

Two Pointers for the Farmers.

In an irrigating country it is sometimes found necessary to take down a fence to avoid a ditch or lateral when driving to and from a field. If this road is only used a part of the year, or occasionally, it does not pay to construct a permanent gate. A temporary gate, which will cost only a few cents, can be constructed in the following manner: Loosen the wires on three or four posts, depending on the tightness of the wires. Then drive two staples about one-half inch apart parallel to the wire and to each other where the staples were formerly driven in the post. Place a spike at the bottom of each of the two center posts. The wire can then be hooked under these spikes and will be held close to the ground so it is easy to drive over. When the fence is to be closed place the wires between the parallel staples and then run a nail through both staples and outside of the wire. Fasten the wires to each post in this manner and your fence will be just as good as it would be if the wires were stapled solid to the posts. This is a cheap and very satisfactory way to construct a temporary gate.

One very good way to clear land of sagebrush, provided you do not care to use the land for a year, is to sow rye among the brush in the fall. The fall and spring rains will cause the rye to grow. The rye will ripen in the following July. In August a fire will burn both the rye and sage brush. If care is taken in sowing the rye so that the fire will carry well from brush to brush the ground will be left as clean as a swept floor.—Twin Falls News.

Last week a man stepped up to us and said he would pay us every cent he owed us if he lived until Saturday night. We presume the man died. Another man said he would pay us in a day or two as sure as we were born. Query: Did the man lie or were we never born? Another said he would settle as sure as shooting. We presume that shooting is very uncertain. Another man said he hoped to go to the devil if he did not pay us within three days. Haven't seen him since; suppose that he has gone. But trust he did not hope in vain. Quite a number said they would see us tomorrow. They must have been stricken blind, or tomorrow has not come. One man told us six months ago that he would pay as soon as he got some money. The man would not lie, of course he has not got a cent since.—Ex.

NEW CLUBBING PROPOSITION

We have arranged to offer in connection with this paper, the new monthly farm magazine just started at Lincoln, Nebraska, by Prof. H. W. Campbell and devoted to the subject of how to farm in the dry country and how to get best results from soil tillage under normal conditions. This Paper is Campbell's Scientific Farmer and we offer it clubbed with The Times-Herald both for $2.50 per year cash. Prof. Campbell's new paper is a monthly, chock full of good things, the only paper of its kind in the world, and it embodies the results of the editor's many years of painstaking investigation of the soil tillage proposition.
