The proposition to make an All-Oregon Good Road day, preferably the latter part of April, by proclamation by the governor, has met with decided favor and may result in possibly 100,000 men of all walks of life, the professional and business man, the farmer, stock raiser and laborer, each giving one good day's work on the roads in Oregon. The idea has met with enthusiastic favor of the Portland Ad Club and its members are urging Governor West to set a day. They think that every able bodied man in the state will give his time for the day and that there are enough good women to provide dinner for all who actually work. It is worth while and much good could be accomplished in a practical way as well as educating people to the necessity of better roads and a system of road building that would accomplish results of a lasting character.

One could hardly realize the real amount of road work that could be accomplished if every able bodied man in Harney county would spend only one day at it under right direction of a road builder who could have it planned ahead and make every shovel count on the particular day named. We hope the matter will be taken up by the governor and that the people will respond—make it a picnic—although we wouldn't feel so much like a picnic at the close of day perhaps.

Ches. Dalton an Impostor.

At the recent convention of sportsmen of the state at which a state league was formed, Chester Dalton attended as a delegate from the local Rod & Gun Club. The papers got him confused with his father, who is the president of the Club and in some way other delegates also got the idea that he had made the trip to Portland for the express purpose of attending the convention and he was therefore more or less in the "lime light." His conscience so pricked him that he wrote a full confession to his father and asked forgiveness. In the letter Ches. says he found them a good natured bunch and therefore he felt at home and did a good deal of talking. He described the difficulties of getting in the game birds and fish which the Club was instrumental in bringing in last year and also explained conditions as to open season. The officers and members of the organization evinced interest and sympathy for us but did not think it the right time to ask concessions. However, later, when the federal officers have familiarized themselves with the different zones and see the necessity of making changes, it is thought there will be changes that will not be discriminating.

At the banquet in the evening the president of the organization expressed the feeling of those present in calling attention to the enthusiasm exhibited by the Harney County Club by sending a delegate 500 miles to attend at great expense to the Club. Ches. says he didn't know what to do so just kept quiet, but the "small voice" prompted him to confess to his dad, hence these lines. Ches. explained the method of representation in the state league and the manner of districting, Harney being in a district with Klamath, Lake and Malheur. This organization of sportsmen will work harmoniously and it is the hope that the federal officers may be made to see the several districts of the state should be recognized as to climatic conditions in the operations in the open and closed season.

Come Prepared for Farming.

W. E. Crowder and G. F. Homer arrived here from Iowa last Saturday evening. They were met out at Buchanan by P. S. Weitenhiller and brought from that point by auto. These gentlemen have become interested in Harney Valley and have come prepared for active and practical farm work. They shipped a car load of farm implements and seven teams are now en route from Juntura with this machinery. They have been very busy since their arrival securing work teams and building necessary buildings on their lands and as soon as the implements arrived will be ready to begin work. Both are practical farmers and have the energy and means to develop their property.

Meetings at Voltage Harriman and Waverly.

Rev. and Mrs. Herbert, have been holding a series of meetings at Voltage, Harriman and Waverly, during this month, giving almost a week at each place. Mr. Herbert giving the life of Christ in pictures by different artists with his stereopticon. Mrs. Herbert following with object talks on subjects that appeal to the young as well as adults: "The Value of a Child," "A Candle Talk" at which a number of different sizes were lit; "Blackboard talks," etc. A good attendance and kindly attention was had at all of the different places and we believe much good was done in arousing parents to their duty to their children, and the view of the Christian life for children. A number of children have already written Mrs. Herbert letters signifying their desire to live the Christian life.

Reunion of States at Voltage.

A very unique social was held in Voltage March 13 at the suggestion and planning of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Herbert, who wished to meet the people of this Mission in a social way, and the people responded most heartily in helping with plans and preparations and sending invitations to all in the neighborhood they could. As the roll of countries and states were each called the "native born" came forward and a pennant with the name of state was joined across their chest. After all had responded and been tagged they were called to the front to speak a word of love and give a description of their native land. Of course everyone was born in the "best state in the Union." Fifteen States and two countries were represented. The teacher had been tutoring her pupils and a number gave concise and interesting papers on their States.

Then we all ate heartily of the good things the ladies had prepared for us, and between one and two o'clock we separated with a unanimous feeling of a good evening spent and a good time enjoyed. Rev. and Mrs. Herbert hope to meet the people of their different missions in this social way.

Waverly, Friday evening April 3 to which all are most cordially invited to come and have a good social time together and let those from the different countries and states have a hearty handshake all around. A free lunch will be served and all will be welcome.

Tax Penalties Held Invalid.

September shall be one delinquent and shall be subject to a 10 per cent penalty and interest thereafter at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, and provision is made for collection of delinquent taxes by sale of the property. "This statute declares in direct terms that all taxes not paid before the first day of September shall become delinquent" on that day, and then assesses penalties for the delinquency. Not only is there no declaration of delinquency prior to that date, but the statute, by the direct declaration that they are delinquent on September 1, declares with equal emphasis that they are not delinquent before that time.

An Attractive Window.

We note with much interest the way some of our enterprising local dealers are putting forth every effort this spring to make their stores attractive. This week Burns Hardware Co., Burns, Oregon, whose progressive policy has been strongly shown this spring by their large, attractive advertisements in our columns, have a fine window devoted entirely to house paint.

On close inspection one finds not only the usual display of paint cans, but long cards showing rows of houses in new and handsome combinations of colors for exterior painting. An attractive window border brightens the appearance of the whole store and draws much attention from the passers-by. It attractively illustrates how easily and well any shabby surface in or about the house can be fixed up.

Burns Hardware Co., deserves much credit for this window and we are sure it will prove of much benefit in reminding people of the many things around their homes that can easily be beautified at house-cleaning time.

While It Lasts.

The Experiment Station will sell a limited amount of the following highly recommended grains in small quantities to each purchaser. Swanneck barley; 50 lbs or less at 3c (This was the highest yielding barley out of 29 varieties tried on the Station last year, shatters very little and is of good quality.)

Sixty Day Oats: 100 lbs or less at 4c (This was third highest in yield of 15 varieties on the Station last year. It is the earliest high yielding oat known and contains ten or fifteen per cent more kernel per unit of weight than ordinary oats.)

Shadeland Climax Oats: 200 lbs or less at 2½c (A good yielder but two or three weeks later than the Sixty Day.)

Address your communications to The Experiment Station. Orders will be honored in the order they are received.

Studebaker

FOUR
LANDAU-ROADSTER

The Studebaker Four Roadster is a car of dual type and manifold advantages. As a Roadster the car presents a distinguished appearance, differing but little from the conventional type.

When desired, however, it is only a few minutes' work to change it into a closed car—impenetrable to wind, cold, and rain. The Studebaker name guarantees appearance, durability and minimum cost of maintenance.
