JULIAN BYRD - - - - - Mar'ner.

Boss Hanna seems to be stuck on the London interview cure, or to have taken on a new press-agent.

The "kissing bug" may be something new, but there have probably been kissing bees ever since Adam made love to Eve.

Spanish merchants will withdraw $30,000,000 capital from Cuba because of the uncertainty of the future government of the island.

Alger is in danger of convicting himself of being all sorts of a liar; he should keep a record of his denials and refer to it before opening his mouth in public.

It is to be hoped that the democratic state convention of Ohio will not throw away the existing opportunity to carry the tide, by nominating a weak ticket.

Senator Jones has written to a friend that he has recovered his health and will resume active work as chairman of the democratic national committee as soon as he returns to this country.

It would not be very surprising if the next democratic national platform contained a plank against the shelling trust formed by the anti-civil service law. Many have thought that such a plank would vote-getter.

Trust is now being formed to buy the entire coffee product of the world. If something is not done to head off this insidious trust, the water and air supply of the world will some day be bought by a trust.

Let-to-be Henderson should be very about a little thing like the ex-Czar Reed to be in congratulations. Cablegrams are expensive; besides the picked out another man speaker.

Republicans—Little Billy, for instance—are showing disposition to shy at the proposition to fix the single gold dollar by law, instead of leaving the will of the secretary treasury as it is under present law.

City marshal should do something about the hole in the ash house lot on the corner of this office. They are dirty water from the streets to run off into a hole in the stench of which is not weather, besides being a disease breeder.

Recent decision in the suit we presume has Mr. Humphrey's great scheme in the head. All the water we can get in county and don't project Malheur lake tapped for taken into another was his intention.

Standing Gov. Teddy's promise that the indicted with the New should be proved to find the men guilty of not actually stealing, is taxpayers money, respect of the investment of the Governor's to be an elaborate everybody connected.

He recently said that bandits in Cuba, punishment has just at a rich merchant has been kidnapped family notified that he'd until a ransom of $8,000 was paid for his release. Now, perhaps, Gen. Brooke will say there are no kidnapers in Cuba.

Another scorching sermon has been preached from an Atlanta pulpit. Bishop Morrison said in that sermon: "Thousands of men will not tell the truth unless they know they can make something by it. The moral decay of the present age is due to this disregard of truth. Lies are put up in packages, sent out in barrels, and hung on hooks."

The cable reports that negotiations are under way for the payment of a bribe to a member of Aguinaldo's cabinet to come over to the Americans. It is in order for somebody to explain from what fund such a payment could be made. Congress certainly never appropriated any money to be used for bribery.

The American in the vicinity of Manila is in danger of being flooded out. Another indication of the "great value" of the Philippines.

Hanna's political views, via cable from London, are very expensive luxuries for the newspapers which have to pay the tolls.

The Klondike.

THE TIMES-HERALD man had a talk with Chas Roper last Saturday. Chas is well satisfied with his stay of one year in the Klondike but will not return. He and Herman Lanen prospected for some time after their arrival at Dawson, but not striking "dirt" in paying quantities finally went to work on a lay where they did very well. The trip was not so difficult as when they went in over the Chilkoot pass there being a railroad to the summit now, the road bed of which he informs us, was blasted through solid rock. Mr. Roper showed us a ring made of gold dug by himself, the main band of which is smooth and on the outside there are little nuggets of gold with quartz.

His opinion is the same as others who have returned from that section, that Alaska is no place for a man to go without he has some money. The inducements for business are good, but the chances for good wages are not so promising. Mr. Roper met John Jacquemin, formerly of this place and says John is not doing much. John Mahon is rustling and will come out with a good "pile". Paul Locher is making money and that Mr. Lesing, a former resident of Harney looks prosperous and appears to be doing well, but did not know what kind of business he was following. Thos Dain, who returned with him made money and will remain on his ranch near Harney. Chas expects to leave for his old home in New York soon where he will visit for a while and then return to this county where he has land and stock to occupy his attention.

Mr Roper is one of our oldest residents and is known by almost every man, woman and child in Harney county all of whom are glad to hear of his good fortune.

Court Adjournd.

County court adjourned last Wednesday. The following are the proceedings of the last day. The examination of the books and statements of clerk, sheriff and treasurer for the six months ending June 30, the court found that the statements of the clerk and sheriff balanced. The report of the treasurer did not balance and he was given until the next term to submit a report.

G. W. Hayes employed as county attorney for the next six months.

Additional Locals.

C. S. Biggs received more furniture this week.

C. A. Byrd is building an addition to his furniture store.

C. E. Kenyon, the P. L. S. Co. book keeper left for Vale this morning on business for his employers.

Glen Bushey, Wm. Rane and Jos. Nolf, three young men from Pendleton, arrived here today on their way to Stein Mountain to fish and hunt.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kelley and daughter Minnie, Misses Jennie Racine, Cora Gates and Deloras Racine, Messrs Sam Pardeh, Adolor Racine and Tom Sagers left this morning for Emigrant creek, where they will spend a few days fishing.

The Portland Telegram of July 12th states that J. S. Kenyon, a Harney county man who went to Alaska in 1897 is registered at the St. Charles, on his return home. This removes all doubt of it being our former townsman. His daughter Mrs. Burethor, received a letter from him about two weeks ago in which he stated that it was not probable he would be out this summer. He also spoke of needing some machinery which accounts for his delay in Portland. She now thinks he is planning a surprise for home folks by coming unexpectedly.

There was quite an exciting time at the Cowing ranch a few minutes yesterday afternoon. The team with which Eddie Cowing was taking ran away throwing Eddie under the rake and dragging him about three hundred yards under the teeth of the rake. The boy came out with some badly scratched arms and a few bruises. The poll of the rake broke which caused the horses to run. One horse was so badly cut that it bled to death and the other is on three legs. It was indeed a narrow escape for Eddie who says he does not know how he kept from being caught under the teeth of the rake. Mr. Cowing brought the pieces of the machine to town today for repairs.
