The feeling that the State Water Board is not pushing the adjudication of the water rights of Silves River to a finish as rapidly as it should be gaining throughout this territory as people begin to realize the importance of final adjustment of this important matter. Much of the development of the country held back by this dilatory method and it should be hastened to completion. It means much to the advancement of this valley and every man interested should use his influence in hastening the matter to a conclusion. Delays should not be further permitted.

Burns Railroad Club Meets to Hear Reports

One of the best attended meetings of a public character held in this city in recent years was called last night at the court house for the purpose of discussing the railroad situation and hear what the delegation that had returned from Bend on Thursday evening, where they met Mr. Strahorn, had to say. While all the committee was not present at this meeting, some of them made statements of their observations and conversations with Mr. Strahorn and others. It was of course understood that nothing definite was done at this meeting so far as this city is concerned but possibilities were discussed as to what could be done toward the desired end of securing railroad connections to Burns.

Mr. McCannell was called upon to make a report of the trip but he had no notice of this meeting until late and stated that he was preparing a detailed report to submit at the meeting of the Commercial Club tomorrow evening and President Brown did not press him for any remarks.

C. H. Leonard talked for some time of the Strahorn plans as well as outlining the general business of the meeting at Bend. The particular purpose of this was to revive the Central Oregon Development League with a view of that organization getting behind the development proposed by Mr. Leonard, and this was accomplished with enthusiasm. There were in the neighborhood of 70 outside delegates at this Bend meeting and Burns was represented by 15. They were loyally treated and had the privilege of meeting Mr. Strahorn personally and going over the railroad situation with him in a private way.

Mr. Leonard proposed to send his own engineers in to investigate the Sage Hen route as soon as he possibly could and also proposed that if this was not too expensive a piece of road to talk business with the Burns people about a direct line to this city from the west. Whether this would be a through line, or rather place Burns on the main through line, there was a difference of opinion among the delegation, but at any rate the proposition was gone into with Mr. Strahorn and he was asked how soon this line would be built provided the necessary funds were raised and if the line from Bend to Burns would be built first. He replied that it had been the intention to build to Klamath first but the Burns contingent said we would not consider that except under condition that the line from Crane Creek Gap be extended to this place during the coming season, in that case we would wait a reasonable time for the Western connection.

This met with general approval of those present at the meeting last night. There is no disposition to sit idle and wait an indefinite time with a line completed within 30 miles of us and if we could not be assured of immediate connection from the west we would certainly get busy on the east line from the Gap.

This matter will be discussed more fully at the meeting called tomorrow night for the purpose of completing the permanent organization of the Burns Commercial Club.

Notes From Egl.

Last Friday evening the school gave a Halloween party. A nice social crowd was present and enjoyed the usual pranks that Halloween brings.

The threshing machine from Burns experiment station, is threshing for Carson Wolter, this week.

Wm. Burgett and niece, Anna Graves, returned from a visit in Nevada, Friday. They report a splendid vacation, but encountered very rough and dusty roads.

Dr. Will Potter and wife have gone to Troy, Idaho, where they will practice medicine this winter.

Clyde Love killed a rabid coyote at Grant Burgett's, last week.

Mrs. Jess Bunyard was calling on her many friends in this locality last week.

Pete Peterson has returned from Burns, where he has been assisting his sister, Miss Emma Peterson, in making her comfortable for the winter.

One night last week, Harvey Tingley had the misfortune of shooting his dog when he shot a coyote. The coyote had the dog by the throat.

Miss Alice Hurlburt spent over Sunday at the home of Jack Smarts.

W. E. Redeman has purchased a thorough bred jersey cow.

T. S. Haines went to Burns this week.

November 20 there will be a social gathering and supper at the school house. The evening will be spent in playing games and everyone is cordially invited.

Mr. Costella, of Dry Valley was seen on our streets last week.

Wm. Burgett has returned to the vaquero camp, where he will resume his former tasks.

We enjoyed a real rainy day, once again, Tuesday.

Leonard Wolter bagged the first deer, of the season, in this vicinity.

Luther Addington is assisting Carson Wolter with his threshing these days.

Burns Commercial Club Revived and Active.

Several public spirited citizens of this city met at the office of the Levens hotel last Sunday evening, the particular object being to ascertain who could go to Bend for an important meeting at which Robert E. Strahorn, the railroad builder, and several Portland financiers would be present for the purpose of reorganizing the Central Oregon Development League and discuss the railroad plans of Mr. Strahorn.

After finding several volunteers to go as representatives of this city to the Bend meeting it was decided after discussion that we need a live commercial organization on broad lines and one that had some standing, so organized as to make it a permanent fixture that would bring the business interests together and keep it alive with matters of importance to the community.

Mr. Hanley was present and gave some good advice along the line of an organization of this character and what it could accomplish. Those present voiced their sympathy for such a move and pledged their support. It was proposed to organize a club and incorporate for a sum that would give it sufficient finances to secure adequate quarters and give it permanency.

A temporary organization was effected with Wm. Hanley as president and C. B. McConnell as secretary and a committee consisting of Judge H. C. Levens, L. M. Brown and Sam Mothershead was appointed to report tomorrow night on a permanent organization.

Big Real Estate Deal Closed

P. S. Weittenhiller returned from Bend with the delegation that went over there to meet Mr. Strahorn and reports that he has closed a real estate deal of considerable proportions whereby he transfers a section and a half of land in this vicinity to men who are progressive in the farming game and who have sufficient means to put the land into its highest state of cultivation.

The land was purchased by Mr. Wm. Henrie, of Union county, and he has associated with him six sons-in-law. The land involved is section 17, near the Experiment Farm, which is improved and on which Mr. Weittenhiller raised an excellent crop of grain this season. The price for this improved tract was $60 per acre; the other is half of section 9. This land has not been improved any and the price of it was $35 per acre.

Mr. Henrie and his associates plan on moving to this valley next March and will begin active farming operations. They have means to prosecute the farm work with ample machinery, and a knowledge of the work therefore are sure to be desirable citizens.

Harney County Boys Prominent in Athletics

The Times-Herald is proud of the prominent part taken by our local boys in college athletics. Both Rye Smyth and Leo Laythe have made good on the O. A. C. foot ball team. The following is by a sport writer in the Oregonian and his comment is upon the game to be played today:

Good tacklers are as absolutely necessary to a powerful football team as sturdy legs on a draft horse. A good tackle does not have to be as heavy as a guard and should have more weight than an end, but he must be active, and if he combines activity with weight his team had the ideal combination.

Thus it is that when the Oregon Aggies and the University of Oregon meet next Saturday in their annual state championship clash at Eugene, the fans will be treated to as rare a battle between two ideal tackles as the conference has seen in many months.

These two rival giants are Johnny Beckett, tackle on the University of Oregon team, and Leo Laythe, of the Aggies. Beckett weighs about 195 pounds and Laythe somewhere between 200 and 210 pounds.

Prior to entering Oregon Beckett was a fullback on the crack Washington High team in Portland, while Laythe broke in at Corvallis three years ago unheralded and almost unknown. He was first stationed at guard and after a year in this position Coach Stewart discovered his class and shifted him into the more responsible tackle berth.

On Saturday Laythe and Beckett will play opposite to each other on the line, and it ought to be a battle well worth seeing. Beckett is perhaps a little more versatile than Laythe, but there isn't much difference between them. Without question these two are the best tackles in the Northwest conference, and we doubt if there are two better men in the entire country.

Applesquirt, of Washington State, comes nearest to them in the Pacific Northwest.

When his team has the ball, a tackle is supposed to play a "close formation" game, and while on the defense the tackle's duty is to play a looser, wider game, generally outside the attacking end.

Thus the offensive tackle generally finds himself lined up against the defensive guard, and to the end and a halfback are allotted the task of getting the defensive tackle out of the way.

For this reason there will not be an endless round of personal contact between the two big fellows Saturday, but there'll be plenty of opportunity, in any event, to give the fans a rare line on their respective ability.

In the Michigan-Aggie game Laythe's opposite tackle was the burly negro, Smith, and from all accounts Smith hasn't recovered his beautiful sepi complexion and

Two Hundred and Fifty Stories.

And every story a good one, they are entertaining, but that is not all you can say about them. You know there is hardly a periodical published that is not full of time-wasting stories, but not a single story in The Youth's Companion is a time waster. Take the stories of C. A. Stephens. It would be hard to pick out from which you cannot learn something useful and yet entertaining.

Some of the Companion stories refresh your knowledge of geography; some tell you the mysteries of chemistry, some reveal the secrets of forestry and of general farming. They cover a wide range. They are chosen with an eye to the possible likings of every member of a Companion family—stories of vigorous action and stirring adventure for boys, stories of college life and domestic vicissitudes for girls, stories that range all the way from sheer drollery to deep seriousness for men and women. There are no stories quite like those in the Companion.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to-day, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1916.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for 1916 will receive free a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1916, in addition to all the remaining 1915 issues from the time the subscription is received.—The Youth's Companion, Boston Mass.—New subscriptions received at this office.

Notice to Stockmen.

The Oregon & Western Colonization Co. has 14 sections of grazing land between Burns and the forest reserve for sale or lease. Good spring and fall grazing for sheep. Plenty of water. Write or call on B. F. Johnson, agent, Harriman, Oregon.

 Burns, Oregon.

Distress in the Stomach.

There are many people who have a distress in the stomach after meals. It is due to indigestion and easily remedied by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets after meals. Mrs. Henry Padgihan, Victor, N. Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." For sale by all dealers.

How to Prevent Croup.

It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Johns, Elidia, Ohio, relates her experience as follows: "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that croupy cough I would give him one or two doses of it and it would break the attack. I like it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly, and it is safe and reliable." Sold by all dealers.
