If there was a bounty on rabbit scalps, Harney county would be busted in a short time this kind of weather. The Indians and dogs are having a feast as the snow is too deep for the rabbits to run and they can be knocked over with clubs.

Mason & London received a new lot of fine groceries last Monday, and yesterday invited us to try some of their canned strawberries and Bartlett pears. They are a new brand and certainly the best canned fruit we have tasted since we left Missouri.

Many horses will die on the range this winter. Our stockmen are saving all their hay for cattle and sheep, leaving their horses to rustle in the hills. Horses have heretofore pulled through the winter but the grass was too dry last fall to be good feed, and the snow of last Monday was deeper than has been for several years. Those who drove their horses to the desert before the snow came will perhaps save them or at least some, but horses left in the hills will nearly all die of starvation.

We are very much in need of cash and during this month will send out statements to all our subscribers who are more than one year in arrears which we hope will be promptly settled. If the paper is worth taking it is worth paying for and we can't live on glory.

The Prineville Review says: "Last Sunday, while coming to town from his ranch, William Wigle saw a peak in the Cascade mountains, known here at Mt. Washington, in a state of eruption. Mr. Wigle is a close observer, and is confident that smoke came from the peak. It was also witnessed by several other responsible men. At some time this section has been in a state of eruption, and there is no uncertainty that what Mr. Wigle says he saw is not fact."

Harney county hens have been on a strike since the holidays. The manager of this great religious weekly had a birthday last week, —something that happens once a year, regular—and as he happened to have a half dollar in his pocket thought he would get some eggs for a cake—a luxury that cannot be enjoyed oftener than once a year. He found two eggs for which he paid 5 cents each. Now something must be done before another birthday; our farmers must either feed their chickens more or change the diet.

One of the heaviest snowfalls this county has experienced for years fell last Monday and Tuesday. The wind blew a gale almost all the time, causing the snow to drift and making the roads almost impassable. The O-B stage due here yesterday forenoon arrived this afternoon, while the one that left here for Ontario Monday evening arrived in Harney, 16 miles from here, at daylight next morning. It is hard to give the exact depth of the snow in the valley this morning on account of the drifts, but it is thought to be 32 inches on the level. It is a good thing for stock that the weather is moderate, for if it had turned cold during the blizzard many would have perished. As it is, stock on the range will suffer much and very few will pull through the winter. Those being fed are doing very well and up to this time we have heard of no great loss.
