

We will soon know about the government irrigation projects and find whether Oregon is going to get any of it.

An exchange is responsible for the following: Tie a string about a yard long to a common door key and take the string in the right hand, holding it so the key will clear the floor by three or four inches.

"Oh, yes," said James K. Decker, of South Carolina, "I went to the President's reception last night it was the first big affair of the kind I ever attended."

"How do you do, Mr. Decker?" said Colonel Roosevelt. "How do you do, Mr. Decker?" said Mrs. Roosevelt. "How do you do, Mr. Decker?" said Mr. Decker.

Any American girl is possibly, and probably, going to need to fall back upon her own resources some time. The ups and downs of fortune are too certain, too conspicuous, too need pointing out.

A Leaburg correspondent of the Eugene Register: A Pois-jade found a bullet in a fir tree the other day, which, it is believed was shot into the tree fully 100 years ago, judging from its size.

"I was engaged in splitting a green fir log 54 inches in diameter, when I found right in my heart what I supposed to be a leaden ounce bullet, such a would have been used in one of these old United States Army muskets that were in vogue a century ago.

The Baltimore American says: "The time will come in the near future when the real philanthropists of the world will devote themselves to the task of rendering the starving and ragged hordes that seek employment in the city self-supporting on the little plots of idle and otherwise useless ground in the country districts."

of these expeditions followed a bear up into these hills and emptied his old fire-lock so that the young sapling stopped its flight.

The attempt of the Portland republicans to hog both United States senators in Oregon so doubt contributed largely to the election of Mr. Falton, who was the choice of the rank and file of party, and a man of excellent character and good ability.

The approval by the President of the pass of the First Battle Development against the protest of many of Crook county's wealthiest and most influential citizens, leaves Crook county with only one thing to do as we view it.

The idea of leasing the public lands for grazing purposes at first looked aluring to many outside of those who would be direct beneficiaries of such a law, but upon a closer investigation the evils that would follow the enactment of any leasing law that could be framed are so serious that they destroy all well-meant provisions.

The Baltimore American says: "The time will come in the near future when the real philanthropists of the world will devote themselves to the task of rendering the starving and ragged hordes that seek employment in the city self-supporting on the little plots of idle and otherwise useless ground in the country districts."

A Great Newspaper.

The Sunday Edition of the St. Louis Republic is a marvel of modern newspaper enterprise.

The magazine section is illustrated in dainty tinted colors and splendid half-tone pictures. This section contains more high-class literary matter than any of the monthly magazines.
