A little money sometimes buys a good deal. For instance, take the subscription price of The Youth's Companion for a year—$1.75. If all the good reading in the 52 weekly issues of the paper were published in book form, according to its kind, it would make about thirty volumes of fiction, science, essays by famous writers, household management and economics, sports and pastimes, for boys, natural history, anecdotes, humor, etc. The serial stories alone would fill several volumes. Among these is Ralph Paine's great story of the Boxer Rebellion in China, "The Cross and the Dragon." Another is by J. W. Schultz, who was adopted by Blackfeet when a boy. It is called "The Quest for the Fish-Dog Skia." Another is a glorious girls' story by C. A. Stephens, called "Julia Sylvester." It is a story of a "Mercer" girl in the pioneer days of Oregon and Washington—and that is only part of the serials.

It will cost you nothing to send for the beautiful announcement of The Companion for 1912, and we will send with it sample copies of the paper.

Do not forget that the new subscriber for 1912 receives a gift of The Companion's calendar for 1912, lithographed in ten colors and gold, and all the issues for the remaining weeks in 1911 free from the time the subscription is received.

Only $1.75 now, but on January 1, 1912, the price will be advanced to $2.00.

BROUGHT BACK TO OLD HOME.

Billy Hudspeath and his nephew, Roy Hindman, arrived here Wednesday with the body of the former's father, Greene Hudspeath, for burial. Mr. Hudspeath was one of the respected pioneers of this section.

He and his estimable wife left here last year to make their home with Billy at Sumpter where he died. It was his request that he be brought to Burns for final interment and the body was exhumed last week and the son and grandson brought it over in a steel casket and placed it in the family lot in the Burns cemetery. The family have many friends among the pioneer people of this section who express satisfaction that the body of their old friend has been placed at rest near his former home.
