Wakefield, who has been a resident of The Dalles for 25 years, was in the city yesterday. He has recently bought land in the mountains near Emigrant Creek and been superintending some improvements on the place. Mr. Wakefield is the father-in-law of Williamson, formerly a resident of this district.

Burns flour mill is a busy place these days as the farmers are bringing in grain as fast as it can be taken care of. It was necessary to let the water out of the dam last month in order to make necessary repairs to the dam and the low stage of the river makes it slow in filling. They barely have sufficient water now to run the mill but hope soon to begin filling.

Monday evening, at the Overland hotel in this city, Mr. Geo. Gates and Annie Welty, Rev. A. J. Eggleston performing the ceremony. Gates is one of the pioneers of this county where he has always been respected for his business integrity. The bride is in this county for some time over a year and has a farm near Buchanan station and is bringing water. The couple will live in their home on this farm in the present. The Times-Herald wishes them a prosperous and happy life.

M. J. Nash was over from near Harney the first of the week to consult a physician. He "cracked" his shin with a hammer while setting the derrick for the well drilling machine. It did not bother him at first but later pained him very much.

George Aleder, an eight-year-old youngster on Lou Bardfield's place near Drewsey is certainly made of the right stuff. Early one morning recently a mare got out of the field and she would go away some distance if not caught at once. There was no horse handy and the boy had just jumped out of bed and was not dressed. He started after the animal and after following her six miles caught her. He had no rope so tore part of his shirt up into strips and led the mare home.

FOR SALE—Two homestead relinquishments in the Sunset neighborhood, partially improved including two good cabins, well, chicken house and ten acres cleared. Cheap if taken at once. Inquire at this office.

Cripple Dick, the Piute Indian, died last Saturday from pneumonia contracted from exposure when on a debauch. Dick was a bright boy and took up the white man's ways when a youngster. Several years ago he attempted to go from town to the Indian camps on the hill on stilts and fell, dislocating his hip. The accident was not reported and it was weeks before any of his white boy cronies, which included the writer and other boys of that age, learned of it. At that time the Indians would have no white doctor, therefore Dick went through life a cripple. He got to drinking whenever he could get liquor and this was the immediate cause of his death.

Several years ago he attempted to go from town to the Indian camps on the hill on stilts and fell, dislocating his hip. The accident was not reported and it was weeks before any of his white boy cronies, which included the writer and other boys of that age, learned of it. At that time the Indians would have no white doctor, therefore Dick went through life a cripple. He got to drinking whenever he could get liquor and this was the immediate cause of his death.
