RESOLVES OF AN EDITOR.

To publish no more news of possible railroad plans, for it is "Building newspaper roads."

To agitate no questions of public improvements, because it is only a "Building boom."

To say nothing in favor of local enterprise, as it is only "Hot air."

To call no more brides beautiful because it is "Raw flattery."

To speak not kindly of the confined dead, for fear of being pronounced "Insincere."

To reject all news matter, as publishing it means only that "He has it in for some one."

To cease to manage the paper, as everybody else knows exactly "how a newspaper ought to be run."

To expose no wrong-doing, as it is but "Playing up politics."

But pshaw! the pessimist who believes these things has long since dumped his fame, along with his fortune, into the office "hell box" and is gone to recruit the grand army of vags.

Newspaper men may be as well able to say, as are other "Little Tims," that "This is a good old world, and there's lots of good people in it, and God bless us every one."—Grant County News.

There is need of a revision of the laws of Oregon relating to the publication of legal notices. Compared with the other states in this regard, Oregon is fifty years behind the times. The idea of "posting" election notices, for instance, when there are newspapers in the state to do such work, is a case in point. Fifty years ago, when there were no newspapers, or very few, in Oregon, the methods of today might have been excusable; today there is absolutely no excuse for such methods. There are countless other notices of a public character that the law of the state should require the publication of. If Oregon is ever to emerge from the frontier stage in such matters it is high time a beginning were made.—Union Republican.

The Evening Telegram recently devoted two full pages of a regular edition to brief talks and portraits of salaried advertisement writers. Almost without exception these men who have made a profession of this business frankly state that display advertising in newspapers is the most successful and economical means of advertising. According to their experience it beats the bill boards, circulars, mimeographs or any other method in proportion to the cost. A small portion of the money used in buying goods if invested in newspaper advertising makes business move. It is not a matter of charity to the newspaper, but an investment that will pay a big percentage of profits.

$25.00 REWARD $25.00.

Neuralgia And Other Pain.

All pain in any disease is nerve pain, the result of a turbulent condition of the nerves. The stabbing, lacerating, darting, burning, agonizing pain that comes from the prominent nerve branches, or sensory nerves, is neuralgia, and is the "big brother" of all the other pains.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills rarely ever fail to relieve these pains by soothing these larger nerves, and restoring their tranquility.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills leave no bad after-effects, and are a reliable remedy for every kind of pain, such as headache, backache, stomachache, sciatica, rheumatism and neuralgia.

They also relieve Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Cat-Sickness, and Distress after eating.

"Our little daughter was given up by two physicians with consumption of the throat, and we were almost in despair, when our druggist recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. After taking four bottles she was perfectly cured and has had no throat trouble since." GEO. A. EYLER, Cumberland, Md.

The English Are Militant.
Partly from historical and partly personal causes the English are essentially militant. They resent the control of soldiers. They distrust military ideals. No government that ever existed in this country was more unpopular than that of Oliver Cromwell and his major generals. His unpopularity left an indelible mark on English institutions. For many years it made it impossible to have standing army. Even when the course of events made it necessary to concede that much to the military necessities of the time it still remained a maxim for centuries with all politicians that as little power as possible must be granted to the soldiers; that their business was to fight our wars, and, this being done, that there was little or no place for them in the body politic.

We do not think it necessary to defend this attitude of mind. Like most popular feelings, it is largely feelings, but also, like many popular feelings, it is based to some extent on a true conception. Politically, using the word in its largest sense, the domination of the military in a state is disastrous. It tends, we believe, to destroy individuality and is a serious menace to individual liberty.—English Monthly Review.

The Third Handle.
The best account of the origin of the loving cup comes from the late Lord Loring, British ambassador at Paris. Henry IV of France while hunting became separated from his companions and, feeling thirsty, called at a wayside inn for a cup of wine. The serving maid on hearing it hit him as he sat on horseback neglected to present the handle. Some wine was spilled, and his mistress' white gauntlets were soiled. With riding home he bethought him that a two-handled cup would prevent a recurrence of this, so his majesty had a two-handled cup made at the royal potters and sent it to the inn. On his next visit he called again for wine, when, to his astonishment, the maid, having received instructions from her mistress to be very careful of the king's cup, presented it to him by holding it herself by each of its handles. At once the happy Queen struck the king of a cup with three handles, which was promptly noted upon, as his majesty quaintly said, "Spare, out of three handles I shall be able to get one!" Hence the loving cup.

Her Objection.
"You are not singing that beautiful song, 'I Want to Be an Angel,' with the rest of us," said the teacher.

The little one shook her head.
"What's the use of telling a story about it?" she demanded. "I'm having enough trouble learning to play the piano without bothering with a harp!"—Chicago Post.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.
It is interesting to note that fortunes are frequently made by the invention of articles of minor importance. Many of the more popular devices are those designed to benefit people and meet popular conditions, and one of the most interesting of these that has ever been invented is the Dr. White Electric Comb, patented Jan. 1, '99. These wonderful Combs positively cure dandruff, hair falling out, sick and nervous headaches, and when used with Dr. White's Electric Hair Brush are positively guaranteed to make straight hair easily in 25 days time. Thousands of these electric combs have been sold in the various cities of the Union, and the demand is constantly increasing. Our agents are rapidly becoming rich selling these combs. They positively sell on sight. Send for sample. Men's size 35c, ladies' 50c—(half price while we are introducing them.) The Dr. White Electric Comb Co., Decatur, Ill.
