That chicken pie supper next Friday evening at the Masonic hall, given by the Presbyterian Aid, will be no exception to the former affairs of a similar nature presided over by these ladies, so you don't want miss it. Any time after five o'clock.

Mrs. Claud Brown and her little child had a narrow escape from being seriously hurt last Saturday afternoon in a run-away. She was coming in town in a single rig with Miss Anna Brown driving, when they reached main street in front of Brown's store a man was riding a wild horse and the animal began to buck just as the ladies came to the place. This frightened the animal they were driving and he whirled rapidly throwing Anna out and she took the lines with her. Mrs. Brown and the baby were left in the rig helpless so far as trying to control the horse and he ran up the street at a rapid rate, turning on the hill north of the Summit hotel and throwing the occupants out. The little one escaped without any injury but Mrs. Brown was more or less bruised, not seriously however.
