

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: One Year, $2.00; Six Months, $1.00; Three Months, $0.50

W. H. Taft has been officially notified of his nomination for the presidency and it is quite evident it was not a surprise to him for that long speech of acceptance wasn't an impromptu affair.

Teddy is coming to Oregon to hunt bear and mountain lions this fall. It is reported he will visit the Klamath Falls section. That means some good advertising for that part of the state, at least.

According to Portland papers the state chairmanship of the republican party is somewhat mixed. Judge Cake is chairman but he don't seem to be in favor with the powers that be, therefore he must resign.

A Portland wholesale liquor dealer claims that dealers of that city lost $25,000 in trade since the election which resulted in several counties going dry. At that rate this establishment would soon go broke.

Crook county people are very enthusiastic over the proposed railroad financed by local capital and it looks like they mean business. Those in charge of the undertaking will take material, labor, supplies, etc. in stock in the concern, therefore every citizen interested in the development of that section may help. We are glad to see such enterprise and hope it may be successful.

Newspaper reports indicate that Mr. Harriman is also to control the Gould system of railroads. The Chicago Northwestern, which had been considered a possibility through this section, and a competitor of Harriman, is now doomed if that is the case and we will simply await the sweet will of Edward for transportation. However, this is not altogether discouraging as a railroad through the interior will appeal to Mr. Harriman as a business proposition and he will likely build soon without being forced to do it to protect what he considers his territory.

Portland papers frequently refer to the big meat packing plant now being erected in that city and are constantly telling stockmen of Eastern Oregon of the great benefits such an establishment is to them as it furnishes a market for the finished product right at home. That's a fact, yet it is only a short period during each year that the growers of the interior can really place the finished product, or really prime beef at the disposal of the big packing plant. We have facilities to make beef, but haven't the transportation. To put beef in condition and then drive to present shipping points means quite a loss, as it is impossible to get the animals to the railroad without shrinkage and loss of flesh. Before interior growers can realize the full benefit of this packing plant they must have a railroad.

Sheepmen of this section will be interested in a forest service bulletin which reports that sheep have been poisoned on choke cherry leaves. If this is really a fact it is a new one, as local growers have never reported a case of poisoning from that plant. The bulletin says: A number of sheep were recently poisoned by eating choke cherry leaves while passing over a driveway across part of the Manti National Forest, in Utah, and, though sheep driveways are not strictly part of the National forest range, the Government has taken steps to prevent further losses to the sheepmen from this cause. Members of the force on the forests will cooperate with stockmen in cutting out the thickest of choke cherry bushes where they grow most densely, thus allowing the sheep to be hurried through them, and in some places the driveway will be changed so as to avoid the thickets altogether.

Landowners in the upper section of the Klamath Government irrigation project have taken steps to annual contracts made with the Government for water to be supplied on completion of the canal system, says a late press dispatch. If request for annulment is refused, suit will be brought.

When the plans were adopted the Government required that 80 per cent of the lands be signed. This could not be done, and bids offered for construction of the dam were rejected. Landowners asked for a reconsideration and demanded an early commencement of operations on the upper project. Director F. H. Newell, of the reclamation service, stood firm, and the present movement is the result.

Landowners are fighting the reclamation service through their Water Users' Association.

Eastern Oregon wool growers who sold early at prices below the figure later prevailing, should not worry over the loss of the difference between the low and high marks. No man can tell what variation in prices will be. Perhaps next year the early sellers will be in luck. Each grower must exercise his best judgement and sell when he thinks conditions best for him. Whether prices go up or down thereafter may be a matter worthy of attention for the purpose of aiding future transactions but it is not worth worrying about.—Exchange.

Chas. Johnson is home from a health resort over in Grant county. He says that Blue Mt. Springs is an ideal camping place and he expects to return there about the 10th of next month with his family.

A car load of New Moline wagons just in at C. H. Voegtly's. These are the best and cheapest wagons in the country. Also the Velie buggies, and Henney hacks. Call and get prices. They are bought for cash, and no middle man's profits are counted in.

THE PROHIBITION CASE.

Tuesday the case of Guernsey & Clark vs. Grant County Court came up for hearing before Circuit Judge Geo. E. Davis upon a stipulation of facts and after hearing the argument of respective counsel the court took the case under advisement and it will in all probability be several days before a decision is reached.

In the presentation of the case the attorneys, V. G. Cozad, for plaintiff and W. W. Wood, for defendant consumed almost the entire afternoon in argument, offering in support of their conflicting contentions a voluminous line of authorities. The attorneys have gone into the case in an exhaustive manner.—Blue Mt Eagle.

C. M. Kellogg is here looking after stage business.

KILLING SHEEP.

The Democrat says that a sheep herder reached Baker Wednesday night with the information that trouble has broken out between sheep and cattle men on Burnt river range.

The herder claims that he and another herder for A. N. Whittier, were tied up by masked cattlemen who took their guns and forced them to round up a band of sheep, after which the cattlemen used their rifles, killing 46 sheep and crippling 30 more.

DIED—Ed Wright, after a long illness with consumption, passed away at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Rush, near Juntura, Ore., July 26, 1908.

His many friends were sadly surprised when his remains arrived in Harney and came to drop a tear over his bier.

He leaves to mourn his early death his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rush, and two brothers, Robt. and Frank, Mrs. Sarah Koda and husband, an aunt was here. Also Mr. Jas. Gibson, Chas. Gibson, Ed. P. Gibson and their families, Mrs. Nannie Gray, an aunt, lives in Washington.

The funeral was from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haines conducted by Mr. Jasper Davis, who read a most fitting and beautiful chapter on the resurrection.

The hymns were rendered by a trio—"Parting With our Dear Friends," "My Faith Looks up to Thee," and "Nearer My God to Thee."

Many beautiful floral tributes betokened love, faith and hope. Sunday evening he was laid to rest in the Harney cemetery, a spot he so much loved and had strived so much to make what it should be, a lovely resting place.

The sobs and pale faces attested to the suppressed feelings as his body was given to mother earth. He had strived so hard to get well and gave as little trouble as possible during his illness so like his ambitious nature.

So farewell. L. D.

MUST NOTIFY STOCK INSPECTOR.

The Blue Mountain Eagle says: In response to an inquiry made by Stock Inspector Geo. Irvin, Attorney General Crawford furnishes the opinion that it is mandatory on foreign stock owners to notify the stock inspector within 15 days after they enter the county. After 15 days the stock shall demand a sworn statement, setting forth the amount of stock, date of arrival and departure and in case this sworn statement is not furnished, prosecution can be started.

NEW CLUBBING PROPOSITION.

We have arranged to offer in connection with this paper, the new monthly farm magazine just started at Lincoln, Nebraska, by Prof. H. W. Campbell and devoted to the subject of how to farm in the dry country and how to get best results from soil tillage under normal conditions. This Paper is Campbell's Scientific Farmer and we offer it clubbed with The Times-Terald both for $2.50 per year cash. Prof. Campbell's new paper is a monthly, chock full of good things, the only paper of its kind in the world, and it embodies the results of the editor's many years of painstaking investigation of the soil tillage proposition.

In a deep well in the Sunset strong indications of oil have been found.
