Parents Day at the Public School

"Parents Day" at the public school yesterday afternoon proved a most attractive and interesting affair. There were between 250 and 300 parents and friends of the school visited the building during the day and inspected the work of the pupils.

It was "open house" all day with recitation and study periods omitted and the little ones were on inspection. They did the entertaining, the teachers merely welcoming the guests and asked that they make themselves at home, inspect the note book work of the pupils and what was displayed upon the boards and drawings on the walls.

It was indeed a proud day for the citizens of Burns and one that brought them more closely in touch with the excellent work of the teachers. Each room was open and during the hour spent by the writer in the building the seventh and eighth grades were absent on a tour of the other grades, the lower grades having made their visits to the other rooms earlier in the day so as to be ready to greet their friends in the afternoon.

The Times-Herald has always been proud of our schools but the manager now has added pride since his visit of yesterday afternoon. Some of the drawings, number work and other specimens displayed on the blackboards are certainly a revelation and brings to memory the rather crude methods as well as equipment in use during his public school days.

The entire system has been so improved that the lower grades now take up studies and exercises that were considered advanced in the old days. Another matter that impresses one is the fine training of the teachers and the excellent discipline of the entire school. This is remarked by all who visit the school and is one of the most remarkable accomplishments under the present corps of teachers.

The writer did not have time to inspect the work of all the pupils in particular in the limited time he had, but those that were inspected showed neatness and accuracy in every respect. The work is a record of each day during the school year and by examining one may easily note the progress from month to month.

"Parents Day" is a most happy idea and one that should come twice a year rather than once, as it adds interest of the parents and patrons and causes them to give our excellent public school more attention during the year.

Fraises Our Public Schools

The sixth grade of the public school of this city had charge of the regular Monday morning program last Monday and a large number of visitors were present to witness it. Many of these visitors stayed for a period of the morning recitations and observed the excellence of the school.

J. F. Mahon and wife were among those to attend and Mr. Mahon is profuse in his praise of the school. He had not visited the school here before but he had looked into the schools of Stockton, California where his adopted son, Harvey Marks, attended before. Mr. Mahon said Burns has a better public school than the big city in California and that he would wager it would compare favorably with any other public school of the entire west.

The Times-Herald is glad to note these compliments as Burns has always maintained it had schools equal or superior to any and it is for that reason so many come here for school purposes.

The mothers of the pupils in the Domestic Science and Art department of the high school were invited to inspect some of the work yesterday forenoon and

Library Club

A most instructive and enjoyable program was rendered by Group Five of the Library Club at the home of Mrs. Farre last Saturday afternoon.

The first number was a violin solo by Kathrine Farre, the little lady rendering the selection from memory and received just praise. Mrs. Farre followed with a vocal selection, "Oh, Keep My Darling True," the words and music by Mrs. Benson.

Woodbridge Geary displayed a remarkable familiarity with his subject in a talk describing some of the song birds of this country. This was followed by a very able paper by Mrs. Foley on Arber and Bird Day, in which she made a strong plea for active and moral support of patrons to co-operate with the public school of this city in proper observance of this day.

Mrs. Farre sang "Little Pink Rose" which was followed by a paper on "School Forestry and School Play Ground Work" that showed careful preparation.

Mrs. Benson closed the program with a well rendered piano solo.

The annual business meeting of the Club will be held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Julian Byrd, on March 6.

Obil Shattuck Appointed The County Farm Agent

Supt. L. R. Breithaupt of the Experiment Station, who has also been doing the duties of the County Farm Agent under the extension field work of the agricultural college in co-operation with the state, has resigned the latter position and will devote his entire time to the Station.

Mr. Breithaupt asked to be released from the position in order that he might more closely look after the station work. The territory is so large that the county agent should put his whole time to field work and therefore it is arranged thus.

Obil Shattuck, who has been assistant to Mr. Breithaupt, has been appointed county agent, entering upon his duties at once, and he will make his headquarters in Burns. Mr. Shattuck is an O. A. C. graduate and a very capable young man.

Irrigation Project Completed

J. F. Mahon and wife were among our visitors during this week and Jim informs the Times-Herald that he has at last completed a big irrigation dam that he has been at work on for ten years. It impounds sufficient water to cover 554 acres of land in the Anderson Valley and is one of the largest private irrigation projects ever undertaken and completed in Oregon. The dam is 30 feet high across a canyon and the water supply is ample for the acreage below.

This brings a large area under water that will produce big returns for the investment and makes Mr. Mahon's ranch one of the most valuable in the county. Other similar opportunities are to be found throughout the county and there should be other enterprising citizens to develop them.

Rabbits Are Disappearing

Harry Anderson was in the city from Crowley early in the week, and says the rabbit pest in his immediate vicinity is almost a thing of the past.

Mr. Anderson and his near neighbors adopted the method of poisoning rabbits with strychnine soaked in a solution of strychnine a description of which was published in the Enterprise a few weeks ago.

"At our Crowley ranch," said Mr. Anderson, "where a short time ago there were thousands of rabbits, now one can seldom see one. I do not believe it has all been due to the poisoning, for they have disappeared too suddenly."

"I have been told that along many of the streams large numbers of dead rabbits are being found, and the general belief is that some sort of disease has attacked the jackrabbits and is putting them out."

"This is in line with my experience with the jackrabbit," continued Mr. Anderson, "when they become very numerous in the country they are attacked by a disease of some kind, which nearly exterminates them in a single season, and then for several years you will seldom see one."—Vale Enterprise.

"The Trey O'Hearts"

Fully five hundred people witnessed the opening installment of "The Trey O'Hearts" at Tonawama last night and heard Mrs. Louel Smith-Reed sing and little Kathleen Jordan play the violin. Both these popular young artists acquitted themselves with great credit and their excellent work was much appreciated. They will be heard again at regular intervals at Tonawama.

"The Trey O'Hearts" proved a most thrilling picture and promises to hold interest throughout the series which will continue until the close of school. The opening installment was one of the finest productions ever witnessed in this city, the scenery and settings being particularly fine. The last reel thrown on last night brought great admiration and favorable comment from the large crowd the thrilling rescue of Judith Trine by Allan Law just before her boat went over the falls, the great forest fire scene and the wild animals were truly grand.

This story is full of action throughout and there are many other thrilling scenes before its close.

Tonawama has been unfortunate during the past week in not receiving its regular shipment of reels. Those that should have been here last Sunday are not here yet and the shipment of this week has not been received. There seems to be discrimination in bringing express, as bills for the service come regularly.

Short Course Lecture Next Friday Night

In order to accommodate more people and as several who desire to attend could not on Thursday, it has been decided to hold the last of the series of illustrated lectures in connection with the high school short course at Tonawama on next Friday evening, March 5.

"Home Sanitation and The Fireless Cooker" is the subject for Friday night and with nothing to conflict with the date it is expected the ladies will be out in large numbers. It is also more convenient for the school students as they do not have to study for recitations the following day.

This lecture with lantern slide views should be particularly interesting and beneficial.

A social dance until 12 o'clock will follow the lecture.

At prices around 25 and 26 cents per pound the western wool market is now open several months in advance of the schedule and the situation bears out the claim long made that the country will experience a wool famine because of the war and the disruption of commerce.

It is estimated by Portland auto men who are in close touch with conditions that at least 5000 automobiles will pass through this state during the coming season enroute either to or from the exposition at San Francisco. The Portland auto club has issued a booklet telling of the wonderful scenery of this state and the most accessible ways of reaching the big show at San Francisco by way of this state. Harney county should and will receive a part of this travel as it is known we have fine roads for motor during the summer period and we are the most direct way of going and coming from the east.

Recognized Advantages

You will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has recognized advantages over most medicines in use for coughs and colds. It does not suppress a cough but loosens and relieves it. It aids expectoration and opens the secretions, which enables the system to throw off a cold. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers.

David Williams is in the city from Princeton

With present weather prevailing the streets will soon be dry and nice for motoring.

The city election will be held next Tuesday when a mayor, two councilmen, recorder, treasurer and marshal are to be elected. Very little interest is being shown in the election. There are three candidates announced for marshal, Mr. Haines, the present incumbent who has held the place for several years, Byron Terrill, formerly deputy under Sheriff Richardson, and P. M. Cheney. The present recorder, Roy VanWinkle, and Henry Dalton, now treasurer, will likely be re-elected as there has been no announcement of any opposition.

Colds and Croup in Children

Many people rely upon Chamberlain's Cough Remedy implicitly in cases of colds and croup, and it never disappoints them. Mrs. E. H. Thomas, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I have found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best medicine for colds and croup I have ever used, and never tire of recommending it to my neighbors and friends. I have always given it to my children when suffering from croup, and it has never failed to give them prompt relief." For sale by all dealers.
