THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

A press dispatch says:—The progress of the country as reflected by the records of population and harvests and general conditions of international peace, are things for which Thanksgiving is especially due for the year 1910, according to the annual Thanksgiving proclamation issued by President Taft today. The proclamation is as follows: "This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests which are the index of progress show vigorous National growth and the health and prosperous well being of our communities throughout this land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in unrestricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God. "We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters our relations with other people are harmonious with an ever growing reality of friendliness and depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the last year great progress has been achieved in the cause of arbitration and the peaceful settlement of international disputes. "Now, therefore I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise custom of the Civil Magistrate since the first settlements in this land, and with the rule established from the foundation of this Government, do appoint Thursday, November 24, 1910, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, enjoining the people upon that day to meet in their churches for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to him for all his goodness and loving kindness. "In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. "Done at the City of Washington, this, the 5th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-fifth."
