Al Hart had the misfortune to get his foot cut with an ax on Stein's Mountain last week. The cut was not bad but an artery was severed and cords were tightly drawn over his foot and on the calf of his leg. These were allowed to remain for a long time and were not removed in fact until Dr. Griffith arrived at Diamond several days after. The doctor found the foot in a very bad condition and had Hart brought to Burns. It was feared at first the foot would have to be amputated, but now the physicians believe it can be saved.

Our old friend B. P. Bennett brought to this office the other day the sword from a sword fish which he had just received through the mail from Massachusetts. It was some two and a half feet long and looked as though it was quite a handy weapon. It is a real curiosity to we "land lubbers."

Adam George, chairman of the Commercial Club committee on an exhibit of our products at the Seattle fair, is in receipt of a letter from the Oregon Commission in which this commission offers to pay all transportation charges to and from Seattle and install the same without any cost to us. They will also look after it and distribute any advertising matter we may desire. There is talk of sending out our exhibit of taxi-dermy together with such products as may be secured. This is a matter that will have the attention of the club at its next meeting next Tuesday evening.

NOTES FROM SUNSET.

The dance given last Friday night for the benefit of the school house was well attended. Music was furnished by the Dawson orchestra and the floor was ably managed by W. A. McKee and M. Nash. Every body reports the best time ever. There will be another dance the 5th of March.

Miss Amy Leake sustained quite a serious accident at the dance Friday night, she slipped on the step and hurt her back and is still confined to the house.

If Mr. A. Bennett should pass through Sunset now he would find the 10x12 shack deserted. The children having moved into their new building Monday. We feel proud of our new school house and think it one of the best built and best arranged in Harney County.

One of the interesting topics of conversation when the ladies of Sunset meet, is gardens and the merits of different seed, which leads us to infer that Sunset is going to work in earnest, and we hope there will be many fine specimens at the fair next fall.

The Ladies of Sunset have nobly done their part in helping every way to push the school house to completion. We hope now to see the Ladies Cemetery Aid Society started, and the five acres kindly given by Mr. Henry cleared of its dreary sage brush, neatly fenced with woven wire, a nice gateway and a few locust and poplar trees added each year will soon make a quiet restful place to lay away our loved ones.

Mrs. W. G. Hodder entertained a number of friends at dinner Friday. Plates were laid for twenty.

An eye witness reports that the gas well at the Leake ranch when now lighted burns a steady flame rising two feet at a time.

Mrs. M. Nash has been ill for the past week but is now recovering.

Mrs. Eggleston's mother, Mrs. Baron will arrive home Friday.

Mr. Chester Myers arrived in Sunset last week from Jefferson. Mr. Myers is a brother to Fred Myers. He has taken up land in Sunset and will be one of us for some time.

Mr. Ray Reed of Portland is visiting his brothers, James and Charles, having arrived here last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston entertained the married people of Sunset at whist on Saturday night. A very pleasant evening was spent by all. The first prize was awarded to Mrs. C. Reed and the "booby" prize to Mrs. F. Myers.

The young people of Sunset have started a dancing club. They have a very efficient teacher in W. A. McKee.

A WRONG IMPRESSION.

In an article appearing last issue regarding the purchase of the flour mill by local business men, it appeared as though the Times-Herald was reflecting upon the business methods of Joe Sturtevant, who has long conducted the business. This was not the intention and we hasten to make amends. The article was written hurriedly just before going to press and did not express all it intended. One of the gentlemen who was interested in the purchase outlined a policy for the future in that the mill, water power and land would be used to enlarge other enterprises in connection with the mill. The price to be paid for wheat was not higher than that paid by Mr. Sturtevant with the exception of one season when it was not known by local merchants that there would be much wheat and they had ordered a large quantity of flour from outside points and as Mr. Sturtevant would have to hold the wheat over a year, besides borrow money to pay for it, he offered 1 1/2 cents per pound. Last season he paid 2 cents for wheat.

Mr. Sturtevant took hold of the mill when it was a hard battle to make it go and has done much to encourage the raising of wheat and keeping a vast amount of money at home that had formerly gone out for that product. The Times-Herald wishes to give Mr. Sturtevant full credit for what he has done in this respect and to assure his friends that no reflection was intended in the former article.

Standing A Run.

No bank in the world can pay all its depositors at once, any more than a blacksmith can shoe all of his customers' horses at one time.

A bank's customers do not require their money at the same time, not even the same week or month; neither do the blacksmith's customers want their horses shod on the same day.

The bank loans out a part of its deposits as well as the capital stock. The demands of business in banking history prove that 25 per cent of deposits is a safe amount to keep on hand.

If banks could not loan out a part of their deposits, there would be no banks. The men who own the bank stock would loan the money themselves and save the expense of officers, salary rent, taxes, books, etc. Then there would be no convenient place for the people to deposit their money.

This bank keeps on hand at all times cash to the amount of 50 per cent of its deposits; in addition, 50 per cent of our deposits is available on short notice in the form of demand notes and cash in other banks.

Consider the safeness of doing business with a bank that is managed strictly on the lines of safe banking.
