Portland
 There has been considerable criticism in the past throughout Central and Eastern Oregon as to the attitude taken by the City of Portland regarding these interior sections. There has always been neglect and a dense ignorance displayed by the citizens of the metropolis of our state relative to the conditions, resources and possibilities of Eastern Oregon.

We had some hope of a change last summer when representative business men of Portland asked Mr. Strahorn to undertake the working out of a transportation scheme to connect up the isolated sections of the state and enable their products to enter the coast markets. Various meetings have been held throughout Central Oregon to further these plans and the different communities have seriously undertaken to do their part. All the publicity given to this matter deals with the activities of the rural districts and we have yet to see an item emanating from the business men of Portland indicating what aid they proposed to render. At a public meeting in Burns a couple of weeks since, Mr. Strahorn spoke very discouragingly of the possibility of securing much support from the Portland people, excusing them on the ground that they had problems of their own to take care of. Is not the upbuilding and development of the vast agricultural sections east of the Cascades and the securing of its trade a big problem for Portland?

True she has her Scenic Highway which will increase the sightseeing bus traffic and made some hotel and road-house business for a short season each year. She has her roses and it is a beautiful sentiment to pin a flower on the Mayor of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., while on a Summer vacation. This however, can hardly be charged up to state development, for the donee of this favor cannot be expected to return home and advise his constituents to pack up and move out to the waiting farms of Oregon. We realize that it is easy to criticize but at the same time we believe that there has been a lot of waste motion in the exploitation of Oregon. If the City of Portland will take twenty to thirty thousand of her large development funds raised each year and quietly bring out twenty good Middle-west or Eastern farmers, place ten in the Willamette Valley and ten in Eastern Oregon under satisfying conditions that she will be laying the foundation for material, abiding prosperity for the future.

So far as the Harney outlet is concerned our outlet and our hope for the immediate future is to the eastward. In self preservation we must develop and move forward along the most available lines. If Pacific Coast centers want our trade they must join with us in removing the handicaps which now prevent our going to them.

Harney County Case Decided by Judge
 A decree has been handed down by Judge Biggs this week in the case from Harney county of E. B. Hill, et al, vs The American Land & Livestock Co. It is the outcome of a dispute over the water in Trout creek. The degree established the right of various parties using the water in the stream and provided for the distributing of the water. J. W. McCulloch and P. J. Gallagher represent the defendant.

Are Your Taxes Delinquent.
 The court of this county has entered an order to the sheriff to issue delinquent certificates on all delinquent taxes at once. He is going to comply with this order and issue certificates on all delinquent taxes from 1909 to 1914. If you have failed to pay you should at once attend to the matter and save additional cost.
 W. A. GOODMAN, Sheriff.

Vernon Horton a Hero.
 In the crises of life are brought out the true traits of character and personal makeup of the individual, be he a man or boy. The presence of mind and prompt action of Vernon Horton Wednesday afternoon when his brother and companion were suddenly plunged through the ice, marks him as a lad of rare strength and ability. He is a hero and his future life will probably bear out the promises of his youth.

The incident which has cast a gloom over the Christmas festivities of the young people of this community carried with it some lesson: One, whether at work or sport, use discretion and caution and test well the path to be traveled. And a still greater one, at the time of emergency keep a cool head and make proper use of your mind and talents.

Baptist Church Doings
 The annual Sunday was a success. Every one seemed to be pleased with every number on the program and large congregations were present both morning and evening. It is our intention to arrange for other all day meetings in the near future.
 Rev. D. Loree has just concluded a successful revival meeting in Calamity. He will not visit Burns at this time.

Subject for next Sunday A. M. If Christ had not come to this world. P. M. The Man Jesus.
 You've all been wanting to see Marguerite Clark, the dainty, popular actress. She is at Tonawama Monday night in the "Wildflower"—see her.

The Passing of Mrs. Julian Byrd
 (Contributed)
 Our dear friend and neighbor and co-worker has passed from our sight. But the influence she exerted while here will live. The memory of her kind heart which prompted her good deeds, her strong character, her genial disposition—all these are far reaching in their effect on this community where she lived and wrought so many years, and they are precious to us. We are grateful them, and we will not forget Eva Pearl Swain was born at Harlan, Iowa, April, 19th 1875, while she was a babe her parents came to Polk County, this state and later moved to Cove. In 1890 they came to Harney County, settling near Lawen. She was then fifteen years old. She grew to maturity there, and was for several years a teacher in the schools of this county.
 On November 30th, 1898, she was married to Julian Byrd of Burns, and has lived here since. To this union were born three daughters; Evelyn, Marjorie and Gladys, all of whom, with her husband survive her.
 Mrs. Byrd was born of Christian parents, and reared amid religious influences. She imbibed religious principles from her earliest recollection, and scrupulously adhered to them through out her life. She was governed by her convictions; and tenaciously, tho' kindly set them forth. Thus she exerted a positive influence among a large circle of friends; and all felt her capability, and her advice was always sought. Just one brief year ago at this season, she was among the busiest workers on the Christmas Committee, and it was at her home that we met to pack the baskets and boxes for the poor.
 She was a teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday School; a member of the Christian Endeavor, and all last year she was present at every meeting unless prevented by illness, and took her part faithfully, and she had her family with her. We often felt the force and blessedness of her examples in this.
 She was one of the chief workers in the Ladies Aid; and everything that pertained to the welfare of the church claimed her first attention. Mrs. Byrd was President of the Burns Public Library Board, and in the capacity, and in the Order of The Eastern Star she was a willing and conscientious worker.
 She was a tender and affectionate mother, a loyal and true wife. Her husband and children "rise up, and call her blessed." She exemplified in her daily life the spirit of the Master and now she has answered his summons to "come up higher." She passed away Monday evening, December 20, 1915 at her home, surrounded by her loved ones just as the shades of evening began to gather.
 The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church, which was filled to capacity, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22, and were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Benson, and the interment was in the Burns Cemetery. The singing was rendered by a quartet consisting of Mrs. Farre, Mrs. Sutton, Platt T. Randall and Dr. Brown with Mrs. Rembold at the organ.
 The pall bearers were I. Schwartz, J. E. Loggan, C. B. McConnell, M. V. Dodge, Phil Smith and J. S. Cook.

How long does it take you to answer your telephone bell? If you are slow about answering the calling party is liable to grow tired and leave the telephone. The telephone operator cannot compel you to answer her summons. She simply forwards to you the signal, "Some one wishes to speak to you." It remains with you, the party called, to recognize this request by responding promptly. Delay on your part means inconvenience to others. You can help.
