Asks Transfer of Water Rights Hearing.

The Pacific Live Stock Co. has asked the hearing of water rights of Silves River transferred from the state board to the federal court, according to a Salem dispatch published in the Journal. This move will be resisted by the smaller water users as it would cause much additional expense for them to defend their rights. The rights should first be determined by the state board and if the litigants are not satisfied appeal may be taken. This is the equitable way and The Times-Herald hopes such a course will be pursued in justice to the small user. The dispatch says: A petition from Edwin F. Tregwell, attorney for the Pacific Live Stock Company of California, was received today by the state board of control, requesting removal of the adjudication of the waters of the Silves river in Harney County, from the state board of control to the federal court. On the other hand a strong protest from the water users association of that district has also been received by the board of control. For the first time this raises the question whether the state board of control is a judicial body or only administrative. In the past the board has been working under the assumption that it was only administrative, in which case a petition for the removal of the case would be ignored, but if the body is judicial then the act of filing the petition automatically transfers the adjudication case to the federal court for hearing. State engineer Lewis is looking up the law. The livestock company contends a federal question is involved, as it is a foreign corporation. Two mowing machines, a Dain Buck and rake for sale. See Geo. Fry.
