You save time and money and we guarantee your satisfaction when you order thru our store.

SNYDER LYCHERS ARE RELEASED EXCEPT DUPUTY CASEDAY

Governor West Pardons The Four Men Conditionally And Much Comment Results

The following taken from the Portland Journal of last Wednesday is an explanation of why capital punishment carried by such a big majority at the recent election. It is just such cases that make people vote as they did at the last election:

Conditional pardons were granted yesterday by Governor West to Albert Green, Ben Hinton, Emmett Shields and Earl Shields who, with J. H. Caseday, were convicted of killing Ollie Snyder near Hamilton, in Grant county, on Christmas day of 1909, and were sentenced to life imprisonment. Caseday, who was deputy sheriff of Grant County at the time of the killing, was sentenced to be hanged, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He was not given a pardon.

Six months ago, the parole board recommended pardons for the four who were released today.

This case attracted wide interest in eastern Oregon, where all the parties were well known. On December 24, 1909, Snyder murdered Arthur Green, brother of Albert Green, near Hamilton. At news of the killing the Green clan began to gather. Deputy Sheriff Caseday left for Monument to arrest Snyder, and the others went after Arthur Green's body. It had been taken to Hamilton and was being prepared for burial when Caseday arrived there with his prisoner.

The prisoner was taken into a saloon where Hinton, Shields' brother and Albert Green were, and it was then, that the idea of lynching Snyder was propagated, and, according to the evidence, was encouraged by Deputy Sheriff Caseday. Soon after Caseday left with his prisoner and a short distance from Hamilton they were halted by men, who took Snyder from Caseday and riddled his body with bullets, while Caseday was sent back to Hamilton by another road.

The convicted men were received at the penitentiary July 9, 1910, and it is reported their release is causing dissatisfaction among other prisoners who have petitions in for paroles or pardons.

A. Venator, the prominent stockman, was in the city from Crowley on business this week—Ontario Democrat.

Rodney Cozad is over from Canyon City on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Curtis Smith and other relatives and friends.

Prof. Sutton of the public school has received acknowledgment of receipt of the recent generous donation made by the children of the school to the Boys and Girls Aid at Portland.

Little by little the supply of water gives out, and in time the plant looks like withered sticks again.

Other trees store water in their roots. This also is the case with a tree that looks very much like an oak as far as its foliage is concerned, but which has a bright orange flower. The Aborigines of some parts of Australia know this and dig up the roots when in need of water. A handful of roots will produce about a pint of water. It can be procured the year around and is very refreshing. Furthermore, even though the temperature all about is very high, the water is always cold.

When the family of William McMurray, general passenger agent for the O. W. R. & N. company, sits down to eat its Christmas dinner, probably the most interesting item on the table will be a fruit cake of tempting outward appearance and of sweet and delicious order, received this week from the class in domestic science at the high school in Burns. Mr. McMurray has encouraged domestic science teaching in the schools and his friendliness to this branch of public instruction, together with his well known interest in the development of interior Oregon, probably caused the girls to remember him in this pleasing and substantial way.—Ex.

THE GAME LAW CHANGES ITS AIM

State Commission To Be Asked To Recommend Amendments

Proposed changes in the game laws of Oregon will be taken up at the next meeting of the State Game and Fish Commission, Dec. 16th, when it will be asked the commission that it recommend to the Legislature the amendment of the license law to permit California sportsman, provided they have resident licenses in that state to hunt and fish in Oregon on the payment of the regular resident license fee of $1.

The present law, applying to all non-residents of Oregon, requires the payment of $5 for an angling and $10 for a hunting license.

C. F. Stone, a member of the commission from Klamath Falls, will recommend that changes be made in the law relating to the number of ducks that may be killed. Thirty-five a day is the present limit, and Mr. Stone contends that to conserve this variety of game bird the law should allow but ten birds in a single day, and but 25 in seven consecutive days shooting. He maintains that thru the Willamette Valley in Central Oregon, and in Klamath country people are opposed to the present high day limit, on the grounds that the ducks are being exterminated.

Mr. Stone would have the opening of the duck season fixed for October 1st throughout the state, instead of the varying dates for different sections under the present law, the earliest of which is September 1st.

The local Rod and Gun Club has been asked for recommendations as to the changes desired in the game laws and the members should meet and discuss them. It seems the proposed change in the open season for ducks would not apply here. September 1st is a good date.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, old of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it. Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the Itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

STILL ON THE BORDER

We are still on the border. "We," in this case, refers to the State of Oregon, typically concerned. In the Eastern, Central and Southern part of the state, there is plenty of range left and the spirit of the range abounds, not excluding that phase of it which runs into lawlessness. We have in mind the report from Burns, which runs to the effect that the stockmen of that section have found it expedient to organize for the protection of their stock against the depredations of horse thieves. There is nothing at all remarkable in such an organization, except that one cannot help being impressed with such news as originating in the same communities wherein the activities of so splendid and modern a city are in evidence. Reading a news story of this sort on the streets or in the lobbies of a city like this seems like perusing the record of life in a community far removed—a borderland that indeed is distant in time as well as miles. But the truth and comparative continuity of it only bring to mind how closely progress crowds upon the more primitive conditions. It affords a more impressive conception of the things we are doing in Oregon and the manner in which we do them. Cities of skyscrapers on one side of the state, while the inhabitants of the other side are organizing to enforce the law of the range. It is a remarkable contrast if one stops to think about it, but thoroughly typical of the present status of the American West.—Telegram.

Getting Winter Eggs

This matter of winter eggs production has baffled a great many. A few seem to have solved the question and are making great records, but where one succeeds a great many fail, and why? Well, in the first place writes a New York man in Rural Life, they have got the stock to work with. Nearly all of these big winter eggs records in this country are made with early hatched pullets, those hatched in March or first of April. "It's the early bird that catches the worm." They must be of good thrifty stock, and of a laying strain.

A good many fail in growing the pullets, they are just allowed to come up. Then there is something in the breed. The right kind to have is one that can stand the cold climate. Leghorns and Minorcas are great spring and summer layers when eggs are cheap and plenty and there are some other breeds the same way. Leghorns are certainly great egg producers, but you must have the proper accommodations for them as they are not going to lay very many eggs during severe cold weather, and I have observed that there is only now and then a place fitted up
