

M. V. Gates, of Hillsboro, Oregon, spent several days in Burns this week looking over the situation with a view to putting in an electric light plant and water system. Mr. Gates has put in several such plants in Oregon and thoroughly understands his business. He met with the city authorities on last Wednesday and discussed the matter with them, explaining what he considered the best plan for a water system in Burns. He did not submit a proposition, but will later communicate with the city council. He outlined a plan similar to his contracts with other places where he now has plants in operation. The city to put up a part of the amount of the cost of the plant and at the expiration of a stated time the city would have the option of purchasing the plant, the amount given in the first place being taken as first payment. Mr. Gates stated privately that in his opinion it would take $30,000 to put in a suitable plant here. In that case, should the plant be put in, Burns would have to be bonded for $10,000. While nothing definite has been done in the matter, it is nevertheless well to study the proposition. No bonds will be issued without a vote on the matter and decided by the taxpayers.

A Mississippi editor makes this appeal to delinquent subscribers: "Fish down into your pockets and dig up the dust, the editor is hungry and the papers 'bout to bust. We've trusted you for several years, and did it with a smile, so just return the compliment and trust us for a while. Our wife she needs stockings and baby needs a dress; Jimmie needs some breeches and so does Kate and Bess. Paul is on the hog train and Peggy's sick with grief, and good gosh almighty can't you give a man relief. Shell out those macks and turn loose the dimes, turn 'em loose and whistle and we'll have better times; there will be fewer patches on the bosom of our pants, and we'd make the paper better if we only had half a chance. Don't give us the old story long gone to seed; 'bout taking more family papers than the family want to read; but help to feed the printer, and he'll help our town to grow, and thus escape the sulphur in the region down below."

The Prineville Review says that horse thieves are rustling in the Hay creek section of that country. Two men, supposed to be members of the gang were seen in that vicinity not long since and several head of horses were stolen. The animals they were riding seemed jaded and were traded off to parties in that section and afterwards stolen. The Review says in part: "The horses which they had with them were the finest looking of any ever seen in this country and were thought to belong to a big stock firm near Stearns Mountains. The horse stolen from the Dunham barn was a bay gelding, weighs about 1200 pounds, branded with a figure 5 on the left stifle. It would be well for people to be on the lookout for these men and if they can be located, to inform the proper authorities."

A strong flow of boiling hot water has been obtained at an artesian well near Vale, Malheur county. Eastern Oregon has always had the reputation of being a "hot place," but we did not know the fiery furnaces were quite so close to the surface.—Salem Statesman.

There is no use intimating that hell is in this direction. That future home of Salem newspaper men and members of the Oregon legislature has long since been located at Amsted, California, on the line of the N-C-O Railroad, where the water is so hot it can only be used for cooking purposes. Vale, however, is said to be "warm" enough in other respects. There are several hot springs right here at Lakeview, but hell is a long ways from here.—Lakeview Examiner.

A number of wool sales have been made during the past few days for 10 cents per pound. While this is not as big a price as sheepmen had hoped for, it will put some money in circulation. Wool men have seen better days.

Of course the Oregonian had to give President McKinley Hill Columbia for bringing his invalid wife along on his trip to this coast. It was not right at all, especially since it prevented the president from coming to Portland. Had the presidential party reached the metropolis of Oregon before the illness of Mrs. McKinley, the Oregonian would not have a word against the lady's coming.

Now that the horse sale is over and J. W. Biggs has some spare time, he will begin to form plans and get the Harney County Fair program for this fall under way. Mr. Biggs promised some time ago to take charge of the fair this year at the earnest solicitation of many business men interested. The exact date has not yet been fixed, but we presume it will be about the same date as last year. It will be ably managed and from present indications will far surpass the first one. We hope to give some definite information about the coming fair in a short time.

Andrew Carnegie quits business with $200,000,000 in cash. How did he get so vast a sum? Primarily through the favor of the government, which "protected" him against foreign competition during long years, while he used his opportunity to deny to labor its just share and at the same time to export from consumers unconscionable prices. The donation of $10,000,000 which he is now making so ostentatiously in Scotland was taken away from those to whom it rightfully belonged in America. Observe that Carnegie got this money under pretense of "protecting" the American workmen. It is a consistent over-coming of the whole colossal fraud that the money now goes to Europe.—Oregonian.

Wheat speculation, love and business are the motives of a great serial story by Merwin Webster, authors of The Short Line war, which will be begun in The Saturday Evening Post of May 25.

Ex-President Cleveland will contribute to the following issue (June 1) an able paper on the Waste of Public Money. In this article Mr. Cleveland sounds a warning note against National extravagance and the criminally reckless expenditure of public money.

On Grand Army Day May 30th, memorial services will be held at the Baptist church at 2 o'clock p. m. Captain Harrison Kelley, President, E. N. Jamison, Chaplain. Following is the Program:

Opening Prayer, Rev. G. W. Black. Scripture Reading, Rev. A. J. Irwin. Memorial Address, N. A. Cornish.

Concluding ceremonies at the cemetery, ritualistic and decorative of the graves. The foregoing exercises will be interspersed with appropriate vocal and instrumental music.

By Order of Committee.

Cattle Organization.

Since the organization of the stock men along the Middle Fork to prevent cattle stealing in that locality, the Eagle is informed that a similar organization exists among the stockmen on the upper John Day valley, and its operation during the past year prevented any cattle from being stolen in that section. Their organization works in connection with a similar organization on Burnt river, and includes the Middle Fork country below Austin some distance. It would be well for this organization to work in harmony with the Middle Fork organization. By so doing a stop would be put to stolen cattle being driven up the Middle Fork, as well as being otherwise beneficial.—Canyon Eagle.

The Harney County Live Stock Association is anxious to work in conjunction with all such organizations. The stockmen of Grant county should join hands with our local organization in the work.

The Auction Sale.

While the number of buyers were few the horse sales the first of the week went off very satisfactory to all concerned. Local buyers were quite numerous and private sales were good. Less than 200 head were auctioned off, the price for ear load lots ranging from $4 to $27.90, while single horses brought as high as $70. Well broke horses sold well, one team only halter broke brought $130. In all about 600 head of horses and mules were sold. McClain and Biggs will arrange for another big sale about July 1st.
