Something for Voters to Consider.

At the time the authorities were wanting "Tex" Byrd, who had forfeited his bond to the Circuit Court, where he had been indicted on a charge of horse stealing, I was at Alva Spriger's one night when it was being discussed. I remarked that I didn't think they wanted "Tex" very bad or they would get him. This conversation was repeated to Sheriff Richardson who at once called me up on the 'phone at my home at Waverly and asked what information I had. I told him I would be up in a day or two. When I came up I told him I believed I could get track of "Tex" Byrd for him and Mr. Richardson stated that they wanted him bad, as Sidney Comegys was one of his bondsmen and if he was not captured he (Comegys) would likely have to pay the bond of $1200. He further stated that there was a reward of $200 for the capture of "Tex" and that Comegys would make it right with me if I gave the clew that would result in his capture. I went to the railroad later and on my return home I found just what I wanted. My team was tired after the long drive to the road but I found the 'phone out of order and at once hitched up and came to Burns with the information I had secured. I told Sheriff Richardson and his deputy, Byron Terrill, what I had. I came down to the street and found Mr. Comegys and he informed me that if I could furnish information or any insight that would be the means of capturing Byrd he would sell me hay so cheap that I would think I was getting it for nearly nothing. Later Sheriff Richardson got his man and the first time I saw Comegys after that I spoke of his capture and Mr. Comegys admitted that it was my information that led to the capture. I asked him about the hay and he said he had sold his hay to James Paul and wanted to know if money would do as well. Comegys said Mr. Richardson had not charged him anything only the expenses for going after Byrd and asked me what I had been out. I told him of the trip to Burns which had taken three days with a tired freight team and he asked me if $15 would satisfy me. I told him it would. Later I wrote him two letters about the money but Comegys ignored them. I had to go to Narrows after bacon and lard and while there I went to the saloon according to instructions from Sheriff Richardson to see Comegys. He went into a back room and I finally went to the door and asked if I could see him. He came out and commenced to abuse me, calling me all manner of vile names and kept it up as long as he could see me as I went back to the hotel. I saved him the $200 reward offered for the capture of "Tex" Byrd and also the $1200 bond money yet he has refused to even pay me expenses to Burns and return home.

These facts can be verified by Sheriff Richardson and his deputy, Byron Terrill. I, D. A. BRAKEMAN, being first duly sworn, on my oath do say the above is correct and will swear to it in any court. D. A. BRAKEMAN. Subscribed and sworn to before me, a notary public this 26th day of October 1912. FRANK DAVEY, Notary Public for Oregon. If a man wants a man to work for nothing and board himself after saving him the amount involved in the above transaction, is he a fit man for the high position of Sheriff. Yours for consideration, D. A. BRAKEMAN. (Paid Advertisement.)

State Senator.

Getting acquainted is the least of Jim Mahon's troubles. After one visit to a community they all know him, and it is easy to tell that everybody likes him for everyone calls him "Jim." He is of that old school of early settlers that produce such self-made and self-reliant men as Billy Jones, Bob Noble and the late John Devine—men who dared the elements and the unclaimed deserts and stayed till they won out—men in whose lexicon the word "quitter" does not exist. The people want Jim Mahon for state Senator because they know he is honest and sincere, knows what the district needs, and don't know how to quit, till he gets what he goes after.—Ontario Democrat. An Unfortunate Accident.

C. A. Haines received a telegram the fore part of the week from J. D. Edler, the Lake county sheep man, asking if John Hollandbeck had any relatives in this section. Mr. Edler states that the man had been badly burned but gave no particulars. The following clipping from a dispatch to the Journal from Klamath Falls explains the accident more fully:

Weary from a two nights' vigil with a band of sheep, Frank Hollenbeck, a herder, lay down on a board beside the Devil's Teapot, near Klamath Falls, went to sleep fell in and was so severely burned recovery has been in doubt. He does not know how long he slept or what time it was when he fell into the water, but it was nearly 12 o'clock at noon when he was found by Frank Bryant, who was walking along the government ditch bank and heard his cries for help. Hollenbeck says he was suddenly awakened by the hot water. He crawled out and dragged himself along for a long distance crying for help. He thinks it was about two hours after he fell in before he finally was found by Bryant. Dr. George L. Wright was called to attend the injured man and had him taken to the hospital. Hollenbeck is scalded on one side from his feet to his head, and the skin is badly cooked and is peeling off. The water was only about six or seven inches deep where Hollandbeck tumbled in, and had it been deep enough to have covered his body, he would probably never have been able to get out at all.
