Judge Bean's decision in the Deschutes case is a decided victory for the Oregon Trunk, and a staggering blow to the Harriman forces.

It is greatly to be hoped that the contending parties will now agree between themselves, and that instead of prolonging the litigation by appeal will proceed with the important work in hand.

Naturally the public is rather inclined to favor his rival, for the reason that Mr. Harriman has so long neglected his opportunity to build into central Oregon, when there was none to oppose him.

From the Public: It is said that Henry Miller, founder of the vast landed estates of Miller and Lux, prominent California monopolists, was once asked why he was buying so much land.

The scarcity of houses to rent in Burns has caused a friend to suggest the organization of a building and loan association by local business men.

On the last page of this issue is a clipping that should be read by local horticulturists. The use of smudge pots would be a great benefit in this section.

If Porter Bros. or Mr. Stevens are not too busy over in the Deschutes we'd advise them to investigate the Malheur pass.

"If the weather would always go to suit us and 'luck' could be with us in all our undertakings we would soon become too lazy for any use.

and for this reason it takes 'get' to get the good things."

The Oregon Trunk (Mr. Hill's railroad) has been given the decision by the federal court in the fight for Deschutes with Harriman.

A DRY FARM SUGGESTION.

George Fry has a new scheme that may prove beneficial to the dry sections of this county—at any rate his observations will furnish something for thought.

Mr. Fry has noticed on his farm that in the vicinity of a well his crops are better, even though the well furnishes no water for irrigation.

GROWING FIELD PEAS.

Judge H. C. Levens has been experimenting this season with the Canadian field pea and is quite well satisfied with the result so far.

It is claimed this country is particularly adapted to the growth of peas and Judge Levens will thresh this crop in order to get acclimated seed, believing it will grow better.

BALLOON ASCENSION AND RACES.

Prof. Frank Littlejohn made a successful balloon ascension and parachute drop last Sunday evening. The wind would not permit inflating the big bag until after sundown but it finally subsided.

The program will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and there are four events in the racing cards, a saddle horse race, half mile free for all, a trot of half-mile heats and "Progress" the trotting stallion, will go against Sheriff Richardson's automobile.

ALFALFA FOR HOGS.

One of the most extensive and successful swine raisers in Kansas tells the author this: Twenty-five years of pasturing hogs of all ages on alfalfa has proven conclusively to me that a fourth to a half grain ration while they are on such pasture, will produce greater growth per day than in dry lots on full feeds of corn.

kept in a dry lot, where grain alone has been fed. I find no distinction on the market between alfalfa-fed swine and those purely grain-fed, and they sell price and price alike.

The great mistake made by too many who attempt to pasture swine on alfalfa is in overstocking. There is a tendency of temptation to keep in a pasture more stock than it can comfortably support, with the result that the alfalfa plants are gnawed, trampled and rooted out, while the animals fail to prosper as they would under more rational treatment.

Swine raisers in the alfalfa growing sections frequently make the claim that cholera is unknown where alfalfa flourishes most, and that hogs given all the alfalfa they will eat, if a properly balanced ration, develop greater vitality and ability to resist than would otherwise be the case.

HILL WINS IN DESCHUTES.

The Oregon Trunk, the James J. Hill railroad, won its contest with the Harriman road in the Deschutes in the U. S. court at Portland Monday, when Judge Bean overruled a demurrer of the Harriman road.

The court issued an order forbidding the Harriman people going upon the 60 miles of contested right of way up the Deschutes canyon. The application of the Harriman lawyers asking that the Hill road be similarly enjoined pending adjudication was refused.

I. S. Tyler is up from his Sunset home today. He says he raised some grain this year but not a very good crop.

The schools of this city will open on Sept. 6, and already people are moving in from the country preparatory to starting the children in at the first of the term.

Chas. Wilson and wife came back from the Blue Mt. Springs last Saturday. They went over for a little recreation but Chas. proceeded to make a hog of himself and ate too much, consequently had a grouch and returned home to get well.

We wish to announce now that any of our farmer subscribers who desire to may pay their subscription in grain, wheat, oats or barley at the market price. The manager of this great religious wants to take care of his chickens, horse and cow and will deal direct with the farmer.

David Eccles and Joseph West of the Sumpter Valley Railroad were guests at the Blue Mt. Hot springs last week, says the Eagle. It is rumored that they made an offer to the owner of the springs, Palmer Reynolds, of $30,000. The offer was refused, and it is claimed a price of $100,000 was put on this popular resort.

Four car loads consisting of buggies, wagons, plows, harrows farm machinery, barb wire and nails now en route. See C. H. Voegtly for prices.

Archie McGowan and family, Mrs. Harry Smith and son Harry and A. B. and A. S. Whitney are back from a short pleasure outing on Emigrant and Spring creeks.
