Direct Primary Law.

There has been some dissatisfaction expressed with the primary law this year, but it is significant that it has all come either from those who used to run the conventions and believe that government was instituted among men for the benefit of the machine, or from those who have listened to the plaintiff notes of these wounded leaders. Instead of a horde of office seekers bound to this or that faction and foisted on the public to feed at the public crib and to play into the hands of a small coterie of republicans the primary law stimulated the search for good candidates all over the city, and the result was a primary ticket composed largely of men whom the office had sought, unpledged and indebted to no one. Most of these men have been nominated. The result is the strongest ticket the republican party has had for years. A ticket of strong campaigners and men who are entitled to the confidence of the taxpayers and who have it. No convention ever did so well except when stimulated by popular impatience, and that was about once in a decade.

The machine politicians don't like the primary law, but they never have. They fought it from the first and continued to sneer at it. But it must be judged by its results. Two years ago it redeemed the city council from the clutches of the street railway company and this year it has insured another honest assembly and has given the opportunity for a much more satisfactory board of aldermen than the present one. No special interest can manipulate the people. The people may make mistakes, but if they do they can correct them. Under the convention system they were compelled to choose whatever was offered to them, and even after his unfitness was shown a dangerous alderman or assembly was often thrust down the popular throat. If he was a good party man he could do what he pleased with the interests of the public. If he "stood in" with any special interests and had access to its campaign fund it only made him a more desirable candidate. The self-constituted clique calling itself "the party" ignored both the real party and the interests of any one but themselves. The logical result of a continuance of that system would have been in St. Paul, as it has been generally, subjected to a machine, corruption and inefficiency in administration and the other evils of oligarchic rule masquerading as popular government.—St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer Press.

The failure of the cattlemen to hold a state convention in Portland as advertised last Saturday, was particularly unfortunate. It shows a weakness in the industry in this state that does not exactly exist. While the cattlemen are progressive and aggressive in fighting for their rights and interests, they undervalue the importance of organization. It is significant to mention that not a single scheduled meeting of the sheepmen's association has ever gone by default. It pays to meet and discuss your interests. It pays to maintain an organization. The market is organized against you, and you stand unprotected and helpless.—East Oregonian.

None of the good road bills proposed are likely to pass at this session of congress, although they have very strong backing. The sum of $24,000,000 was asked for to be divided among the states, according to the population. It is pointed out that during the past fourteen years there has been a balance of trade in favor of farm products of $4,800,000,000. As it cost more for the farmers to haul their products over dirt roads than it does for the railroads to carry the product to market, it would seem as if the farmers, who are anxious for good roads, should receive some consideration.—Ex.

BONDS OR NO BONDS.

Notices have been posted for a meeting of the taxpayers of this school district to be held next Saturday, April 30, for the purpose of voting on the proposition of bonding the district to erect a new school building. This is a matter that should have very careful attention and the expression of the entire voting population of the district.

This time it is business and no more meetings for the purpose of discussing plans.

Next Saturday will decide the matter as to whether we have a big brick or stone 8-room school building, or repair and remodel the present building.

The question is divided, some desiring a new building while others contend the present building should not be torn down, but can be remodeled and strengthened with nominal expense to meet our present needs and that of the future for several years.

The matter should call out every voter. Let us have no kicking about the final result. No matter what is decided upon let us all work together. Heretofore such matters have not been satisfactory and some one has always been kicking. If a majority of the voters vote bond every man in the district should put his shoulder to the wheel and push it along. If it is decided no bond let all work together to get the present building in as good repair as possible.

STOCKMEN DID NOT HAVE A MEET.

Attempt to Hold Meeting of the Oregon Association Fails.

Although this was the day set for the first convention of the Oregon Cattlemen's Association, the Auditorium, where the session was to have been held, all during the day has been locked, dark and silent. No cattlemen, as far as could be learned, even approached its portals to attempt entrance.

When seen this morning Grant Mays, secretary of the association, the only officer that had arrived in Portland for the convention stated that he had no idea why the cattlemen failed to appear. The call for the convention was issued according to the rules of the association, the preliminary arrangements were completed, and the program was drafted, but no cattlemen appeared.

A delegation of the principal officers of the organization was expected to arrive here last evening but failed to arrive. A number of cattlemen who were here attending the political conventions stated it would be impossible for them to attend on account of business affairs, which they must return to their homes to look after.

It is the intention now of Grant Mays to call the convention at a later date and to carry out, if possible, the same programme which he had projected for this convention. Only the subjects of that programme were given out, as the speakers had not all been determined.

Whether the cattlemen will respond to the next call for the convention can only be conjectured, but taking their responses to the convention which was to have been held today as a criterion, it looks as though the Oregon Cattlemen's Association, organized in this city after the recent meeting of the National Livestock association, is to prove a fiasco.

Grant Mays, of The Dalles, and R. N. Stanfield, of Pendleton, have been elected by the executive committee to attend the meeting of the Livestock Association which will be held in Denver, May 3. This is practically all the work which the proposed convention has resulted in, and whether the two delegates will have a strong progressive organization to represent remains to be seen.—Telegram.

The present cold weather will prevent vegetables and fruit from growing too rapidly and will likely prove a benefit as such produce will not be hurt materially by frosts next month.

As yet we are unable to get an estimate of the per centage of increase with the sheepmen this spring.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the Secretary of State of the State of Oregon has notified me in writing that pursuant to the provisions of an act entitled "An act making effective the initiative and referendum provisions of Section I of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of Oregon, and regulating elections thereunder, and providing penalties for violations of provisions of this act," approved February 24, 1903, the State Prohibition Alliance duly filed in his office on February 5, 1904, an initiative petition containing 8,316 signatures properly attached thereto and certified in accordance with law, demanding that a proposed law, the tenor and effect of which is hereinabove particularly set forth, providing for elections in any county or any precinct therein or any subdivision thereof or any subdivision of a county consisting of any number of entire and contiguous precincts of such county to determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in such county or subdivision thereof or any such precinct, and for other purposes as hereinabove stated, shall be submitted to the legal electors of the State of Oregon for their approval or rejection at the general election to be held on the 6th day of June, being the first Monday of June, 1904,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Geo. E. Chamberlain, Governor of the State of Oregon, in obedience to the provisions of said act hereinbefore first mentioned, do hereby make and issue this Proclamation to the people of the State of Oregon, announcing that the said State Prohibition Alliance has filed said initiative petition with the requisite number of signatures thereto attached, demanding that there be submitted to the legal electors of the State of Oregon for their approval or rejection at the regular election to be held on the 6th day of June, being the first Monday of June, 1904, a proposed law providing for elections in any county or precinct therein or any subdivision thereof or any subdivision of a county consisting of any number of entire and contiguous precincts of such county to determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in such county or subdivision thereof, and for other purposes connected therewith as hereinafter stated, having for its purpose and being briefly of the tenor and effect following, that is to say:

A bill to propose, by initiative petition, a law providing for elections in any county or any precinct therein or any subdivision of a county consisting of any number of entire and contiguous precincts of such county, to determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in such county or subdivision thereof or in such precinct; providing for the filing of petitions for such elections and the form and effect thereof, and for notices of such elections and for the time and manner of holding and conducting the same; declaring what shall constitute a subdivision of the county within the meaning of this law; declaring what acts shall and what shall not constitute a violation of this law; declaring the qualifications of petitioners and of electors at such elections; applying to such elections the provisions of Sections 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1975 of Bellinger & Cotton's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Oregon; providing for printing and distributing ballots for such elections; prescribing the duties of public officers in relation to such elections and in relation to the enforcement of the provisions of this law; providing for the issuance by the County Court of orders prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within certain limits and declaring the duties of such courts in reference thereto; limiting the time within which the question of prohibition such sale of intoxicating liquors may again be submitted to vote in the same district; providing penalties and punishment for the violation of any of the provisions of this law; providing for the return to any liquor dealer or other person of a proportionate amount of any license fee which he may have paid, whenever the district in which he shall be engaged in business shall be declared to be prohibition territory; and applying to all elections held under the provisions of this law the provisions of the general election laws of the state and declaring certain rules of evidence applicable to prosecution under this Act.
