Several subscribers of The Times-Herald who live in the southern part of the county have been here during the past week attending court.

We are satisfied the trouble does not lie in the distributing office in Burns, as there is seldom if any complaints made here or at offices in this immediate vicinity.

A gentleman whose business brings him to Burns frequently and who has been here at intervals for the past ten or twelve years, remarked in the presence of The Times-Herald man the other day that he had never seen a place improve more rapid than this.

The U. S. grand jury has made its final report to Judge Bellinger and has been discharged.

JOE WOOLEY JUMPED UPON.

Joe Wooley, for many years a leading citizen of Granite, Grant county, has sold out his livery business in that town and brought his family to Baker City.

That is, he will reside in this city and be an honored and respected citizen, provided he does not have any experience like he had on last Wednesday night.

Late that evening Joe was wending his way homeward when his attention was attracted toward the beauty of the moon as it filtered its rays through a grove of trees.

He stopped to take in the beautiful sight, and leaned up against a giant cottonwood so as to rest at the same time.

He was not in that position long until an aged man armed with a heavy stick approached and informed him that it was against the peace and dignity of Baker City for him to loiter there.

Joe started to explain, but the old gentleman grew wrathful and made for him with the club upraised.

Then began a race around that tree which would have shamed a pair of circus horses in the ring.

Joe kept for enough ahead to keep out of reach of the stick, and finally dodged the irate old gentleman.

In speaking of the affair afterward Mr. Wooley stated that if he had had a gun with him in all probabilities he would have taken a shot at his assailant.

Up in Grant county Joe was town marshal, and constable, and was allowed a revolver for each office, but when he resigned his official positions he shed his firearms, and consequently he was unarmed when he had the above experience.

PLANTED CATFISH.

Geo. C. Duncan arrived here Thursday evening with something over 400 catfish which he brought from the Chewaucan.

Opinions differ as to the advisability of planting catfish in Silver River, some claiming they would kill all the other fish in the stream.

People who claim to know say this is not the case, however. "Uncle" George says he is positive they do not destroy other fish as trout and other kinds are seen and caught in the Chewaucan where there are thousands of catfish.

MORE RAILROAD RUMORS.

Rumors are again in the air of the extension of the Corvallis & Eastern over the Cascades.

It is reported that four sawmills east of the mountains are engaged in turning out ties for the proposed extension, and that they are being piled along the route to be traversed for miles.

It would bring them a vast amount of new business, and probably pay largely on the investment.

And it would be of great benefit to that country, and the central Willamette valley.—Statesman.

Died—At the home of her cousin.

Mr. C. Hanson of Burns, O., had the piles for many years and dollars could be had for nothing good.
