The Pacific Banker, the leading financial journal of the Northwest, makes the following pointed observations in a recent editorial, 'Now, The Time For Surplus Building," the key note of which is "Conservatism" and "Surplus."

> "In the present period of unprecedented business activity, the creation of a liberal surplus is certainly the part of wisdom. The surplus of a bank is not only its strength, but in one sense it is the only thing it does not owe. The individual fails who makes no provision for a rainy day, and the bank which does not speedily create and retain a large surplus is liable to meet the same fate, " * To create a large surplus and create it quickly should be the aim of every conservative bank, for the reason that there invariably comes a time when the presence or absence of surplus affects vitally its life and history."

CONSERVATISM. Our policy of conservatism has been strictly adheared to throughout our entire history.

SURPLUS.

Our policy of creating a large surplus has been strictly adheared to, our surplus now being equal to sixty per cent of our capital stock, or three times the maximum amount required by the National Banking Laws.

Absolute safety for our depositors is our first consideration. All other considerations are secondary.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE issued on all Principal Cities of the World, payable in the currency of the country on which it is drawn—HARNEY COUNTY NATIONAL BANK of Burns.

Sheriff Richardson received a telephone message from a sheriff in Washington, announcing that he had James Campbell in charge and to come and get him. Campbell was suspected of being the man who broke into the Brewery saloon and stole about $7, in change and a gold ring belonging to James Hicks. The man was working there at the time. He left shortly after that and considerable clothing belonging to "Doc" Sizemore that was at the Red Front barn also disappeared. The man had been watched by the Washington sheriff and after finding him in possession of the ring arrested him. The prisoner worked for some time as cook in the French hotel.
