsden.

About 10 o'clock Monday morning the deceased complained of having a headache and said he would go up stairs and lie down. At 8 o'clock p.m. Burt French and Manager South went to his room to see how he was and were informed he was all right but for the headache and it was thought nothing of. At 12 o'clock Monday night he awoke some one who slept near him by groaning, when found he was unconscious and Dr. Marsden sent for at once; he never regained consciousness. The doctor started for the P-ranch, thinking from what the messenger said his brother was suffering from pneumonia, but was met near the Narrows by another messenger, with startling news that he had died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

The deceased was a native of California, aged 33 years. He leaves a father and mother in Whittier, Los Angeles Co., California, and one brother, Dr. Marsden of this place. His aged parents have been telegraphed the sad tidings and asked what disposition to be made of the remains, which in all probability will be shipped to California immediately.

Geo. Marsden came here last April on a visit to his brother, and also to look at the country with a view of locating. When F. S. Reider resigned his position as book-keeper of the French-Gienn Live Stock Co July 1st to become deputy county clerk, the position was offered the deceased which he accepted.

It is a sad blow to his brother, Dr. Marsden, as well as the many friends the deceased had made during his short stay here.

Dr. Marsden is expected to arrive with the body sometime today.

LATER—Mrs. Dr. Marsden has just received a telegram from the parents of the deceased giving instructions that the remains be interred here for the present. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

The Best Christmas Present.

The best Christmas present we can say without fear of contradiction in the majority of cases is a musical instrument. Musical instruments never get out of style, do not fall into neglect as the recipient grows older, and are almost the only gift that improves under usage. For instance, if you give a friend a Washburn Guitar, Mandolin or Banjo that cost you $15 or $20 you present him with the means of hundreds of hours of keen enjoyment. Besides you present him with an instrument that will greatly improve with usage and age. It is no trouble for us to show and play on musical instruments. Call in and see them.
