We carry the Florsheim shoe Williams-Zoglmann Clothing Co. County Clerk Hughet and Deputy Grover Jameson enjoyed (?) a fishing trip to Myrtle Park last Sunday. They made the trip up in Mr. Hughet's runabout but on starting home they struck a rock while traveling at a rapid speed which put the machine on the shelf. Grover walked in that night and as a result there are sore spots not only on his feet but otherwise as he was not in the most amiable frame of mind and it is possible the things he said were accountable to some extent for the clouds that rose in that vicinity that evening. The experience was good for them no doubt and will be something for them to remember.

T. B. Hill was in town the other day and meeting The Times-Herald man away from the office began telling him what a big crop he had. On being told that the newspaper man was from Missouri Tom went to the rig and brought some very fine wheat, hog millet and hull-less barley in just to prove his assertions. Now we will believe Tom under oath and further believe he's one of the best farmers in Oregon, for we know he raised the crops on dry land and he certainly has the goods to show for it. Mr. Hill stated he had started in cutting his rye hay and that the boys were using the binder as thus it was in much better shape to feed his stock. We want more Tom Hills in this country—and incidentally more Jim Hill to carry out what the other Hills raise on fertile Harney county soil.

Walker all of Montana, were here a few days this week, having come in by way of Ontario in company with Mr. Pinney, agent of the Oregon & Western Colonization Co., of that place. Tillman Reuter, the man who made the Deschutes section famous by carrying off many dry farm products prizes at the big land shows, was a visitor to this section during the week. He was just traveling around looking over the country and was most favorably impressed with Harney Valley as a dry farming section. However, we shall have water available for the entire Valley at no distant date and the dry farming will then be confined entirely to the bench lands.

Harry Witter telephoned in yesterday to the sheriff that a party had torn his fence down and turned his horses in on his grain. He was advised to swear out a warrant and the sheriff went out and made an arrest. Upon investigation it was found the family was going through to Roseburg, there being a large number of little children, one with a broken arm, another with its arm in a sling from some accident, a third with a bad eye with its head all bandaged up. The team was very poor and the man had but $6 all of which he offered to Mr. Witter for the damage done but considering the circumstances Mr. Witter refused to prosecute and insisted on the man being turned loose.

Achie McGowan accompanied the "Flying Squad" on their tour of the Valley Thursday and they visited the home of W. H. Robins at Crow Camp on the trip. There is now in course of perfection arrangements for a big picnic at Crow Camp to be held on Sunday, Aug. 3 which promises to be one of the biggest gatherings ever held in Harney county outside of Burns. The plan was first started by members of the Rod & Gun Club to go over and visit Mr. Robins, taking the traps and some blue rocks along for sport, but the plan has grown until it is going to include the whole country. The Rod & Gun Club will be there and also many hundred other people who are extended a cordial invitation by Mr. Robins who offers free pasture for horses and also camping grounds to those who come by team and wish to arrive the day before. Johnson, the banker, who is one of the directors and a stock holder in the First National Bank of this place, and also president of the Benton County National Bank of Corvallis, arrived here Thursday evening accompanied by their wives and little "Bill" Johnson. They are out for pleasure and go from here to the P Ranch and return home by way of Klamath, Crater Lake and Medford. Mr. Johnson is a former newspaper man and has several mutual acquaintances among the craft with whom the manager of this great religious weekly used to "travel." The party will spend the next few weeks in the interior, visiting points of interest, fishing and taking a genuine rest. They found several acquaintances in Burns among former O. A. C. students therefore their visit here was quite pleasant. They were most agreeably surprised at finding so large and well built town as Burns so far in the interior.
