Wild freaks of action! Weird tangling of circumstances! Sudden and dynamic changes of humor! These elements and considerable more make George M. Cohan's new Artercraft picture "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the most novel film of the year. When it was produced on the stage by George M. it defied the critics and won their most favorable reviews. It bewildered the audience and left them proclaiming it the most remarkable farce ever staged. It was heralded as the greatest novelty of the theatre and readily accepted as such wherever it appeared. On the screen of the Liberty Theatre tomorrow night this famous theatrical hit will disclose not only the unusual mystery, humor and thrills displayed by the original play but also the inimitable George M. Cohan himself, plus the wide scope of the cinema which was denied its stage presentation.
