Very few if any more fortunate sections under the sun will enjoy the Christmas festivities as the people of Harney county. Here there is no need of that "good fellowship" practiced in the larger cities where charity boards furnish names of poor children for the "good fellow" to play Santa Claus to. The Times-Herald knows of no family in Harney County but will have plenty for dinner tomorrow and every child will be remembered by the good old Saint.

Though many are facing the hardships and disadvantages of pioneering on this vast frontier where they are preparing permanent homes, they have abundance as compared to many and cheerfully look forward to a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Oregon wants more railroads and will get them. During the past few weeks the big men of several railroad systems have visited the state and according to the Oregonian each have said the attitude of the people and legislation will govern the extent of the new work of the railroads.

In plain words they have taken this particular time, just before the convening of the state legislature, to take advantage of the desire of the people for railroad development to suggest that there be no legislation touching railroads. They even suggest, indirectly, that the State Railroad Commission have nothing to say. This seems rather foolish. The extension of railroads into the interior is necessary to the development of Oregon and the people are not going to be antagonistic; on the other hand public officials are going to do their duty regardless of any suggestions by railroad interests. We have been bottled up a long time and rather than accede to unreasonable demands of railroad interests we might stand it a few are not children and have the experience of other states and railroad schedules to guide their actions. The extension of railroads in Oregon will not be retarded by adverse legislation or prohibitive restrictions.

The Oregonian's Salem special published Monday says Hill is afraid of the new tax law and may not start any new work until he finds the disposition of the people toward the new method. It looks very much as though the Oregonian was borrowing trouble. The new law may be a rather radical change but it certainly will not be abused in any such manner as the Oregonian article suggests. It is foolishness to suppose that any county would impose a tax upon one thing to cover its entire expense.

THE PUMPING IRRIGATION PROJECT.

Mr. Parrish to Return to Burns Soon and Remain Until Plant is Installed.

The Times-Herald has just received a letter from W. C. Parrish, who was here last week looking into an irrigation project. Mr. Parrish was very much encouraged in his proposition to water land by means of pumps. He says in part:

"I am preparing to come to Burns soon after the first of the year to locate permanently, or until the hydro-electric pumping project is an accomplished fact. The Harney Valley offers such unusually favorable conditions for such an enterprise as compared to hundreds of other localities where they must pump a hundred or more feet that it is utterly useless to doubt the issue. As about forty per cent. of the cost of the project is represented in labor, there will be an opportunity for the people of more moderate means, but with time and horses at their disposal."

WOODMEN ACTIVE.

Chas. S. Nation, Deputy Head Consul of the M. W. A. informs us there are now 42 new names and 7 old members for the charter of a new camp which will be instituted in Burns in the near future. The necessary supplies have been ordered and are expected by the first of January for organization. The boys look forward to a big time when the new "goat" is introduced and the initiation will be followed by a "feed."

Many old time members living in the Narrows neighborhood have asked Mr. Nation to come down and institute a camp there. This he will do as soon as the Burns camp is in working order.

NEW STAGE LINE.

A new post office has been established at Princeton and a mail route was inaugurated this week to cover that territory more thoroughly and get mail through to the southern part of the county in much less time. The route joins the Venator stage line at Harriman and serves Waverly, Princeton, Smith, Alberson and on to Andrews, connecting with another contract south to Denio. The new route is being conducted by Walter Gray.

This gives a more direct route for mail service to the south and will no doubt prove more satisfactory. C. B. Smith was the main factor in securing this new service.

Invents Solid Fuel For Autos.

Fuel for automobiles in solid form is one of the joys which the near future holds, according to advices received here from abroad. The "solidified petrol" is the invention of a Roumanian doctor.

It is said to have many virtues. Among other things, it burns without smell or smoke, its cost is two-thirds that of the liquid; it eliminates wear on the carburetor; it is perfectly safe burning on a wooden box or even wrapped in paper, affords complete combustion, is of greater smoothness than the liquid, will develop greater power, and is easily convertible into liquid. It may be used for ship engines, lamps or other purposes. —New York Press Dispatch.

Buck Anderson, of Bly, was placed under arrest for having purchased a Durham cow from an Indian. It was one of the bunch furnished the government by Bill Hanley a year or so ago, and it is said some spayed heifers were mixed up in the lot and the Indians to whom these were allotted wanted to get rid of them. —Lakeview Examiner.
