Business Boomers

The difference between a dead town and a live town is the difference between dead merchants and live merchants.

The attack of Mr. Hill and others on the methods of the U. S. Reclamation Service, while a little late, may result in some good at least.

Fresh home made lard 17c at Hansen's meat market.

The proposed co-operative creamery by the Farmers' Union is a move in the right direction and the introduction of more dairy cows in the county undertaken by the Harney County National Bank makes it possible.

After The Holstein Cows

The Parker boys leave this morning for Prairie City where they go to bring in the Holstein dairy stock recently purchased by the Harney County National Bank for distribution among the farmers of this county.

Every roll of butter made at the Willowmere Creamery is labelled "T. Allen Jones."

"Caterpillar" and Gang Plows to come to Burns

Caterpillar engines and gang plows now will rescue the fertile acres of Central Oregon from the sagebrush and the bunchgrass.

The first such machinery now is on its way to the Harney Valley. It will be operated by Leonard M. Baldwin and Ed Halloway, experienced farmers, who bought it in San Francisco last week.

They will plow 2500 acres of their own land, which they recently bought from the Oregon & Western Colonization Company, and have contracted to plow large acres for neighboring farmers.

"Bill" Hanley will plow a section of his land in the same manner, merely by way of experiment and to encourage the enterprising farmers who have introduced the caterpillar machinery.

"It is the best thing that has happened for Central Oregon in a long time," said Mr. Hanley yesterday. "The country is too big to be plowed by the ordinary method with horses."

"I hope that this caterpillar is only the first. We can use acres of them. There is a lot of money in it for every fellow who introduces the caterpillar plow. It will make Central Oregon a wheat-growing country. That's what we need there now—more diversification of crops and products."

The land secured by Baldwin and Halloway is near the experimental station recently established by the State Agricultural College at Burns, and within four miles from the village of Burns. The machinery will be shipped to Bend by rail. There the engine will be set up and taken to Burns under its own power. With it will go a carload of gang plows and a car of gasoline. It is estimated that it will require six days to move the machinery from Bend to Burns.

When in operation, the caterpillar machine will plow 13 furrows at once. It can turn over 30 acres a day, but the owners intend to run it day and night, making its capacity 60 acres. Strong headlights have been provided to make night work possible.

Baldwin and Halloway will sow their own land to wheat, and besides doing plowing under contract for their neighbors, will cultivate their 2500 acres in systematic manner—Oregonian.

Baseball This Afternoon.

Three auto loads of Canyon City people came over yesterday including the team and baseball fans to play with the local boys this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon. We have not been able to get the lineup as the captain and manager came in late and were not on the street this morning early enough to get it. They have a good strong team, however, and we are going to see two fast games of ball.

The local team will give a dance at Tonawama tonight right after the picture program. The picture will be put on as early as possible and the program will be as usual the reels being run through twice, then the seats moved back and dancing begin at once.

Attorney J. E. Marks and John Muldrick came over from Canyon City with the baseball team yesterday and went over to Dreyse this morning to look after some real estate interests of Mr. Muldrick.

The Times-Herald is informed that the aged father of Judge and Oren Thompson died at his home in Eugene the fore part of this week. His sons had gone down but his death occurred the day before they arrived. Deceased was a highly respected pioneer of that section.

A. E. Murphy came over from Iron Mountain yesterday and will meet his wife and daughter who are expected in from Seattle this evening. Mr. Murphy says he has been having considerable trouble with cut worms out at his place, the pests having destroyed a vast amount of crops.

Bill Hanley arrived home Thursday evening from Portland accompanied by Col. C. E. S. Wood and Mr. O'Reilly. The party left again last evening for Juntura and other points to the east and will likely return to Portland by rail. We had no opportunity to interview Mr. Hanley but from the pictures in the Portland papers he has been having a lovely time.

J. R. Stinson, Prineville representative of the Oregon & Western Colonization Co., arrived here yesterday evening accompanied by his wife, J. A. Miller, of Spokane, a brother-in-law to P. S. Weittenhiller; and Wm. Date, of Paradise. Mr. Stinson informs The Times-Herald that the phone service between here and Prineville is in a bad way and has been the cause of quite a loss to his company during the past week, lack of communication having interfered with some sales.

The Times-Herald man made a short tour of the upper part of the valley by way of the Experiment Farm in company with Frank Johnson and family and Chas Streff of Stayton yesterday afternoon and found crops looking much better than last week when on a similar trip. The station crops show a decided improvement but Supt. Breithaupt has written some very interesting notes of the station that will describe conditions better than the writer. These notes are up in type but are crowded out today and will appear next issue. The party visited the scene of activity on a section near Chas. McPheeter's place where Mr. Weittenhiller is having some plowing done. It gives one an idea of what this big valley will be soon when all under cultivation.
