JULIAN BYRD — — — — Manager

Dan Beard, the organizer of the "Sons of Daniel Boone," tells his young club members a stirring historical story each month in the Woman's Home Companion. The April number contains this little tale.

"The most notorious of the renegades was 'Katepacomen,' as the Indians called him, or Simon Girty, as he was known to the whites. After serving in the American army for a short time, Girty, for some real or imaginary offense, deserted it and joined the savages, fighting against the Americans, and for twenty years thereafter lived the life of an Indian chief among his adoped red-skin brothers, waging constant war upon the whites and decorating his belt with the bloody scalps of his owe race. The three renegade brothers—James Girty, George Girty and Simon Girty—and two Frenchmen were with the Indians who captured Daniel Boone in 1777. Girty led the attack upon Bryant Station, and it was Girty who planned to rescue Kentucky from the possession of the 'long knives,' as the Indians called the whites, and restore it again to the red men. But he failed in both these undertakings. He was however, a man of great courage, fierce and aggressive in war, possessing all the cunning and trechery attributed to the red men; but when his comrad scout, Simon Kenton, was captured by the Indians, he did all in his power to save him from the torture stake."

At a party given recently by a ladies club in Corning Calif., the gentlemen present were given a slip of paper up on which to write a description of their wife's wedding dress. A prize to be given for the best description. Here is one: "It was gorgeous! All the men went wild and all the women were jealous; it was made of bombazine, with a benzine frill over the heart; it had a high bosom and low skirt; henrietta pleat was bias up the back, with the full drawn in near the middle, and a beautiful gore wound 'round and 'round for a ten-round limit; it dragged on the floor behind and had ice-creamy colored streamers of gingham velvet on each side. Oh, it was gorgeous! and people aint got through talking about it yet. She was as pratty as a picture, and has been every since."

A young preacher in a nearby town was rather nervous, and in referring to the miracle of the feeding of the 5,000, said: and the Lord fed five men with 7,000 loaves and 2,000 fishes." An Irishman in the audience called out: "Bedad, I could do that meself!" There was a general titter and the young preacher in some confusion finished his sermon. By the next Sunday he had decided to correct his mistake and rebuke the Irishman, so at the proper time he again referred to the miracle, saying: "And the Lord fed 5,000 with seven loaves and two fishes." Pointing his finger at the Irishmen, he said: "Could you do that?" "Yes, I think I could, yer reverence—with what I had over from last Sunday," was the quick reply.—Ex.

DO IT NOW.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous.

Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop.

Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a finish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me.
CHARLES GOODRICH.
