OREGON SHEEP CLEANER.

Dr. W. H. Lytle, federal sheep inspector for Oregon, passed through Portland last night on a three weeks' trip of inspection up the Willamette valley, says the Oregon Daily Journal. Dr. Lytle says that Oregon sheep are in better condition now than ever before, there being but a few isolated cases of scab on the ranges.

The wool market, while weaker than usual, he expects will improve before very long, as the growers are holding their product for higher prices. None of the choice wool clips of eastern Oregon have been sold yet, as the sheep raisers are all in circumstances that enable them to hold their product until the price suits them.

Secretary Dan Smythe of the Oregon Woolgrowers' association is also in Portland. He says the Oregon sheepmen are well pleased with the outcome of their recent fight with the Washington wool raisers, who were defeated in their latest attempt to grab some of Oregon range in the Wenaha forest reserve.

RESTING THE EYES.

Nothing gives more permanent relief to overworked eyes than to get into the habit of closing them for an instant many times a day. This is particularly good when close application is necessary.

"But," someone complains, "one looks so silly sitting in an office or store with the eyes shut. Besides we would soon get called down for laziness."

It is not necessary to make this eye resting process conspicuous. It is perfectly possible to choose odd moments when no one is looking to drop the eyelids for a minute and not to select the moment when the chief is giving some important direction or is dictating his morning letters.

Almost as restful as closing the eyes, however, is the habit of occasionally lifting them from book or paper and looking into space for a short time.—Ex.

Jack Craddock and family passed through here Wednesday with machinery for a sawmill which he will erect at the head of Silvies Valley. It required one six-horse and two four-horse teams to haul the machinery. The mill will have a capacity of 10,000 feet per day and is intended to supply the market in Silvies valley, where they now are compelled to haul from Burns. Water will furnish the motive power.—Blue Mt. Eagle.

There was quite an exciting bear chase at the Ike Bleven's place on the Ochoco the other day. A bear with her cubs was sighted and then the race began. The old female decamped instanter and left her offspring to shift for themselves. The mother was shot after a seven mile chase. The cubs, which were about six weeks old, were taken alive.—Prineville Jonrnal.

W. B. Wilson, formerly of Bend, but now who has a position with a big land and live stock company in Harney county, was in Prineville Sunday on his way to Burns. He made the trip up to get his little son, who has been spending several months with Mr. Wilson's mother at Bend.—Prineville Journal.

Hundreds of people who suffer from backache, rheumatism, lame back, lumbago and similar ailments are not aware that these are merely symptoms of kidney trouble. Pineules for the Kidneys, act directly on the kidneys, bringing quick relief to backache and other symptoms of kidand bladder derangements. 30 days trial $1.00 and guaranteed, or money back.
