JULIAN BYRD - - - - - Manager

The little extra put out by the Times-Herald last Monday met with much favorable comment from our prominent business men and the public in general.

The Times-Herald realized the importance of letting the people know that, although Floral Hall had been burned, we would have a fair and as there would be no issue of any paper until today, the impression might get out that the fair would be postponed or the association be in no shape to receive exhibits.

The extra was put out voluntarily by The Times-Herald management and without one cent's cost to the Association or anyone else except the regular advertisers. It was sent to every subscriber on our books. It gave an account of the unfortunate fire and also assured its readers the fair would be held, reaching the people of this county almost a week in advance of regular publication day.

The Times-Herald is here to give its readers the best services possible in the way of local news. It felt that its readers were entitled to an extra. Its mission is to give the news. It is pleased with the many complimentary remarks and substantial encouragement at the hands of its readers and friends.

The Blue Mountain Eagle comes to us this week enlarged to eight columns. Bros. Patterson & Ward are getting out one of the best papers published in the interior and are receiving a good patronage. Success to you boys.

Taxes will become delinquent on Oct. 7 and the penalty and interest will be added after that date. Taxpayers should bear this in mind.

Another Benefit Performance.

Prof. W. F. Werschkul, who is at present conducting a music class in this city, will give a concert at the end of the term as is always his custom. Two years ago his class gave a concert which was well received and highly appreciated by our people.

Prof. Werschkul was asked to contribute a part of the proceeds from the concert toward the town clock fund and he readily consented. One half of the receipts of the concert will go for that purpose. The matter was brought before the class last night and met with unanimous approval and enthusiasm. Those taking part will now work with a will to make this concert the best production in the music line, ever given in our city. The concert will be given Thursday, Sept. 24.

THE ANDREWS SHOOTING.

Sheriff Allen and Dr. Marsden have returned from Andrews where they were called to investigate a shooting affray mentioned in The Times-Herald extra Monday. The man shot was not mortally wounded, as was inferred by the phone message.

Harry Egbert, a married man who runs a restaurant was shot by T. F. Murray. It seems that at a dance on Saturday night Chas. Owen was supposed to have insulted Egbert's wife and Egbert went to Smyth's store where Owen was sleeping. Egbert met Sommy Alberson in the store and asked him to step out as he desired to speak to Owen. He was armed with a pistol and demanded Owen to apologize for insulting his wife.

ed to speak to Owen. He was armed with a pistol and demanded Owen to apologize for insulting his wife. Owen claimed he did not insult her, when Egbert commenced to beat him over the head with the pistol. Young Alberson had seen the pistol and told Murray. The latter rushed into the store, and seeing Egbert beating Owen, drew his pistol and commanded him to drop the gun and throw up his hands.

JOHN MCKINNON KILLED.

The Oregonian of the 9th contains a press dispatch from Santa Rosa California stating that A. J. McKinnon was shot and instantly killed by A. Garred, an escaped lunatic. The dispatch says that McKinnon was sitting on a porch with a friend when Garred came along, pulled a pistol and fired without warning. The bullet passed through his heart. Garred made good his escape and a posse was after him.

Both men are well known here where John McKinnon was sheriff for two terms, and was a highly respected citizen. Garred was examined here at one time as to his sanity but was not committed as the dispatch states. Garred was committed to the insane asylum in California last April. He has two brothers living near Burns.

John McKinnon's parents, a brother and four sisters reside in this county. The dispatch ends: It transpires that Garred escaped from the asylum three weeks ago, and that since that time he had been hidden in his mother's home in this place. He had not been seen by any one in all that time, but today his mother becoming alarmed at his absence, made inquiry, and this revealed the fact of his having been here since his escape from the institution. Garred's mother is censured by every one for harboring the insane man in her home and for not notifying the officers.

There is much indignation over the affair, and even though he is insane there is a belief that Garred will be roughly handled when apprehended.

CAMILLE.

Sensational advertisement may fill a theatre for a single night, or sometimes even for a week, but when people throng into the theatre week after week and year after year, as they have done to see Camille during the years since it was first produced, there must be some potent reason. It is not far to seek. It is because Camille portrays great emotions and consequently gives opportunity for great acting. You can't have great acting without great plays, and great plays are only built upon great passions, overwhelming emotions. The instinct of the public in these matters is unerring. The box office tells a story that is beyond argument. Plays like Camille appeal to the intellect. Object to their problems as you may, you are forced to think about them. They draw ever player, from the highest to the lowest, because they sweep the gamut of all the emotions of which the heart is capable. Laughter, tears, intense dramatic tension, enthusiasm, fear—all are evoked, and best of all they bring to the surface human sympathy—that transcendent quality that distinguishes man from the brutes, and makes civilization possible. Plays like these are not written every year. Abolish them, and what does the stage become—a dreary parade ground for the trifling commonplace. Tragedy is admittedly the highest type of dramatic art. The "problem play" so-called, are nothing more nor less than the tragedies of modern life. So long as life presents these problems, the stage will assert its right to deal with them.—Florence Roberts, in S. F. Dramatic Review.

The Times-Herald recommends a first-class production of the above piece by Miss Georgia Harper and her excellent company, next week.

JOHN DAY BOYS HERE.

Several of the John Day track and ball team arrived last night to participate in the sports next week. They are all well built fellows and no doubt will be a formidable foe. The boys are being entertained by local athletes. Those who arrived last night are W. F. Foren, James Kennedy, W. A. Luce, Charles Crane, Lewis Dart, E. S. Hickman, Fred Woods, Horace Johnson, all of John Day and Henry Fisk of Prairie City. Robt. Jones, Frank Luce, Oliver Johnson, J. B. French and Joe Johnson are expected this evening.

THE TEACHERS INSTITUTE.

Again the Harney County teachers are the guests of Burns, and everything is being done by Supt. Bartlett, the instructors, and our enterprising citizens to make their visit here a pleasant one.

It is very much to be regretted that one of the instructors, President R. C. French, of the Eastern Oregon State Normal was not present, as it was the County Superintendents intention to have him here.

MONDAY.

The Harney County Teachers' Institute was called to order by Supt. J. C. Bartlett in the Business College at 9 o'clock last Monday morning. Prof. H. A. Dillard, of the Burns School, was chosen secretary.

The morning session opened with singing conducted by Mrs C. H. Leonard and the following institute work was taken up: Reading by J. H. Ackerman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Father Doyle. After recess, the subject of Geography was taken up and generally discussed.

The afternoon session was given to methods of teaching language. Supt. Ackerman being the chief instructor. Prof. A. C. Finn gave an instructive talk on the subject of reading. This completing the work for Monday the meeting adjourned for the day.

TUESDAY.

The teachers convention was opened this morning by singing the national anthem "America," after which the following program was carried out by the teachers:

The subject of spelling was introduced by Supt. Ackerman at the morning session, followed by Prof. A. C. Finn, who discussed the purposes and aims of reading. The next topic was, "A Program for the Rural School," which was presented by Supt. Ackerman, followed by a general discussion of the subject by the institute.

At the afternoon session Prof. M. E. Rigby read a very interesting paper on, "The Value of Commercial Training in the public schools." Supt. J. H. Ackerman lectured on "The Importance of Little Things," giving many practical illustrations of every day life, relative to "Little School Marm."

Prof. Tinn took up the subject of Arithmetic and gave a very interesting talk on the necessity for practical and thorough work.

WEDNESDAY.

The morning session was opened by singing the song "Oregon," after which the following work was taken up: History and geography, A. C. Finn.

Business Forms in Every-day Life, Prof M. E. Rigby. The afternoon exercises were opened with song service and the concluding work of the institute was as follows:

History and Geography—Prof. A. C. Finn; Penmanship, Prof. M. E. Rigby followed by a general discussion of the subjects. The secretary's record reveals the fact, that 20 certificates of attendance were issued.

Besides the above the following exercises were held at the Baptist Church Monday evening: Vocal solo, Sam Melhary. Vocal solo, J. G. Harper. Prayer Rev. A. J. Irwin. Lecture, "The Trend in Education, What Is It?" Hon J. H. Ackerman. Vocal solo, Prof. Werschkul. The institute was largely attended and great interest in educational matters was manifested by those in attendance.

A Resolution of thanks to Supt. J. H. Ackerman, was passed unanimously. The institute closed by singing, "God Be With you Till We Meet Again."

The following teachers were in attendance: J. H. Ackerman, A. C. Finn, H. A. Dillard, C. H. Leonard, A. C. Finn, M. E. Rigby, Lena Harky, Alice Smith, Leelah McGee, Mrs. C. H. Leonard, Hattie Bartlett, May Harrison, Maude Clark, Julia Greenlay, Ella Thompson, Alice Graham, Clarye Burrows, Vivian Hendricks, Mary Griffin, Mable Gowan, Ethel McGee, Ross Kern, Mrs. A.
