...of the great political campaign that is before us. When dairy-men get together they discuss good roads; it is the same with fruit growers, while automobile owners have become veritable cranks on the subject.

An insistent demand, coming from every section of the state, has been made upon the Portland Commercial Club to call some character of representative meeting to discuss a practical plan whereby all Oregon may have better highways. President W. K. Newell, of the State Board of Horticulture, has written to the Club asking that action be taken without delay. A similar request also comes from Hon. J. W. Bailey, State Dairy & Food Commissioner, on behalf of the dairy interests, and the bankers of Portland and other cities and towns of the state are of one mind on the subject. Many of the cities throughout Oregon are building high class hard surface pavements, and everywhere you go you find men talking "Good Roads."

As a result of all this it has been determined to hold an "Oregon Good Roads Conference" in the Convention Hall (6th floor) of the Portland Commercial Club, Tuesday August 11th, with morning afternoon and evening sessions. No interest in the state seems to be more anxious to have a part in developing the good roads sentiment into a realization than the railroads, and as a result a rate of a fare and a third has been made for this meeting; tickets will be good the day before and the day after the meeting, so that it may be extended over the second day if necessary.

An interesting program will be prepared, but there will be no long-winded theoretical speeches—practical men will be secured and practical questions discussed. The Good Roads Associations of Oregon and Washington will be asked to co-operate in making the meeting a success. The basis of representation will be announced within a few days, but all commercial and industrial bodies, county judges, county commissioners, editors, and mayors, will be authorized to appoint delegates and urged to have a good representation present.

Hon. James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, and Hon. F. H. Newell, Chief of the United States Reclamation Service, spent Thursday in Portland.

Oregon communities as represented through their commercial bodies and other agencies for advertising, should commence at once to take advantage of the one-way colonist rates which will be in effect from Sept 1st to Oct. 31st. No state in the Union has received greater benefit through these colonist rates than Oregon and at no time in the history of the state were more people expressing a determination to come here to make their permanent home.

Hon. John Sharpe Williams, recently elected United States Senator from Mississippi, and prominent nationally as the leader of the democracy, while here to fill an engagement with the Chautaugus Association, was tendered a reception at the Portland Commercial Club Friday night.

SUNSET NOTES.

In surveying the past baseball season; which has just closed we can well be proud of our team. Early last spring they started out under great difficulties. The greater number of the team having not less than four miles to go to practice, undaunted by snow storms or rain they practiced with a vim that has won three games out of five games played; which wins for them the Crown of Victory for this season. The team has now enough money for their suits.

Miss Hannah Mey has arrived home after a long absence.

Mrs. M. Nash and son left for Wasco Monday for the summer.

A large crowd of people were present on the Fourth everything went off pleasantly and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

WASTEFUL OF RESOURCES

CHIEF JUSTICE BEAN SAYS OREGONIANS NEED EDUCATING.

Such Work Needed More Than Legislation at Present Time—Close Student of Oregon's Industrial Conditions.

A Salem dispatch to the Journal says: The primary work of the Oregon commission for the conservation of the state's resources," says Chief Justice Bean, "should be to educate the people to the need of economy in the use of our resources. It is my opinion that educational work is needed more at this time than legislation. Legislation that is enacted before the value of conservation of resources is fully realized, would irritate people and would probably be harmful at first.

Justice Bean is a close student of Oregon's industrial conditions. He is a member of the Oregon commission recently appointed by Governor Chamberlain and attended the meeting of that body in Portland this week.

"Oregon is getting a creditable start in this work, and the visit this week of Secretary Garfield has helped greatly," says the chief justice. "Of course the first thing to be done is to prepare reports to be submitted to the president. The president then will call another conference and the material will be prepared for its presentation to congress. The work of the commission is enormous, but the character of the membership is such that I do not believe the members will lose their enthusiasm for this great work."

"Secretary Garfield gives Governor Chamberlain credit proposing the conference of governors called last May by the president. According to Mr. Garfield the proposal was made by Governor Chamberlain during the sessions of the national irrigation congress at Sacramento last year while Governor Chamberlain was president of that body."

"REAL" INDIAN SCARE.

A correspondent at Lyle writes of an amusing Indian "scare" told by Colonel Frank J. Parker, the well known journalist, formerly of Walla Walla:

Frank J. Parker, pioneer miner, General Howard's old scout in the Indian war of 1878, newspaper man, later United States marshal for Washington under Cleveland, now retired, residing in Portland, has just concluded a trip up the Columbia, noting changes that have been made since he and other miners floated from the Dalles to the Cascades in an Indian canoe, in 1864. Colonel Parker expressed regret that some of the grotesque scenery of the Cascades had to be so ruthlessly obliterated by the recent railroad construction.

Before taking the Portland train, the old miner-scout related a little incident that will clear up to some of the old-timers, what was reported falsely at the time to be an Indian outbreak. The story runs that General Howard's scout, with a Cayuse Indian guide, was en route to intercept General Howard and army in Harney valley. They had made camp on the headwaters of Owyhee river, near Silver City.

During an intermission in the long ride, while the horses were grazing and resting, Colonel Parker and the Indian were shooting "wind" hens. Peaceable Indians passing heard the gun reports and tarried long enough to see dodging through the brush the Indian guide, and presuming at once a band of their mortal foes, the Bannocks; were upon them, they hastened with reports to Silver City, soon there appeared in the newspapers the story of "another outbreak of Indians near Silver City Idaho."

Colonel Parker says he has kept the real story of the Indian raid secret these 30 years in order not to detract from the fame of the then rising young journalists.

Now You're Talking Business.

Harney is to make strenuous efforts to advertise its resources. Its boosters should know that one of the best ways to accomplish much good is to use the local press, and to encourage the publishers in their labor by increased patronage. Take an interest in the work by paying for extra copies and mailing them regularly to eastern friends. The papers advertise your advantages week in and out. It is certain that every public spirited newspaper man gives the public he serves more than value received for every dollar turned his way. And the rule holds good in all communities wishing to attract settlers.—Lakeview Examiner.

OREGON SHEEP INSPECTED

WORK COMPLETED JULY 1 AND REPORTS ALL MADE.

Efficiency of Work of Bureau is Shown and Number of Scabby Sheep Reduced From Seventeen to Two per Cent.

July 1 the federal stock inspectors, working in Oregon under the direction of Dr. S. W. McClure, completed the inspection of the sheep of this state and the returns that have been received at the Pendleton bureau of animal industry office show some very interesting things. The efficiency of the present state sheep law and the benefit that the state receives from the work done by the government are two things that are very evident.

A year ago when the sheep of Oregon were inspected by the federal men it was disclosed that 16.45 percent of the sheep of the state were affected with scabbies. Under the provisions of the sheep law every sheep in the state was dipped, the work being done between April and September.

This year the federal inspectors commenced an inspection February 1 and all the sheep of the state were inspected between that time and July 1. Reports received from his men by Mr. McClure show that out of the 2,245,052 sheep in the state only 2.53-100 per cent were found to be scabby. These sheep were all dipped twice under the supervision of a federal inspector and all exposed sheep were dipped once.

On September 1 another inspection of all the sheep in the state will be started and it will require three months to complete the work. At that time all scabby sheep, if any, will be dipped. The inspection just closed shows the following counties were absolutely free from scab: Baker, Wallowa, Grant, Wheeler, Crook, Sherman, Wasco, Gilliam, Morrow and Harney.

This year Umatilla county had 1900 scabby sheep, whereas a year ago it had 42,000. The 1900 scabby sheep found this year were dipped in May and when inspected again June 20 were found free from disease. There is now no scab in Umatilla county.

Nearly all of the scab now existing is found in Lake and Malheur counties. Most of the scab is among bands in southern Malheur and owned by Spaniards. These men were slow to dip last year. The scab in Lake county was scattered by a band of bucks.

In the Willamette valley there is no scab excepting among a few small bands in Douglas county.—East Oregonian.

Saloons Closed in Malheur County.

The city council at a regular meeting Monday night refused to grant liquor licenses to Whitworth & Tonningson and Ros Macpherson and called in the licenses of C. A. Goddard and Frank Smith Kibler, and in consequence the city is now in the dry column.

The retail dealers here had a restraining order from Judge Davis, which enabled them to conduct their business up to July 8th.

Vale's city council, we learn, also refused to grant licenses to the saloonmen of the county seat.—Ontario Argus.
