There appears to have been some mistake made respecting the best and most direct route for people to come to Burns according to reports to this office the past few days. It has come to the notice of those who have recently come in from Portland over the Deschutes rail lines that the O-W. R. & N. Co., has printed folders directing people en route to Burns to leave the train at Redmond as there was an auto stage line from that point to Burns. It was learned by Frank Dibble, who was in Prineville last Tuesday, that the Burns Commercial Club is credited with the authority to advertise such a route but the Times-Herald finds no accredited officer of the Commercial Club has ever written any letter or discussed such a route.

According to Mr. Dibble people wishing to come to Burns get off at Redmond and come as far as Prineville and not finding any auto line from that point in go back out. This is rather a bad state of affairs which will be remedied at once. Portland publicity people have already been advised of the situation and will see to it that proper directions are given people who wish to come to Burns from that direction. The only direct line from that way is from Bend where autos have been running all winter and more machines will be put on when traffic justifies.

There have been over 600 colonist tickets sold for the period of March 15th to April 15th, the destination being Central Oregon and it is high time the matter was adjusted and people properly directed to Burns if this is their objective point. The only sure way to reach here is by Bend as the regular schedule maintained by the autos makes quick time. They charge no more than from other points along the Deschutes lines, the hotels charge the same and there is no reason why people should not be given the facts. It is an injustice to Burns and the entire country to allow such a misunderstanding to exist regardless of any personal feeling that may exist. "Knockers" are not confined to any one town at the gate way to this big country. They're at every railway station leading to Harney Valley and we can't avoid them. The only thing we can do is to see that intending investors and homeseekers are given the right way to reach us and take our chances. No town should be expected to be responsible for the utterances of private people. Burns has some of the same characters right at home who insist on airing their personal grievance to the detriment of the best interests of the town and country in general but we have found no way to keep them from "shouting" even though no one of consequence pays any attention to them.

A representative of this paper talked with Frank Johnson, the local agent of the Oregon & Western Colonization Co., respecting the matter and he states positively that his company has not had a thing to say to the railroad people in regard to such matters. The people who are in to look over the holdings of that company are instructed to stop at Redmond and they are then brought by company machines to Prineville. This is for the purpose of bringing them directly over the land grant lands, the company having property for sale in Crook, Harney and Malheur counties. They have never issued any instructions to any one outside their company agents.

The shifting and changing scenes of a town or community are emphasized and brought more forcibly to the attention of the country newspaper shop than anywhere else. As we pass from day to day and from week to week the changes are not so apparent to the casual observer but are made prominent in the work of the country newspaper. Marriages, deaths, births, arrivals and departures, business transfers, the good and bad fortune of neighbors pass in panoramic review. It surely is a shifting, changing scene and the newspaper man realizes how rapidly towns and communities change, for the reason that it is his work to chronicle the changes as they occur. During the last few weeks a number of deaths have occurred, and to those to whom the gloom of death has come, is the realization of the shifting scene, but their vision is in a way circumscribed to their own sorrow. The newspaper prints one story of death only to write another, and another, until it knows that men come and men go and their presence is as shifting as the sands of the sea shore. —Blue Mt. Eagle.

An Agricultural Club

A meeting of several who are interested was held at the high school building last Thursday evening to discuss the proposition of organizing an Agricultural Club, the membership to include farmers in this vicinity and also students of the high school. Mr. Leedy and Supt. Breithaupt of the Experiment Station had been contemplating such an organization for some time and therefore it was decided to invite a few together to discuss it.

It was decided by those present that an organization of that character would be of great benefit to the community and a committee consisting of H. J. Jokisch, I. S. Geer and J. C. Leedy was appointed to formulate plans and submit them at a meeting to be held on April 9th. It was considered by some that a plan of organization for the entire county should be made but after this was discussed it was finally thought best to make it local and that similar organizations would follow in each community throughout the county.

Wm. Hanley, I. S. Geer, Dr.

Hibbard, Hon. Frank Davey and others talked of the plans and especially of the benefits to be derived from recent legislation and the necessity of our getting to work at once in order to receive the early attention of such work as this legislation provides.

Forest Fire Law Misrepresented By Timber Brokers.

The following is sent for publication by the State Forester:

It has been brought to the attention of the State Forester that some unscrupulous timber brokers are misrepresenting the provisions of the compulsory patrol law which was enacted by the recent legislature and becomes effective June 2. Owners of timber claims have been told that under this law it will be necessary for them to keep a patrolman on their claims all summer at their own expense, and this has been urged as a reason for sacrifice sales. Statements of this kind are made purely for the purpose of stimulating the sale of timber claims, thus increasing the business and incidentally the commissions of timber brokers.

The law provides that every timberland owner in the state, not residing within one and one-half mile of his property, shall furnish a sufficient patrol therefor during the dry season, and that in case he fails to do so the State Forester shall provide the same at a cost not to exceed 5 cents per acre per annum. Any amount so paid by the state shall be a lien upon the land and shall be collected with the next taxes.

It is obvious that the maximum expense to the owner of a quarter section of timber land can not exceed $8.00 per year, an amount that should spare no owner into disposing of his timber claim at a sacrifice.

One of the best ways for timber land owners to comply with the law is to join county fire patrol associations that have been organized in most of the timbered counties of the state. It is expected that every timbered county will have such an organization before the first season arrives. The experience of these associations, some of which have been in existence for four years, proves that adequate patrol can be secured at a cost of from 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents an acre and if all the timber land owners join, the acreage cost will be materially decreased. Protection from fire at a cost of $3.00 or $4.00 per quarter section should be welcomed by all timber land owners and it is hoped that no one will be induced to sell through misrepresentations made by unreliable timber brokers for the selfish purpose of increasing commissions.

Damage By Forest Fires Now Compactively Small

The Department of Agriculture has been figuring up the losses by fires of the National Forests for the calendar year 1912, and finds that they were the lowest of recent years. Less than one acre to every thousand of timbered lands was burned over, and the total damage is estimated at $75,290, or less than one dollar to every 2,000 acres of area.

The good record is attributed to, first, favorable weather conditions in most localities, and second, the increased efficiency of the fire-fighting organization. As congress makes available the means for extending the system of communications on the National Forests, the equipment of trails, roads, telephones, and lookout stations is yearly enlarged and the fires, it is said, are discovered more quickly and fought more rapidly.

An especially good showing was made by the Forest officers last year in extinguishing fires outside the National Forests before they reached the Forest boundaries. Such fires constituted more than one-sixth of all fought by the Forest rangers and guards. About nine-tenths were extinguished before they touched the Forest boundaries more than 18 per cent were on lands in private ownership. Nearly one-fourth of the extra expenditures due to fighting fires—that is, expenditures outside the time of the regular Forest force—was incurred in fighting these fires.

Lightning caused more fires than any other agency, followed by railroads, campers and incendiaries, in the order given. The greatest losses occurred in Arizona, Arkansas, and California, in which states there was also the largest proportion of fires caused by lightning and by incendiarism. About 27 per cent of all the fires were started by lightning and about 38 per cent were due to carelessness.

Easter Service At The Presbyterian Church

A fine program of two parts will be rendered by the Presbyterian Sunday School tomorrow morning, celebrating Easter and David Livingstone Centenary, the program to begin at 10:30. There will be no regular preaching service during the morning but in the evening the pastor will give a sermon, "The Joy of Easter," being his subject.

The Times-Herald regrets it has not the space to give the fine program arranged for these services. Both are good with special music arranged for morning and evening. The children have the morning service entirely and they have been well drilled in their parts.
