SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

It is with much satisfaction that the people of this section read the Oregonian's explanation of the course of that paper and the business men of Portland toward the unlimited possibilities for this country that the interest taken toward establishing the development of Eastern Oregon. Had the Oregonian expressed the same views when the delegation of Burns citizens was in Portland The Times-Herald would never have occasioned to "kick." Since an article recently published in these columns touched the notice of that Portland county has received just recognition from it never before. That is all we ask and expect. It was due us. The editorial mentioned which appears on the fourth page of this issue has the right sound and we thank the Oregonian for such expression. Keep up such work when occasion offers. Give Harney county the same consideration in all matters as other sections, and we will be a loyal people to Portland and reciprocate in every way possible.

Harney county has an irrigation proposition—the best in the state—that is also awaiting recognition from the press of Portland. The government has been investigating it with every indication of favorable results. Portland papers have not given it as much space as we think due it. Oregon will certainly be given one or more selections for government reservoir systems by next spring and we contend Harney county's project is far ahead of any other before the department from this state. This matter we desire to be brought before the public properly.

When Harney county enterprises and resources are put on the same footing and receive the same attention as other sections The Times-Herald will not be found grumbling.

While it is, indeed, a slow way to start a library, the movement of the Ladies Afternoon Club is meeting the Library Assn is commendable and should meet with the hearty approval of all good citizens. A fee of $1 entitles one to membership and the privilege of the library.

HON. A. W. GOWAN.

Ex-Senator A. W. Gowan yesterday received a telegram from Washington, announcing that his appointment as Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at this place had been confirmed. Hon. A. W. Gowan has served this district in both houses of the Oregon Legislature and has always taken a prominent part in politics. The gentleman is familiar with the duties of the office he is to assume and will take charge as soon as his bond can be forwarded and accepted. This appointment certainly meets with the approval of the people of this section with whom Senator Gowan has associated since establishing his home here in 1890. The Times-Herald joins his many personal friends in extending congratulations, and feels his administration of the affairs of the office will be highly satisfactory.

ATTEMPTS ANOTHER MURDER.

A press dispatch from Baker City says: Egbert the condemned murderdr of Attorney Saxton, passed through this city tonight on his way to Salem, in charge of Sheriff Allen and Deputy Buoy, of Harney county. Egbert was sentenced by Judge Clifford at Burns last week to be executed at Salem, January ——.

The officers were sure of the desperate character of their prisoner and had him heavily ironed. At Austin Station, on the Prairie City branch, from Burns to Whitney, this morning at breakfast the shackels were removed from his hands so he could eat. A heavy sledge hammer was lying on the floor of the room, which Egbert seized and turned upon Deputy Sheriff Buoy. Sheriff Allen sprang forward and seized the sledge from behind just as Egbert was bringing it down upon the deputy. A desperate struggle ensued for the possession of the sledge. Egbert was soon overpowered and his hands again shackled.

The man has remained heavily ironed since his last attempt at murder and will be kept in that condition until he arrives at the penitentiary. Just before leaving Burns, Egbert tried to knock his brains out against the side of his cell.

LATER—A telephone message from Sheriff Allen announces the safe arrival at Salem on Tuesday evening.

The dancing public will be delighted to learn that the Band Boys will have charge of the Christmas Ball.
