SECTIONS NEW STOCK LAW

STOCK ASSESSED IN COUNTY WHERE IT IS FOUND.

Particular Published of Particular Interest to Stock Men--Does not Apply to Stock Enroute to Shipping Point.

In a recent issue The Times-Herald published portions of the new stock law passed by the last legislature, but it finds that there are particular sections that should be understood regarding the assessment of stock. By request of Assessor Loggan these sections are published.

The portion regarding the movement of sheep from one county to another or from one state to another has been published in these columns. The requirements are also understood by our readers. The provisions for assessing such stock and other information are contained in the following sections:

Sec. 2. All livestock shall be assessed for taxation in the county in which it is found at the time fixed by law for the assessment of all properties in the State, and such county in which such livestock is so assessed or liable to assessment shall be known as its home county, and at the time of such assessment the owner of such livestock or his agent shall make and deliver to the assessor a written statement under oath showing the proper description and different kinds of such livestock within the County belonging to him or under his charge with their marks and brands and showing the full time during the current year that such livestock and every part, portion and kind thereof has been, and will be, within the County, and such livestock and the owner thereof shall be liable to said County for the taxes thereon at the rate of levy for all State, County and other purposes as other property is liable. And the owner thereof shall, unless sufficient real estate ample to secure the same is liable therefor, pay the assessor at the time of such assessment the whole amount of said taxes for the full year at the rate of the last preceding levy and take his receipt therefor.

Sec. 5. All taxes that shall become due to any county under these provisions shall be personal debt and demand against the owner to whom the property was first assessed and be enforced by any proper action in the name of the county, in any court of competent jurisdiction and secured by attachment or other provisional remedy which may be issued without undertaking or other security by or on behalf of the county, and said taxes shall be a first lien upon said livestock wherever found within the State and a lien upon all real estate belonging to any owner of said livestock situated within the county to which said livestock situated within the county to which said taxes are due and payable and said lien shall only be discharged by the actual payment of the taxes.

Sec. 7. The provisions of this act shall not apply to stock held by the owner thereof in the home county upon which the full taxes have been paid, which said stock shall be driven, shipped or transported into other counties and be kept or confined in enclosures for the purpose of preparing the same for market.

Sec. 8. Any person or persons, company or corporation who are owners of or have in charge any livestock within the state of Oregon and who shall violate the provisions of section 3 of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty five dollars ($25.00) nor more than ($1000.00) or shall be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than one year.

The Best Way To Eat An Egg
Almost everybody eats eggs. There is perhaps no article of diet that is more commonly eaten in all countries than eggs. Hens' eggs are used more than any other kind, although some people eat duck eggs, goose eggs, and the egg of the guinea fowl. Turkey eggs are not so often eaten; they are generally kept for hatching. Eggs are said to be perfect food, the same as milk—that is, containing all the food elements necessary for the growth and maintenance of the young chick, just as milk does for the young animal. While it is true, of course, that the egg does contain all the elements necessary for the young chick, yet it would not follow that these elements are in the right proportion for the sole nourishment of an adult person. That eggs are a splendid food is not to be questioned, but that eggs alone would furnish sufficient diet for a grown person is hardly probable.

Eggs consist of proteins and fat, water and mineral matter. It is the proteins or nitrogenous matter that builds up and repairs the tissues of the body, while the fat supplies energy. The white of the egg is often said to be pure albumen, but it also contains phosphoric acid and sodium or common salt. The yolk contains the fatty part of the egg, phosphorus, calcium, manganese, potassium and iron. Eggs also contain sulphur, and this probably accounts for the dark stain left by eggs on silver, the sulphur coming in contact with the silver forming silver sulphide.

Eggs are very easily digested. Raw eggs are more quickly digested than cooked eggs. Soft-boiled eggs, roasted eggs and poached eggs are more easily digested than fried or hard-boiled eggs. The stomach will digest a raw egg in from one and a half to two hours. Soft-boiled and roasted eggs require from two and a half to three hours, while hard-boiled or fried eggs must be allowed from three and a half to four hours for digestion. Eggs furnish a good substitute for meat, and we believe it would be far better for the average person if eggs were more frequently used in place of meat. Especially do they make a light, nutritious dish for breakfast, instead of the usual bacon or ham or sausage.—New York Tribune.

That Ticking in the Throat.

One minute after taking One Minute Cough Cure that tickling in the throat is gone. It acts in the throat—not the stomach. Harmless—good for children. A. L. Spofford, postmaster at Chester, Mich. says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden attack of croup. Three doses of One Minute Cough Cure half an hour apart speedily cured her. I cannot praise One Minute Cough Cure too much for what it has done in our family." It always gives relief. PRESIDENT'S FINAL ORDER

CONFERS WITH DISTRICT ATTORNEY HENEY ON FRAUDS.

Case Against Mitchell is Pronounced Perfect—Spare no Guilty Man—Hermann Has a Loophole.

Oregonian News Bureau, Washington, March 11.—"Go to the very bottom; spare no man who is guilty, but injure none who is innocent."

This in effect was President Roosevelt's last words to District Attorney Henev, as the prosecutor of the Oregon land fraud cases was leaving the White House today after a final conference.

By special invitation of the President, Mr. Henev, Special Agent Burns, Secretary Hitchcock and Attorney-General Moody took luncheon at the White House today and again for the last time prior to the trials went over the Oregon situation, reviewing what has already been accomplished and what will be in the near future. The President was fully advised of what he may expect when the Federal grand jury reassembles in April, and was told just what results the Government expects when those many cases are brought to trial during the coming summer.

Many important facts were brought out at today's conference. Primarily the President was assured that the Government has "a perfect case" against Senator Mitchell, and is extremely confident of securing his conviction. Not only does the Government expect to convict the Senator of violating the statute prohibiting Senators from accepting fees for work before the departments, but of unlawfully accepting money from S. A. J. Pater, as alleged in his first indictment, and for similarly receiving money from other persons. The Government is also satisfied that it will be able to establish the charge that he conspired with Hermann and others to defraud the Government of its public lands. In fact, so confident are the Government's prosecuting officers that they can convict Mitchell that they no longer have any concern over his case.

There is more anxiety over the case of Representative Hermann in Oregon the President and all the men who are working in connection with the land fraud cases are fully satisfied that Hermann is deeply involved, but they have from the first experienced great difficulty in getting hold of evidence that will carry conviction to a jury. The evidence so far accumulated tends to show that Hermann was in hearty sympathy with many propositions advanced by Senator Mitchell, and that he repeatedly acted in accordance with Mitchell's requests, often when the law hardly justified, but no proof has yet been produced to show that Hermann received money from Mitchell or from any other person for becoming a party to Mitchell's schemes, and lack of this very evidence is the weak spot in the government's case. There is hope, however, of securing more evidence before Hermann is brought to trial.

The strongest case against Representative Williamson, so the President was told, lies in his indictment for subornation or perjury. The Government believes it has evidence which will convict him on that charge and hopes to be able to show that Williamson, with his partner, Dr. Gesner, furnished money to persons making timber entries in Eastern Oregon, with the understanding that the lands, when patented, should be turned over to them. But the Government has an inkling of the defense which Williamson will make, and is somewhat concerned. It is feared that he and his partner may be able to show that what ever money was loaned to settlers was loaned to settlers was loaned by Gesner, and that Williamson had no knowledge of it. It is further feared that it may be shown that title to the lands in question does not now rest with Williamson or his partner. In this event this case will collapse.

Will Not Give Up

An Associated Press dispatch of recent date, says: The immediate answer of the Russian government to the defeat at Mukden is the announcement that a new army will be raised and the forces in the far east reorganized; that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky will be ordered to sail on and try conclusions with Togo, and that the war will be prosecuted to the bitter end.

This is the present temper of Emperor Nicholas and his dominant advisers, voiced in a firm official announcement that the position of Russia is unchanged, and that the initiative for peace can only come from Japan. Should the island empire choose to tender "moderate" terms and recognize its adversary as the power in the Far East, peace could easily be arranged; but the voice of her diplomacy in various parts of the world indicates that she is not ready to do this, and the Russian government, with the full magnitude of the disaster at Mukden still undetermined, but with the 2905 campaign seemingly already hopelessly compromised, retreat to harbin inevitable and Vladivostok practically lost, declares that the time has not yet come when Russia can be forced to humble herself.

It is reported that the dispatch of two new army corps, including the 14th, from Poland, and several smaller units has already been determined upon, and that plans for further mobilization are under discussion.

Victory White Bronze Monuments

The local agent, M. L. Lewis, has just received notice from The Monumental Bronze Co., of Bridgeport, Conn. that White Bronze has been awarded two medals, viz: Class No 194, Art Work in Zinc and class No 220 Marble, Stone and Metal Monuments.

White Bronze was in direct competition with the great Marble and Granite Quarries of the world and won all the honors. Such success speaks volumes for White Bronze as the only Monuments without a competitor.

The snow is gradually disappearing, the warm, sunny days are having considerable effect, but as yet no rush of water has swelled the river to any extent.

INDIAN PONY WITH HISTORY

CAPTURED DURING MODOC INDIAN WAR OF 1873

Has Since Been Property of Captain Kelley Who Commanded First Volunteer Company in Oregon.

What would be a valuable accession to the Lewis and Clark exhibit from this county would be old "Billy," the spotted Indian pony of Capt. Kelley.

Although he has done service in this one family since 1873 he is still a well preserved pony and valued quite highly by his owner.

Captain Kelley had charge of Co. A the first volunteer company of Oregon during the Modoc Indian outbreak of 1872-73. Capt. Kelly led his company 200 strong into battle at the Lava Beds on Jan 17, 1873. It was one of the bloodiest battles of that war and Capt. Kelley lost one-fourth of his men but routed the Indians and the boys of his company captured about 75 ponies. They used every rope available, strings and even tore up shirts, so anxious were they to keep the ponies.

Capt. Kelley finally got out of patience with his men and reprimanded them for what he considered foolishness, telling them the ponies were not worth the trouble of taking back to their homes in Jackson county. The "boys" persisted however, and the following spring one of his men came to his home with old "Billy" well groomed, with roached mane and looking sleek and fat. It was then that Capt. Kelley changed his mind, paid $35 for old "Billy," now valued at $1000—in fact he would not dispose of him at any price. Billy is preferred as a saddle animal by his owner today to any of the 40 head of horses he has. He has ridden the pony 60 miles in one day many times and says he can head a cow with any vaquero horse now in use in Harney county. He is at least 50 years old and now has the best of care with oats twice each day. The old pony has seen his best days but will have a good berth until his death.

"Billy" used to be pressed into service on hunting trips in the early '80s when Capt. Kelley was a resident of Jackson county and Judge Webster was on the circuit bench in this district. The Captain had been in the habit of dismounting on these trips when a very steep hill was to be climbed. On one occasion when Judge Webster was accompanying him and riding "Billy" he attempted to ride up a hill but the pony stopped and refused to "budge." Judge Webster coaxed and urged but to no avail. Finally he dismounted and the spotted pony proceeded on his journey minus the rider.
