A Little Busy.

Last week the Vale Gazette took up a whole page of its valuable space in announcing that Malheur county had captured the first government irrigation work.

Upon inquiry at the local land office the Times-Herald finds that in order has been received from the department to withdraw any land in Malheur county.

Nothing has been learned about the matter other than the article in the Gazette, and it appears that paper was a little busy in making such announcement.

A Washington dispatch to the Oregonian of recent date outlines the program for government surveys in Oregon for the coming season, and it fails to include Malheur county at all.

It has been decided that one topographic party will be engaged in Oregon during the coming summer, in mapping the country lying east, north and south of Union, including a portion of the Wallowa Valley.

topographic map of the Union quadrangle, as the area will be known. Something over 800 square miles will be covered by the surveying party, a portion of it extending into the proposed Wallowa forest reserve, which has never been completely surveyed by the General Land Office.

A party of surveyors under C. F. Dughart will enter the field immediately south of Canyon City, and work southward as far as Burns, traversing a considerable portion of the proposed Blue Mountain forest reserve. Most of this country has been heretofore surveyed by the Interior Department, but never before by the Geological survey.

The Grant County News announces it will remove from Canyon City to John Day, from which place it will be published in the future. The News is the oldest paper in Grant County, and has been published at Canyon City for many years.

From appearances a majority of our people do not know they are subject to a fine for cutting or breaking shade trees on the streets. Many trees have been planted by business men at various times but thoughtless people have been the cause of their destruction, not always intentionally, but carelessly.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that can be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body.
