

ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR

From Point of Exhibition Ever Attempted in Recent Years

EXCELLENT SHOWING OF STOCK

Some Great Northern Silver Cups Awarded to H. Anderson, of Van, on Field Products and James Varien, of Burns, on Garden--Others Win.

Annual county fair comes to this evening and it has been very successful one in the exhibition. The products shown were shown in a very wide way and was really a treat to local people who had the products would not be the standard owing to favorable season. Had it possible to secure a representative display of the gardens, fields and the territory of Steens mountain would have been augmented very material for that of the county had excellent as that always has, owing to the great distance time consumed in bringing products that part of county was not represented. Exhibits of the farm and products could not be seen anywhere. The fruit in course limited but less it covered a great and more than was named premium list. We did see the varieties of apples, peaches, prunes, etc., but every variety grown in the west was represented. Drewsey section of the had a magnificent display grain and vegetables and Baker was in charge of exhibit. It was most credit well arranged. The individual exhibits serve special mention those of James Varien, Hibbard, Gail Barnes and Anderson. They each display. The former one whole section of living on the north table pavilion. The fruit display individual exhibitors fine, among them being J. McKinnon, W. H. Mrs. A. Venator and parties whose names learned. Anderson of Van was the magnificent $50 silver loving cup given Great Northern Railway best general exhibit of pure products. James captured the Great Northern for the best general dis- gardsen products as well special $10 premium offer- in. Farre. Silver loving cups were express some time ago been side tracked here in transit and did in time to be exhibited. This was a disap- ar. This was a disap- ar management. They need up and finally be following were rewarded sums:

SAYS FORAGE IS SCARCE

Oregonian Mistaken as to The Range Conditions in This Section

STOCK ARE IN GOOD SHAPE HERE

Grazing so Bad in Umatilla and Deschutes That The Sheepmen Were Forced to Withdraw Flocks From Range--Stock in Those Sections in Poor Condition.

The Oregonian of Monday prints an article regarding range conditions that is intended to cover the northwest section but it is evident the writer is not entirely familiar with conditions in this section. While the season has been exceedingly dry stock on the range has done well and the rains of a few weeks ago have given the grass a start that will bring stock up to usual conditions for the winter. The Oregonian says in part:

Abnormal conditions during the present grazing season indicate to stockmen that sheep and cattle will come from the public ranges of Oregon in very poor condition for wintering, and that there will be an unusually light turn off of marketable cattle. Already many of the sheepmen have been forced to withdraw their hands because of the shortage of the forage crop on the Umatilla and Deschutes ranges, while it is possible that grazers making use of the Malheur, Whitman, Wenaha and Wallowa National forest will drive out unless the heavy rains come immediately.

Range conditions in the State of Washington have been somewhat more favorable during the Summer of 1910, and the stockmen will be able not only to keep their herds on the range for a longer period of time, but will bring them off in far better condition for wintering.

In Northern Washington a largely increased range has this year become available for sheep grazing because of new railroad facilities which permit of sheep being delivered to the grazing ground with the least amount of trailing. H. K. O'Brien, Chief of Grazing for the Northwest District of the Forest Service, with headquarters at Portland, is planning to aid the Oregon grazers next year by allowing them to make use of the Washington unused district.

Mr. O'Brien has also made recommendations for the development of water in the Paulina Mountain district of Central Oregon, where he believes that fully 65,000 sheep may be cared for after winter holes have been drilled. A geological examination of the district has just been completed by Herbert E. Gregory.

Wells will be driven during the Winter at favorable points on the 265,000 acres of bunchgrass land which has never been grazed. The famous ice cave, 800 feet in length, will be developed through a well driven through the roof, with the belief that a large supply of pure water may be obtained. The ice cave furnishes the only water now available for a radius of 12 miles. Water will be developed at Pine Mountain, in the valley south of China Buttes, in the old lake beds south of Foster's Cabin, at the Horse Springs and at the Button Springs. Some of the wells will go to a depth of 400 feet.

The Paulina district is an ancient lava field, the surface rock being so porous that heavy rains sink through as fast as they fall.

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY.
One of the enjoyable features of the week was the District Convention of the Rebekah lodges. The district comprises this and the Grant county lodges but Grant county failed to send any delegate. There was a large gathering of the members present however and the sessions proved quite beneficial. Besides the local members their were visitors from other lodges.

The address of welcome was made by Alice Sweek, Noble Grand of the local lodge and she was highly complimented by these who heard it.

The guest of honor was Mrs. Addie Grout of LaGrande, President of the state Rebekah Assembly. She is a very charming lady and her lecture and instructions as well as her remarks on the benefits from holding districts conventions were much appreciated by the members. The lady is a sister-in-law to Ed and Len Grout who formerly resided in this county.

Mrs. Grout congratulated the floor team and exemplification of the work at initiation. Following the lodge work the company adjourned to the banquet room which had been artistically decorated with Rebekah colors. This was enjoyed by almost 100 guests and was one of the finest banquets ever spread in Burns. It was a red letter day among the local members of the fraternity.

Mrs. Grout took her departure Thursday morning for her home.

CHARLES RUSSELL DEAD.
Chas. L. Russell died at his home in this city Sunday evening and the funeral was held Tuesday morning, services being conducted by Rev. C. W. Holloman.

Mr. Russell was a member of a pioneer family of this county having come to this place in the early 80's. Later he moved away and was married. He returned to this section a few years ago and had been an invalid and constant sufferer from locomotor ataxia for several years. Death finally relieved him. He was 47 years old and is survived by a widow and daughter, two sister Mrs. Wm. Cummins, and Mrs. Fred Fisk of this city, two by a daughter and Agnes Miller; a beautifully rendered vocal solo by Miss Louel Smith, also one by little Gladys Byrd; the male quartet sang too.

Dr. W. L. Marsden made a few remarks at the opening of the program explaining the purpose. After the completion of the program Hon. Frank Davey mounted the platform and after a few remarks began to auction off the baskets. The bidding was not very spirited at first but finally the boys warmed up and some of them had to pay a good price for their baskets. When Mr. Davey had sold the last one the young men uncovered the baskets and found the name of the young lady with whom he would share luncheon. Besides the baskets extra luncheon of sandwiches, cake and coffee was prepared and sold. All present who desired it were served. Since the entertainment W. W. Brown, the well known Wagontire stockman, has proposed to donate $200 toward the fund if the high school pupils will raise a like sum among the business men of Burns. This is a most generous proposition and the pupils should act upon it without delay.

LATER:—The entire amount is raised and the piano will be purchased at once.

brothers in California. Mr. Russell was well known to pioneer residents of this section and a man well liked. While there is universal regret at his death it is tempered with the thought that he is relieved of his suffering as no human aid could do anything for him.

A Handsome Woman
Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.
