There is a deal of coyote-hunting in the west that is not attended by the niceties of the club hunt.

Ever since the first pioneers pushed their way across the great plains the coyote has been an outlaw, looking for no mercy at the hand of man.

His predatory habits have made the animal the bane of the ranchman, and his howl has made him the exasperation of the camper and the terror of the tenderfoot.

Then too his habit of skulking just within rifle range has always made him a tantalizing target for the man with the rifle.

In spite of his unpopularity with all classes of men, however, the coyote has managed to hold his own better than any other animal in the great West.

The antelope is swifter of foot, mayhap, but, not having the cunning of the coyote, has been lured within rifle range until practically exterminated in many states.

The ranchman's lust for fresh meat, the Eastern tourist's desire for antlers and elk teeth, and the native who slays for the market have depopulated Colorado and several other states of their best game.

The bear, cougar and bobcat have felt the same blighting influence, but the coyote still figures in the skyline of the average Western picture.

Sometimes he is unwise enough to eat of poisoned carcasses of cattle, but this is seldom. Again, he falls a victim of a coyote "drive," organized by ranchmen and participated in by townspeople, tenderfeet, newspaper correspondents and amateur photographers. These coyote "drives" are held annually or oftener in nearly all Western communities where the prairie pest flourishes.

An average "drive," participated in by several hundred individuals, will yield sometimes as high as 20 coyotes and sometimes none at all. A good deal depends on the wind and more depends on the coyote's cunning and ability to sprint.—Outing.

Frank Leslie's tells a story of how industry was rewarded. A year ago manufacturer hired a boy. For months there was nothing noticeable about the boy except that he never took his eyes off the machine he was running.

A few weeks ago the manufacturer looked up from his work to see the boy standing beside his desk. "What do you want?" he asked. "What are you getting?"

"Three dollars a week. Well how much do you think you are worth?" "Four dollars. You think so do you?"

"Yes, and I've been 'inkin' so for 'ree weeks, but I've been so lame busy I haven't had time to speak to you about it." "The boy got the 'raise.'"

If you know an item of news don't keep it to yourself, and then criticize the editor for not getting it. The newspaper man is not supposed to see and hear everything that goes on.

He must be told some things, and if from Missouri he must be shown. He has something else to do besides running down news—although few people think so.

If he stays in the office setting type or kicking press, with rivulets of sweat coursing down his careworn brow, some will say he is too lazy to get out and rustle the news; and if he goes out on this very errand these same people will say he is not attending to business.

It's awful. So just drop in the office and give us the news.—Ex. You may call him a rube, or a hay seed, or a yap, but the farmer is nevertheless the biggest man in the country, says an exchange.

He could buy all the national banks, pay the national debt, purchase both the steel combine and the Standard oil trust and put Wall street out of business, out of the 'products of his honest toil and still have a million dollars for pocket change.

To sum it up in a sentence, the farmer, by whatever nick-name he is called is the most important class in the United States and has a right to grow chesty at the showing he makes.

weak Hearts are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, the stomach expands—swells and puffs up against the heart.

This crowds the heart and shortens the breath. Rapid heart beats and heart disease is the final result. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, takes the strain off the heart, cures indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body.

A Great Newspaper.

The Sunday edition of the St. Louis Republic is a marvel of modern newspaper enterprise. The organization of its news services is world-wide, complete in every department; in fact, superior to that of any other newspaper.

The magazine section is illustrated in daintily tinted colors and splendid half-tone pictures. This section contains more high-class literary matter than any of the monthly magazines. The fashions illustrated in natural colors are especially valuable to the ladies.

The colored comic section is a genuine laugh-maker. The funny cartoons are by the best artists. The humorous stories are high class, by authors of national reputation. Sheet music, a high-class, popular song, is furnished free every Sunday in the Republic.

The price of the Sunday Republic by mail one year is $2.00. For sale by all news dealers.
