Boys and Girls Judge Stock.

Do Oregon boys and girls know a good dairy cow when they see her? They will have a chance to show whether they do or not at a stock judging contest to be held at the Agricultural College during Farmers' and Conference Week. Incidentally, they will also be able to make a few dollars by studying dairy cows and points to be observed in judging, so that they are able to get away with one of the attractive cash prizes of $10, $9, $8, $7, $6 and $5, awarded respectively for the first six placings. Additional prizes of $3 and $2 will be given for making the best and the next best ratings, respectively, in judging separately the four cows comprising the Jersey, Holstein and Ayrshire classes. The contest is open to any Oregon boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 18 years, and will be held at the stock-judging pavilion on February 5.

Arid Fruit Growing.

In view of the fact that a great deal of fruit, and some most excellent fruit, too, is grown either on dry or irrigated farms, the horticultural work at the O. A. C. Short Courses was planned to deal with arid horticulture in a special way. Such practical subjects as location of orchard, types of soil to select, dry farm and irrigation tillage, cover and shade crops, pruning, thinning and spraying, will be thoroughly probed. Consideration will also be given to methods of combating winter injuries. The course should appeal strongly to all growers east of the Cascades or within the irrigated districts of Southern and Western Oregon.

Farris Bill Likely to Provoke Fight.

A bitter fight is due to the Irrigation Congress in Portland this week over the plan to indorse Ferris bill, now pending before the National Senate, says the Oregonian.

There is a general disposition on the part of Oregon irrigationists to condemn the Ferris bill, which provides for Federal control of water power and water resources to the evident detriment of the irrigation interests. But it is understood that Secretary Lane, of the Federal Interior Department, is the real author of the bill, and those arid of Oregon that are in real need of irrigation do not want to go on record against it for fear that their hostile attitude would jeopardize their chances of obtaining Federal assistance on future irrigation work.

Hotel Proprietors Would Sell Liquor

Believing that hotel guests are entitled to the same privileges as persons in their own homes, the hotel men desire the privilege of supplying liquor to guests. The hotel men say they do not wish to rescue the saloon and they do not want bars; they are willing to submit to rigid regulations, provided they can furnish liquor to such guests as may desire a drink.

This subject will be discussed formally tonight by representatives of the hotels, with the governing boards of the various civic organizations. The conference is to be held at the Commercial Club. An unofficial conference was held Monday night, when the matter was presented and tonight the subject is to be presented with all formality. The hotel men seek support of the civic bodies, and if this cannot be obtained they will not endeavor to force the issue by themselves. Their argument is that the public should be as interested in the matter as the hotel men.

Discrimination against the traveling public is held to be ruinous to the legitimate hotels. As hotel men, they desire as complete regulation as can be devised for the protection of patrons and liquor would only be served with meals.

The hotel men suggest that property upon which a hotel is situated be held responsible for the observance of all regulations and that the license of the hotel be revoked when attempts are made to evade the regulations. Such a plan would operate against illegitimate hotels and will protect law-abiding hotels.—Tellgram.

Propose 1 Mill State Tax Levy for Roads

A state tax of 1 mill for good roads is proposed by a group of influential Portland business men says the Oregonian, who have appealed to the Multnomah county legislative delegation to lend their support to a bill providing for a levy of this kind for a period of two years.

It is pointed out that a one mill levy will raise $1,000,000 a year and that that sum will be sufficient, in connection with the existing levy of one-fourth mill, to complete the Columbia Highway projects in Columbia, Hood River and Wasco counties and to carry on other important road development work in various parts of the state.

Rabies Exist Among Coyotes and Dogs

er is informed by Dr. Saurman that it is from what is called street virus. The dripping saliva from a rabid animal in its wanderings may spread the disease and the infection may very from ten days to three months or possibly a year.

One very suspicious symptom of rabies is for an animal to act stupid or paralytic and also show symptoms of having a bone in its throat. Such an animal should be watched and not allowed to come in contact with other animals or human beings.

A dog showing symptoms of rabies is confined in the pound in this city and is being watched by Dr. Saurman and Dr. Griffith. A calf belonging to Allen Jones has a pronounced case and is very mad. It has also been watched by the doctors and in all likelihood will die today. A young bull belonging to Dr. Hibbard died yesterday morning and it was at first believed he died from hydrophobia, but an examination showed the case to have been blackleg.

Dr. Saurman desires that all animals suspected should be kept isolated and in case of death the heads be sent to Dr. Geary who will see to it that they are forwarded to the state board where a definite examination will be made and information returned as to its condition. The Doctor wants the people to realize the gravity of the situation in this section and that they take no chances.

Later—Just before going to press Dr. Saurman called up this office and stated the calf at the Jones ranch had died and he had made an examination of the brain. He found very positive evidence of rabies in the specimen. He also examined the head of a cat that had died last night under rather suspicious circumstances but found no Negri bodies in the brain. The cat belonged to Carey Thornburg and died following what appeared to be a fit but to make sure the carcass was brought to the Doctor.

NEW COUNTY OFFICERS

W. A. Goodman took the oath of office as sheriff last Monday morning and has selected Tom Sprague as his deputy. W. H. Robins is the new commissioner, taking the place of E. P. Sylvester. The judge-elect, H. C. Levins was also sworn in but no business has been transacted by him as it is not known whether Judge Thompson is to hold over or not. A case bearing upon this matter should be heard decided by the supreme court early this week but up to this morning nothing had been heard to indicate who would be judge.

Frank Gowan takes the place of C. E. Beery as surveyor and all the other officers are the ones who have been holding the positions in the past.

The commissioners have been transacting some business but very little has been done so far, as they desire that the county judge take part in their deliberations and until some word is received of a definite nature they did not feel like going on.

GENEVA LOCKES CO.

Theatre goes in Burns and vicinity have had a fine week of entertainment furnished by the Geneva Lockes Dramatic Co. who have been playing Tonawama since last Monday night to big houses. Every bill has been pleasing so far and the company has its two strongest plays for tonight and tomorrow night: "The Wolf" and "Paid in Full."

The members of this company are ladies and gentlemen and each bill has been well cast and played. They are a well-balanced company with every individual his or her part well.

It has been some time since the people of Burns have had an opportunity to hear some real dramatic work and they have shown their appreciation by giving this company good houses. Tonight promises to be one of the best bills ever produced on the local stage and seat sales have been brisk. The play tomorrow night is also a favorite and they will again be greeted by a full house.

This company may again visit us later during the present year and if they finish their repertoire with as much satisfaction to the public as those already produced they may feel sure of being well received.

Burns to Return.

One morning a merchant whose goods did not very strongly substantiate his advertising claims put out a new sign. He was pleased to see that a great many people stopped to read it, but directly he was puzzled and angered to notice that they all went on, laughing. There was nothing funny about the sign. It merely read:

If You Buy Here Once You Will Come Again.
The merchant went outside in a casual sort of way and glanced at his sign to see what was the matter. Some one, no doubt a former customer, had added another line. It now read:
If You Buy Here Once You Will Come Again To Bring It Back.
—Youth's Companion.

Colored Glasses.
Wearing spectacles to protect the eyes from the glare of the sun is a very old custom. The natives of the far northern regions long ago invented spectacles of wood with a very narrow slit in the center to diminish as far as possible the continual glare of the long arctic day. It is said that the Emperor Nero, who was an albino and whose eyes were therefore very sensitive to light, used amethysts or emeralds to shield his eyes.

His Preference.
"Good gracious," exclaimed a vicar as he met a village laborer wearily pulling a loaded wheelbarrow. "It would be much easier if you pushed it."

"Dareny," was the answer, "but I'm sick of the very sight of it!"—London Telegraph.

His Weigh.
"What is the way of the transgressor?" asked the booth.
"Fifteen ounces to the pound," replied the grouch.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
