JULIAN BYRD - - - - - Manager

It is said, and repeated, and reiterated, in many parts of the country, that the price of beef cattle on the hoof has fallen greatly during the past few weeks; one estimate is 40 per cent since September. If so, the butchers and packers must be making big money; consumers say they havent detected any material reduction in the retail price.—Telegram.

Eastern Oregon has no kick coming. Portland and the Sound are clamoring for her fat steers; China is eating bread made from her matchless flour; Omaha and Chicago are frying her mutton chops; Texas is baking her spuds and the world is spending money made from her gold. What does she want with a United States senator? Let those enjoy this little luxury that are not so bountifully blessed.—East Oregonian.

Stockmen in Deer Lodge valley, Montana, have organized against the smelters of that locality. The dense smoke from these institutions, it seems, settles over the valley in such volumns that stock suffer great injury. No sections of the country is free from its vexatious conflicts. The greater need of the west today is a better understanding and a more thorough respect for the rights of others, among the captains of the great industries. There is room for all and there must be regulation and justice for all.

Walter Wellman, the veteran newspaper correspondent, mentions 12 "great senators"—those who more than all the rest control legislation. They are Hanna and Forkner of Ohio, Frye and Hale of Maine, Lodge of Massachussetts, Allison of Iowa, Platt of Illinois, Spooner of Wisconsin, and Fairbanks and Beveridge of Indiana. As "second-class" senators—those who are not so powerful but are potentially influential, Wellman mentions 17, in which list he puts Quay, Elkins, Dolliver, Hoar, and others. These "great" Senators are almost all powerful because of committee chairmanships that they occupy. And not one of them would hit a trust—to hurt.

The Washington correspondent of Portland Oregonian makes the statement in a dispatch to that paper that the president has let it be known that, if congress shall fail to enact some anti-trust legislation before March 4, he will call an extra session, That, according to the correspondent, has sturred up these senators who have been preparing to sidetrack the issue. They realize that the president and the people are in earnest and that something must be done. Consequently they are casting about to see what can be accomplished. If they hope to evaid public condemnation they will not only seek to secure the enactment of a law on the subject, but will strive to make it a good law in every particular. The people are out for anti trust legislation and they will not be balked in their purpose; they have considered the matter very carefully and they know that more effective goverment control is necessary.

C. A. Rhea, a retired sheepman of Heppner, says that the sheep business will soon be a thing of the past in Eastern Oregon on account of the rapid settlement of the public land. He says:

"Cattle are gradually taking the place of sheep already and the change will go on until cattle will drive sheep out as sheep drove cattle out 20 years ago.

"Sheep must have mountain range and plenty of it in summer, and the mountain range except in a few instances, is about cut off from the sheepmen of Morrow, Umatilla, Sherman and Crook Counties, as the permanent settlers in the mountains have horses and cattle of their own to eat up the grass, and they seem to be more determined than ever to keep the prairie sheep from coming in.

"The bunchgrass lands are becoming too valuable for sheep range, and are gradually being transformed into farms. Even in the sandy levels near the Columbia River many settlers are locating, and I look for irrigation systems to turn these sandy wastes into fruit farms and hay fields. They can be no longer used as winter range by the sheepmen, as they have been heretofore

The European dandies are adopting women's wear. There is one firm alone which makes 18,000 corsets each year for these fellows. Their shirts are all ruffles and frills with choice embroidery and feather stitching the stockings are silk with silk initials on them together with other fancy needle work. They paint and powder their faces, they put their hair in curling papers of a night and of a morning use the glass just the same as their sisters do. —Ex.

Conkey's Home Journal (Chicago) presents in its January issue several new departments which cannot fail to be strongly attractive for women and girls. Noticeable among the new features in this popular magazine are "Practical Lessons in Lace-Making" and in the making of "Coiffure Ornaments." It is announced that the first of a series of lessons in Home Millinery will be presented in the February issue. Other strong features are "Original Designs for Waists" "Miss Finch's Table talks," "Preparing and Serving a New Year's Dinner," and a thoroughly up-to-date Pattern Department. The foregoing is supplemented by short stories from William Lightfoot Visscher, Eben E. Rexford and William H. Hamby, a special illustrated article descriptive of "The Greatest Electric Railway in the World" and a charming "Melody" for the piano.

It is suggested by an exchange that a bill will be presented to the legislature at the coming session to abolish the office of District Attorney as it now exists in this state, and create, in lieu thereof, the office of County Attorney for each county. This is a move in right direction, and there should be no hesitation on the part of solons in speedily enacting such a law. In Idaho they have this system, and it is considered much more satisfactory than the Oregon system. The County Attorney system was established there while Idaho was a territory. Up on the adoption of the Idaho constitution, for supposed reasons of economy, the District Attorney was adopted, but it met with such disfavor that it was but a short time until an amendment to the constitution was adopted resuming the County Attorney system. Having practiced law in Idaho for over 10 years, during the time that both systems were in vogue, we unhesitatingly declare in favor of the County Attorney system, from the standpoint of economy, convenience to the people and better subserving the ends of justice.—Dufer Dispatch.

ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
