

OREGON & EASTERN TO EXTEND INTO VALLEY

An Important Announcement Made by President Farrell of O.-W. R. & N. When in This City Last Thursday. Home Products and Local Labor to be Given Preference by Contractors

The Oregon & Eastern is to be extended West from Riverside to Harney Valley.

President J. D. Farrell of the O.-W. R. & N. Co. came in unannounced last Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by General Manager O'Brien, F. A. Peil, assistant to the president; F. W. Robinson, assistant traffic manager and Chief Engineer Holman. First knowledge of the coming of this party of railroad men was given this office by Supt. Breithaupt of the Experiment Station, who called up over the phone and informed The Times-Herald the party had just left the Station for this city.

Upon calling at the hotel the newspaper man was informed the party was looking for some good fishing and as Mr. Farrell did not seem inclined to be interviewed or show any desire to talk he was left alone. During the afternoon and evening the gentlemen called upon the business men in a social way.

The next morning a friend said Mr. Farrell had some information to give out and invited The Times-Herald man to call on him. He was asked what should be said respecting the object of the visit. Mr. Farrell very frankly stated they were here to observe conditions preliminary to the submission of bids for an extension of the line West from Riverside. It was for the purpose of investigating local conditions as to labor, teams, products, etc. as it is the desire to make contracts for the extension with a specific condition of using local labor and giving home products the preference.

This is one of the most encouraging and important announcements made by the railroad men in recent years so far as it effects this territory, and coming direct from the chief officer gives it the stamp of authority beyond question. Mr. Farrell has never misrepresented matters in his personal interviews as to the intentions of this work and has

Mr. Farrell may rest assured that this big country will respond to this announcement in a manner that will prove the wisdom of his company in its decision to extend the line without delay.

The gentlemen seemed pleased with results at the Experiment Station and found crop conditions in general very gratifying. The trip up from Riverside through the Valley gave them an opportunity to see what is being done in the way of improvements and increased acreage under cultivation by the new homesteaders. It is quite evident they were favorably impressed from remarks made respecting what they had observed.

The party left Thursday morning by way of Canyon City, it being the intention to do some fishing for trout in Bear Valley en route. The weather was ideal for this trip and their friends in Burns hope the recreation afforded Mr. Farrell and his party as much pleasure as their announcement of the extension of the line into this Valley affords us.

"Between Savage and Tiger"

Every man, woman and child with a drop of red blood in their veins loves a picture or a story of adventure where the hero is on the brink of death or misfortune every minute, but wiggles out every time by some hair-breadth escape and finally proves that virtue triumphs over vice and all ends happily. Just such a picture is George Kleine's latest success, the Cines photo drama "Between Savage and Tiger"—a six part story of adventure on the high seas and in the wildest jungles of India in which tigers, elephants, antelope, water-buffalo and tribes of wild savages play a conspicuous part. It would spoil everything to tell the story here and it suffices to say that the extreme imaginations of Rider Haggard are outdone in this exciting picture which still has all the convincing attributes of plausible reality. That it could happen is proven by the camera. That it did happen is another story all together. Anthony Novelli, Leah Giunchi and Lorenzo Lupi, of "Quo Vadis" and "Cleopatra" fame, play the principal roles, supported by a large cast of capable artists who promise to become favorites themselves, soon. Mr. Kleine's "Between Savage and Tiger" is to be the attraction at the Levens Theatre next Tuesday evening at the usual prices.

Baptist Church Doings.

Several members of the church plan to attend the annual meeting of the Baptist Association to be held at Haines next week.

Rev. D. Loree and son David arrived in Burns on Tuesday.

Mr. Loree preached in Rye Grass on Tuesday night. The usual large audience was present.

Subjects for next Sunday: Morning service, "Going on into Perfection." Evening service, "Doers and not Hearers Only."

Indigestion and Constipation.

"About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. Chamberlain's Tablets helped me at once and by using them for several weeks I was cured of the complaint," writes Mrs. Mary E. McMullen, Phelps, N. Y. For sale by all Dealers.

STATE STOCK ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING

A Profitable Gathering of Men Who Engage in Stock Industry in This City. Practically Every Local Man Actively Engaged in Business Now Member of the State Organization

The stock men of this vicinity were hosts to the officers of the State Cattle & Horse Growers' Association last Monday and there was never a more congenial bunch ever hit Burns for the same length of time where it was a case of the "boys" meeting each other. Although several of the gentlemen of the party had never visited this section before and knew practically no one, they made themselves at home and the matter of entertainment was not considered as they made themselves one of us and required no special looking after, unless one would make an exception of Secretary Correll, and this was a case of keeping him out of devilment rather than treating him as a guest.

The writer was made an "onery member" of the big organization without any initiation ceremony other than is customary in the cow country; while he appreciated this distinction and felt honored at first, he was made to pay for it later when the business of the session was called as he was maligned right at the start, being held up to his friends and all who attended as the biggest liar in the county. Nor was he alone in taking the worst of it in the course of the day as Col. John Fleming of the Portland Stock Yards was never given a square deal and Mr. Liggett, the horse man was invariably used as an illustration or example when the proposition of a "stock rustler" was under discussion. However, the bunch that were picked on happened to be good natured and at least the writer had some satisfaction in knowing that local people knew there were bigger liars in the county; Col. Fleming proved himself a "ladies man" before the final adjournment or leave taking of the party and Mr. Liggett is not in the penitentiary.

The meeting was opened at Tonawama at 10 o'clock by Mrs. Dodge and her little violin players rendering a couple of selections which were heartily applauded by the visitors. John Biggs then took the floor as the personal representative of Mayor Levens and welcomed the visitors to our city and took occasion to dwell upon the importance of the livestock industry in this isolated section. He then introduced President Wm. Pollman of the State Cattle & Horse Growers' Association who in turn introduced Secy. Correll to respond. Right then the fire works began for Correll didn't confine himself to a response to the welcome of Burns but began abusing some of its best citizens (?)—and kept it up during the entire period of his stay.

The general routine business of the Executive session was then disposed of and when the desk had been cleared of all important matters the objects of the organization and the advantage of a membership were put before the local stockmen who had not had an opportunity to acquaint themselves of it. President Pollman, who by the way is a representative and practical stock man and makes no pretense of oratory, went into detail on the new branding law recently adopted in this state and told the local men of its advantages and how similar laws were in operation in other stock states of the West. He admitted it would inconvenience a large number who were now engaged extensively in the business and that there would be more or less confusion for a time but that finally good would result from this law and it would prove a benefit to every man engaged in the business. This branding law had been a bone of contention among local growers ever since its enactment and they placed the responsibility upon the state organization. Many did not really understand the real worth of this law and what it would eventually do for those engaged in the industry.

Secretary Correll followed Mr. Pollman in an explanation of the workings of the organization, membership fees, dues, assessments, etc. and invited any present who desired to join the association. Before a recess was taken to discuss the matters informally among those present Secy. Correll read a telegram from Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, who expressed his regret that official business prevented his attending the meeting and asking that recommendations for county brand inspectors be made by the members at this meeting as it was necessary they be in the hands of governor before the first of next month.

A recess was declared and the members of the Executive Board went among the local men and the matters of interest were discussed with them. The brand law was again taken up informally in different groups and after a better understanding of matters local men began signing up membership blanks and before the day was over practically every representative stock man in attendance had become a member of the organization.

The Times-Herald is pleased to note that there were quite a number of representative stockmen from all over the county present and regrets that the short notice of the meeting prevented many more to be reached in time that they could arrange their affairs to be present. However, the executive officers were pleased with the result and highly gratified with what was accomplished.

At the opening of the meeting following the noon hour a committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of Vice-President J. F. Blanchard, S. P. Colt and J. G. Hoke. A committee on recommendation of county brand inspectors consisting of F. A. Phillips, Raymond Calavan, Thos. Logan and P. G. Smith.

While these committees were at work on their reports other matters were taken up, among them being a memorial prepared addressed to the governor on the proposition of pardoning men convicted of stealing stock. This was a straight from the shoulder statement of conditions and what had been the result of the pardoning policy in the past. This memorial was adopted by a unanimous vote and the secretary instructed to forward to Gov. Withycombe.

J. G. Hoke was then introduced and gave a good talk on the range leasing bills now before congress, or rather that had been introduced during recent sessions of congress. Mr. Hoke is secretary of the State Wool Growers Association and has had considerable experience in connection with leasing range on the forest reserves, therefore was in a position to discuss the several bills intelligently. He favored a bill that was introduced at the last session but which was not passed but was in readiness to be introduced at the next session, which provides for leasing the public range on the same basis as that applied in the forest service, giving the local settler and stockman who had used the range in the past the preference right. Mr. Hoke further gave his views on the method of accomplishing results of this character by a good organization.

At the conclusion of this address the committees had completed their work and were ready to report. Only a partial list for county inspectors was furnished and several counties had not sent in any recommendations therefore the committee acted only upon those that had sent in names. The following were recommended to the governor for appointment: Clackamas, G. M. Rice; Crook, L. Nichols; Coos, A. A. Brash; Josephine, Leander Sill; Jackson, J. M. Rader; Klamath, A. L. Marshall; Lane, W. S. Roberts; Lincoln, Jess Ferrin; Morrow, Jas Stewart; Lake, Chas. Pitcher; Wasco, W. H. Moody; Harney, Robt. Hudspeath; Jefferson, Bidwell Cram. The committee on resolutions reported:

Whereas: There are now several bills pending in congress which strike at the very heart of the cattle and horse raisers, particularly effecting grazing, therefore be it

Resolved: That this Association go on record favoring a law whereby all lands suitable for grazing purposes only may be leased to stock men for a period of years. Be it further

Resolved: That the secretary be instructed to send copies of this resolution to congressmen from Oregon. Be it further

Resolved: That this Association heartily appreciate the kindly reception extended by the citizens of Burns.

Resolved: That we extend our sincere thanks to Julian Byrd for the use of Tonawama opera house and for other courtesies. Be it further Resolved: That this Association thoroughly appreciates the musical numbers rendered by Mrs. M. V. Dodge and her little violin pupils.

Following the afternoon adjournment several car loads of the visitors visited the packing plant and were enthusiastic over the excellence and completeness of this modern plant. The butchers had just finished slaughtering several head of hogs and two beeves and the carcasses were hanging on the hooks ready to be placed in the cooling rooms, etc. It was an interesting sightseeing experience.

A banquet was prepared at the Burns hotel in the evening and the visiting officers and also the members of the organization who had joined during the meeting all gathered around the tables with a few friends and spent a very enjoyable hour or so. Geo. Young acted as toastmaster and several responded in a happy way to different subjects. Again the fine hand of Correll was shown when he bribed the toastmaster to call on the manager of this great religious weekly to respond to a toast. He called for another glass of water and let it go at that with the remark to the toastmaster to call the next number. One friend among the visitors said he was ashamed of us but he would have been more ashamed had a speech been attempted. Correll is going to

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR FARMERS' DAY JULY 17

Supt. Breithaupt of Experiment Farm Preparing for "Round-Up" Similar to Last Year at The Station. An All Day Session With Basket Din- ner. Outside Speakers Coming Farmers will recall the "Round Up" at the Experiment Station last summer and will be pleased to learn that Supt. Breithaupt is planning for a similar meeting next month.

While definite date has not been settled upon present plans are for Saturday, July 17, provided the outside speakers who are expected to be present approve.

The tentative plans are for an all day program and will include a basket dinner, speaking, inspection of crops, etc.

Among the speakers will be representatives of the Agronomy Department, Animal Husbandry Department, Experiment Stations and Extension Department of the Oregon Agricultural College and probably a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Farmers' Day at the Station this year should prove very interesting and instructive with such speakers as are suggested. In view of the larger acreage under cultivation this season and success of Farmers' Day last year it may be expected that a larger number will be present on this occasion.

Conditions are more favorable this year than last for the dry farmer and up to this time the crops at the Station have made a very satisfactory growth.

A representative of The Times-Herald visited the Station last Sunday afternoon in company with some of the delegates to the Stock Growers' meeting. It proved quite a profitable trip to the visitors who took a particular interest in the alfalfa and field pea crops. Some of them were surprised to find so many varieties of these excellent forage crops and most favorably impressed with the methods of cultivation and experimenting. One of the most interested guests was Ed Stauffer who had driven cattle over the land perhaps a hundred times and when steers weren't worth over $20 a head he wouldn't have traded one for the entire Station tract.

While the guests were particularly interested in forage crops they also asked many questions and viewed many of the plots devoted to grain.

It was the first visit of the writer to the Station during this growing season, that is to go out in the field and inspect the crops, and he was certainly pleased to note the general advancement of the crops, especially the field peas and alfalfa.

Swine on Dairy Farms.

"Swine are particularly adapted to dairy farms where the skim milk can be made to fill in the gap between the weaning and fattening period," says G. R. Samson, swine specialist at the Oregon Agricultural College. "With the exception of high-grade dairy heifer calves, pigs will pay a better price for skim milk than any other class of stock, and pigs do not come very largely into competition with dairy cows for the products of the farm. Pigs can use but very little of the rougher forages on the farm, which form the basis of the ration of the dairy cow, and the fattening pig is a large consumer of concentrates. In fact, under most intelligent systems of farming, pigs and dairy cows on the same farm will pay better than will either the one or the other of these kinds of stock raised exclusively on the same farm. The exception to this rule is found in localities where milk condenseries have been developed so that there are a few by-products of the dairy business which can be utilized in pig feeding."
