

LAWYERS ARE IN A TANGLE

The County Development League starts movement to prepare law giving State Control.

Special from Pendleton to the Oregonian says a rousing meeting of the Umatilla County Development League was held in Pendleton yesterday and tonight. Although Governor Chamberlain was unable to be present, as he had been called, and some other prominent men absent, yet there was an enthusiasm at the meeting.

Special from Salem and spoke of irrigation questions. He showed a tangle of the Oregon irrigation laws, and how the irrigation laws of the state were hampered.

Lewis pointed out the good points of irrigation laws in other states, notably Utah and Colorado, and suggested that a state law be drafted which would be drafted which would be order out of chaos. He recommended as one of the strong points of such a law that when the water of any certain stream for irrigation had been reached, the water would refuse to grant permits for subsequent applicant for irrigation permits.

Stephen A. Lowell introduced a set of resolutions which were unanimously adopted, providing for the co-operation of the county with the Portland Board of Water in drafting a comprehensive law after a careful study of the laws from other states.

Resolutions asked that the legislature pass a law giving the entire control of all water and revoke all franchises for private exploitation, and furthering that the water of all streams be equitable divided for the beneficial use of the people of the state. It was further provided that a committee of five be appointed to work in harmony with like committees from the Board of Trade, and commercial, industrial and agricultural throughout the state in preparing a draft of a law to be presented to the next session of the legislature.

It was also issued for a preliminary hearing, and a committee be appointed to name the time and place of holding the convention.

LAKE COUNTY STOCKMEN TO ORGANIZE.

A movement is on foot now in Lakeview to call together all the stockmen of the county for the purpose of organizing a stockmen's association, for the protection of each member's interests. A similar organization existed in Lake county for several years and only died out last year, after a long spell of inactivity from "stock rustling." It seems that as soon as the old organization died out, wanton stock rustlers took it for granted that they were at liberty to rustle the range at their will.

An effort will be made to get the stockmen together at a most convenient season, and court week has been decided upon as a date. It is urged that every stockman in the county attend the meeting and voice his sentiments in the movement and join the organization. It is the intention to organize on a firm basis, and a large standing reward will be offered for the apprehension of "stock rustlers."

While such an organization was maintained here stockmen were practically secure from the depredations of lawless men who seek to prey upon the results of other men's industry.

It is necessary that as many of the stockmen get together for this purpose as possible, so that the membership fee can be made as light on each one as expenses will permit. And also the views of various stockmen are sought on the subject of conducting the organization to the best advantage of its members.—Lakeview Examiner.

STOCKMEN ARE PROTESTING

OPPRESSION OF COMMISSION COMPANIES RESENTED.

Co-Operation Commission Association May Be Organized to Handle Product of the Range and Furs.

Stockmen of the United States are protesting bitterly against the oppression of the commission companies in the market centers and in order to avoid the exactions and unjust demands of the commission house trust, the American National Livestock association has recommended the formation of a co-operative commission association, for the purpose of handling the stock from the ranges, thus relieving the growers of the oppression of the trust, says the East Oregonian.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the American National Livestock association, the American Woolgrowers' association and other kindred organizations held in Denver last week, a committee of three was appointed to formulate plans for this co-operative commission company, with power to appoint committees, call meetings and have general supervision of the formation of the stockmen's association.

Another meeting of the executive committee will be held in Denver on May 29, for the purpose of finally deciding on plans of organization and it thought that the stockmen's co-operative commission company may be able to handle a portion of this season's shipments.

On the first day of the present year all the commission companies in the large cities advanced the commission charges $2 per car on hogs and sheep, making the present prices $8 for single-deck and $12 for double deck cars. The stockmen fix the prices to be charged by the new co-operative company as follows: Sheep and hogs, single-deck car, $6; double-deck car, $10.

Cattle, 50 cents per head with maximum charge of $10 per car. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the joint meeting of the executive committees in Denver:

Resolved, That a commission company be organized on co-operative principles, viz., that after payment of a reasonable dividend on the stock, the balance of the profits be divided among the patrons of said company; that it have a capital stock of $100,000 in shares of a par value of $10 each; that said stock be subscribed for and owned by actual livestock producers and feeders, and that no stockholder be permitted to subscribe for or own more than 50 shares; that said company, when organized, shall charge the following commissions for the sale of livestock:

Resolved, That in order to carry out the purposes of the foregoing resolution and to perfect the necessary details, a committee, consisting of Murdo MacKenzie, president American National Livestock association, Dr. J. M. Williamson, vice president National Woolgrowers' association, and A. L. Ames, president Corn Belt Malt Producers' association, be hereby appointed, with full power to name sub-committee to assist them in their duties.

proceed promptly to an investigation of all the facts necessary in order to enable them to perfect the details of the foregoing plan, and make such preliminary arrangements as may be necessary; and that said committee prepare the charter, by-laws and all papers and documents, and make a report of their investigation to a meeting of the livestock associations here represented to be held at Denver, Col., May 29, 1906.

NO PERMITS TO BE GRANTED NOW.

Stock Will Graze in the Blue Mountains Reserve as Before.

A Baker City press dispatch says: It was decided today by Forest Superintendent Sheller, in charge of the eastern division of the Blue Mountains forest reserve, that no allotments will be made to cattle and sheepmen this year. Applications are filed and allowed as satisfactory conditions have prevailed here and the people will be allowed to graze their livestock in the same places as heretofore. This summer Mr. Sheller will personally make an inspection of the country, and next fall will call a general meeting of the stock and sheepmen for the purpose of making allotments.

This meeting includes delegates from all parts of the territory affected by the reserve. At today's meeting Mr. Sheller received and passed upon more than 30 applications, and his action at the meeting was in hearty accord with the wishes of the livestock men who wish the bill to be thoroughly acquainted with conditions here before making the allotments.

Geo. W. Hayes received a letter Tuesday from a Mr. Mason in Portland which is considering the proposition of establishing an automobile stage line between Vale and Burns. Let the good work go on, says the Vale Gazette.

The great productiveness of the ruins of Babylon in the way of ancient coins has aroused the suspicions of visitors. An American who was going around with a guide became distrustful of the ease with which these relics could be disinterred. Accordingly he remarked to his guide, while they were searching about the Tower of Nimrod, that he particularly wished to find one coin with a special design. On the one side was a horse's head, with some sticks placed roughly between the ears, and on the other a bull and a fowl in the act of crowing. The guide requested him to draw on paper a picture of the two sides of the coin which the traveler did. About a week afterwards the very coin came to light. There was no doubt of its genuineness, for on the obverse was a mare's nest and on the reverse a rooster and a bull.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

BIG HORSE DRIVE IS DONE

OVER 5500 OF WILD ANIMALS ARE GATHERED IN.

Two Hundred Men Bring the Great Herd to Corral Where it Will be Cut Out, Sold and Scattered.

A special from Ephrata, Wash., to the Oregon Sunday Journal gives the following account of the close of the wild horse round-up which has been in progress in Douglas county, Washington for the past two weeks:

The round-up left Middle Water yesterday morning and trailed through the sand hills and fierce duststorms for the last several hours with a compact body of horses half a mile wide and a couple of miles long, says the special. They are camped tonight at West Lake corral, the goal of their hopes.

Now the saddle horses will get more rest, which they need badly. Most of them are in a bad condition. The last two days were the hardest of all. No feed in the sandhills and no rest at night have played the brutes to the limit of endurance.

The estimate of horses at the West Lake corral tonight is 5500. Part of these will have to be night herded, as there is not room in the corral for the whole bunch. The bunch of riders at the west Lake corral numbers nearly 200, and four cook wagons with outfits. They are Tom Burgin's, Al Soper's, Ben Hutchinson's and Harvey Hite's.

A man joined the outfit at the mouth of Crab creek Sunday who had stolen a horse and outfit at Ellensburg, and the sheriff and deputy caught up with him Monday and nabbed him with the goods. He was taken back by them and is now in jail at Ellensburg.

On Monday McCarty and Townsend will bring in a train load of horses each. They have been bought from Al Soper, Ben Hutchinson and Porter & Pierce, and will aggregate about 2500. These horses will be fed up at Ephrata for about five days, and will then be shipped.

West Lake corral finishes the big drive. The work from now on will be the cutting out and throwing in of small herds near the corral. After Monday there will be room in the corral for the horses there, and this will do away with night herding. It has been a hard two weeks on men and horses, and all are glad to be able to see the beginning of the end.
