Flying Wedges. A fat wallet often covers only 10 U's.

It is called pin money because it is the man who gets stuck. If a lamb wanders too far from home it may return short of its fleece.

The fool never knows when to welcome opportunity or good fortune.

A homely rich girl is prettier than a beautiful poor one—in the eyes of some men.

There is some chance of keeping a boy from smoking until you forbid him to do it.

The average man elings tenaciously to his own opinions, but he expects other people to change theirs.

It seems awful foolish to teach a boy to tell the truth when you are training him to be a business man.

A woman figures that a cash allowance is something to run up bills on and then get her husband to pay them.

A man's success in politics depends a good deal on his ability to say nothing and induce others to say, woe.

A large head may indicate brains, but a big head indicates that there was "something doing" the night before.

Mighty rivers rise in quiet places, but, like some men, the farther away from home they go the more noise they make.

Epitaphs of Failure. He lacked tact. Worry killed him. He was too sensitive.

He couldn't say "No." He did not find his place. A little success paralyzed him.

He did not care how he looked. He did not guard his weak point. He did not fall in love with his work.

He got into a rut and couldn't get out. He did not learn to do things to a finish.

He loved ease; he didn't like to struggle. He was the victim of the last man's advice.

He was padded down with useless baggage. He lacked the faculty of getting along with others.

He could not transmit his knowledge into power. He tried to pick flowers out of his occupation.

He knew a good deal, but could not make it practical.—July Success.
