Lester McMullen was making proof on his desert before the local land office Wednesday. He was assisted by Felix Barkley and Fred Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Ike Blevins and S. W. Miller and wife took their departure Thursday afternoon for Crook County. Perry Weiss accompanied them, taking the household effects. The Bates Comedy Co. has been playing at Drewsey during the race meeting but will be here again tomorrow night and will play the 4-act comedy drama "The Deputy Sheriff" Next Saturday night Oct. 7, the company will be seen in "Lynwood" a military play. A letter from Mr. Wallace at the Harney county booth at the Lewis and Clark states that this country is well represented at the fair at this time and mentions several in particular. He also states that J. P. Rector and Cal Geer had been very kind in assisting about the booth. Gen R A Green, inspector to the Secretary of the Interior, paid this section a hurried visit this week. He arrived here Thursday night and spent yesterday in the Welcomeville and Crane creek sections, taking his departure this morning for outside points. He did not disclose his business but he may have been investigating the matter of the white men fencing up the Indian allotments.

B. Smith & Co., is one of the most popular resorts in the interior. Finest of liquors and cigars, billiards and card tables and expert mixologists. The Bentley Brothers were here this week with a big lot of fine fruit from the Belshaw orchard. They had no trouble in disposing of it all and will be here again in a couple of weeks with more including some Belshaw prunes. Mrs J F Mahon was the guest of friends in this city Tuesday, having come over from her home on business before the local land office. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Miss Pearl and the two will soon leave for California where they will visit for some time. Geo Shelby is in a very serious condition today. He has been suffering from typhoid fever and his physicians found a perforation of the bowel had taken place last night necessitating an immediate surgical operation. The patient has rallied from the shock of the operation but is in a very critical condition.

He is held in custody by the sheriff pending their arrival. The ladies of the Cemetery Improvement Society desire The Times-Herald to extend their thanks to the Bates Comedy Company and the Burns Band for their services in giving the benefit last Saturday and Sunday evenings. The Society realized about $19 from the performances. The manager of The Times-Herald has always been partial to girls—in fact he has had a decided weakness toward the fair sex since he was a kid. He has found them to be the best and most reliable compositors in the office, but not much force in "making up" forms, cleaning the presses, engine, etc. The arrival of another daughter at his home last Monday morning has put him to studying, however, as to what use he will have for so many girls. A card from P. G. Smith who has been attending the fair at Baker City states that himself and John Biggs were going to La Grande with the latters trotting mares Judith and Lucille. Judith became badly rattled in the race she started in at Baker and made a very poor showing but will be given another trial. The mare had never started in a race before. Mr. Smith states that several runners and possibly some trotters would come in from that place for the meet here during the fair. I. S. Geer and family arrived home yesterday evening from a visit to the fair, the coast and the old home in Marion county. They had a delightful time and saw everything that was to be seen. When enroute home at Austin station Mr. Geer met Joseph Barton general manager of the Sumpster Valley Railroad and found that gentleman thoroughly in sympathy with the people of this country who desire an immediate extension of that line to Burns. We may count on Mr. Barton as a friend in court but he is not the man behind the gun, therefore has only limited powers. We may expect some new development in the railroad building business, however.

SEALED BIDS ASKED. The Burns Cemetery Improvement Society will consider sealed bids to sink a well at the cemetery, either drilled or dug, said well to sink to a depth where a flow of water sufficient for irrigating purposes may be found. Bids to be opened and considered on Monday evening, October 2, at 7:30 o'clock by a committee consisting of Ben Brown, M R Smith and F A Cole. The committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids. CLARE SWAIN, Secy.
