To Our Friends and Patrons: As we approach the Evening of the Year, we again consider it a pleasurable duty to formally acknowledge our deep appreciation of the continued support and confidence reposed in our institution by our many friends and patrons.

The year has dealt kindly with us, it being one of the most successful in our history, as has been evidenced by our several published reports. A greatly increased volume of business and growing clientele has necessitated additional office help and we have installed the very latest records and an up-to-date book-keeping machine in order that our present efficient service might fully conform with the most modern methods.

With the approach of the Holidays—the season of Good Will and Good Cheer—we desire to extend to our many friends our best wishes for a merry Christmas, and to express the hope that the new year may bring you, each and all, an abundant measure of prosperity.

Very Sincerely Yours, J. L. GAULT, Cashier
