

THE MOODY BIBLE SCHOOL.

D. L. Moody was once seen standing in a vacant lot in the rear of the Moody church with his head bowed in prayer, and being asked what he was praying for, said that it was for money with which to erect a building for a Bible Training School.

These buildings born of prayer, and built by prayer, have been consecrated by the prayers of nearly 9000 students, who have here learned the deep things of God, and especially, "The exceeding greatness of His power to usward who believe."

Someone has said that a boy without a fortune is a fortunate boy. However this may be, it is certainly fortunate for many young people that Dwight L. Moody was born poor, for it led him to sympathize heartily with every other young man who like himself had small means and large aspirations.

He early recognized that a considerable part of our religious work must be done by lay workers. He also saw that there were thousands of young men and women to whom a college education was impossible but who with a year or two of training in the English Bible, personal work and music might be able to fill many positions of usefulness which their gifts and calling might indicate.

This led him to found the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, which affords perhaps the most remarkable combination of study and practical work that has ever been seen. It is in no sense a theological seminary or rival of the seminaries. It does not teach Hebrew or Greek, but it has five different methods of teaching the English Bible.

It is hoped that thousands of young men inspired by the example of the great founder of the Institute, D. L. Moody, and encouraged by the success which God bestowed upon a humble, consecrated layman, may be led to devote their lives to some form of Christian service.

Every mission field in the world is crying for trained workers, and there are ten calls for every man that can be supplied. If Christian young men and women knew these facts and realized the urgency of the need, and the richness of the reward which every faithful worker may hope to gain, it is believed that many of them would choose this form of lifework.

Furthermore, pastors can render no better service to their churches than to send young Christians here for a short time, even if they have no intention of devoting their lives to Christian work.

A single term has often resulted in giving one such a working knowledge of the Bible, such a deepening of spiritual life, and such discovery of his own spiritual gifts, that he has returned to his home church a dozen times more valuable than when he left. It is a great thing for one to ascertain his spiritual gifts, and to find his own proper place of service in the kingdom of God, and the Moody Bible Institute is well calculated to render that service.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Florence, although occupying an isolated position on the coast of Lane county will soon be allied closely with the other cities of the state, for it will organize a commercial club having common aims with the hundred and more kindred organizations of the Beaver commonwealth. The Oregon community without a commercial body nowadays is one exceptionally backward. There are only a few left and the ranks are thinning steadily.

The cut of timber by Oregon mills during 1910 was the biggest ever known and reached a total of 2,000,000,000 feet, according to the best estimates obtainable. This too, despite the fact that trade conditions were conflicting. The current year sees a more favorable outlook and it is probable the cut of 1911 will greatly surpass that of 1910.

The Portland Fair and Livestock Association has decided upon the same dates used last year for the meet next fall and will open September 4. Large business interests of the city who are behind the project are supporting it generously and the coming show promises to be far more successful than any of the annual fairs so far held. It is expected to bring to Portland a large number of merchants and representative citizens from the entire country tributary to Portland at the time of the fair, making it an attraction of wide interest.

Shorthorn cattle owned and exhibited by W. O. Minor, of Heppner, won prizes at the Western Stock Show held at Denver during the past week. This same stock won blue ribbons at the Chicago Livestock Exposition, while at shows nearer home, Mr. Minor invariably captures honors.
