We hear considerable complaint that a great deal of stock has been run out of this country and shipped to unknown parts, and that this practice has been going on for many years, says our Western Ways. In a country like this and many others for that matter, where stock is raised by promiscuously upon government lands during the summer season and often during winter as well, where the owner picks out his stock from among that of other men by the brand alone there is a chance for more or less confusion. In the general ride for the purpose of branding a great many calves or colts are missed. The following year this unbranded stock is found. It has been the custom for years past to brand these animals proportionately among the flock owners in the ride But it has also been considered that whoever placed his brand upon one of these animals regardless of the amont of stock he may own he would be just that much ahead. Now the facts are that in most cases an honest man can tell who this stock actually belongs to because it almost always runs wity its mother if she is living and in many cases it will be found still sucking. There are a few men in the country who will seperate this yearing, if not the spring calf or colt also, from its mother and after driving them miles apart, place their brand upon them and give themselves credit. There are cases known where men with scarcely any stock at all have accumulated quite a nice little band by this practice. It is needless for us to state that this is wrong, but the question is how can this, together with what we will term actual stealing and shipping out of the country be stopped? It seems to us that thorough organization and that as soon as possible is the only way.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, tells a new story of Mark Twain's apprenticeship. The humorist who was to make the world laugh was then employed as a reporter in Carson City, and was on duty one evening in the city council when the session was presided over by a municipal statesman of exceedingly pompous manner, who cherished no great fondness for the young Clemens. This councilman, ordinarily of no intellectual resourses, became hopelessly confused in a parliamentary tangly. Finally a motion was made to expunge from the records a certain matter which the presiding officer was extremely anxious should not become a part of local history. The motion having been seconded, was eagerly passed.

"The matter has been ordered expunged," declared the presiding councilman, "and the clerk will proceed—to expunge. It should be effectively wiped out, obliterated and totally destroyed." He paused to notice the effect of his sentence of annihilation. "Where, gentlemen," he asked, will you have the expunged matter deposited and placed?"

Mark Twain caught the attention of the councilman nearest him. "Let the expunged matter be worn under the chairman's hat," he suggested. "No one would think of looking there for anything."—San Francisco Star.

The Boise Capital News comments on the frauds of T. A. Wood, the pension shark of Portland, in the following manner:

The News' opinion may be taken as a fair estimate of the sentiment of all outside papers and showr that general "high regard" in which the Oregon specie of grafter is held:

"T. A. Wood, of Portland, Oregon, is a grafter who for many years has made it a practice to live off of the veterans of the Oregon Indian wars," says the News. "He has exploited them in every way possible and a special dispatch to the Oregonian states that five different pension examiners have been ordered at various times to investigate charges against him and that these charges are now made in upward of 600 cases. The pension bureau only permits an attorney to charge $25 for servises in pension cases, but charges are made that Wood has collected or demanded much more in numerous cases.

"One of Wood's acts of gross injustice to veterans is the refusing to turn over to the government a muster roll of one of the companies of the early Indian wars, thus depriving the veterans of the pensions which the muster roll would aid in establishing as being due

"The land office service in Oregon has been found full of grafters and now comes this exposure of Wood, who for many years has endeavored to make a commercial asset of his influence in a political way with the Indian war veterans, whom he pretends to serve only that he might betray."

Is lovely woman's method of carrying her money "in a safe place" changing? It sounds very unusal to hear of the St. Paul woman who had $7500 in her bustle.

There is a chance to make war really a fearful devastation when Dr. Leonard Wood is put at the head of the army. Pills may take the place of pistols.—Atlanta Journal.

Two years ago a Polander out on Nubbin ridge swallowed a grain of wheat. Last week he was attacked with a fit of coughing and coughed up a fifty-pound sack of flour and 100 pounds of bran. Truth is mighty and will prevail.—Hartford Dry Spring.

A Pennsylvania expert says most of the beer brewed in this country contains sulphites of lime, tartaric acid, citric acid, benzoic acid, tannic acid, salicylic acid, arcolic acid, kalrum medda sulphite, glucose and juniper berries. That seems like a whole lot for the money charged for a glass of beer.

The young man was hunting. He came to a lonely cabin, and, being thirsty, he knocked on the door for a drink. The drink was handed to him by a girl so charming that, with a smile, he said: "Would you be angry if I should offer you a dollar for a kiss?" "No sir," the girl answered, with a little blush. So he took the kiss and then he gave the maiden the dollar. She balanced it in her hand a moment. She knitted her brows in perplexity. "What," she asked, "shall I do with all this money?" "Why, anything you please my dear," said the young man. "Then," she murmered, "think I'll give it back to you and take another kiss."
