A COMPLIMENT TO "BILL".
 The final acquittal by the appellate court sitting in San Francisco of William Hanley—better known the state over as "Bill" Hanley—from the charge of illegal fencing of government lands in Harney county, is reported. The charge was purely technical throughout. Mr. Hanley had not erected the fences complained of, but found them as an inheritance from Peter French, the former owner of the lands. It was proved that when advised that the fences in question were illegal Mr. Hanley ordered the gates thrown open and no breaks repaired. He is known as a most progressive citizen, one of the successful pioneers of dry land farming in his section, and to be relied on to do his part in the development by railroads of that wide region where he has lived for so many years.—Portland Journal.
