Walter Cross and his granddaughters, Misses Cora and Jessie Shepard, were down from Trout Creek for a few days this week attending to the job of getting vaccinated for influenza. They went back to the ranch to remain until the ban is raised and the schools resume.

40 acre ranch 3 miles from Castle Rock, Wash. 4 acre cleared 14 acre tillable all fine soil 4 room house good spring and running stream. Plenty of wood. A good little ranch for any purpose. Price $1600. Will trade for Harney Valley land. Address Geo. W. Fenton, Camp 7-E, Newport, Ore.

Died—Wednesday afternoon, at Crane, James Officer. Deceased formerly resided in the Dayville country but of late years had been residing in the vicinity of Crane. The immediate cause of his death is reported as from a hemorrhage. Deceased was suffering from tubercular trouble and was in a store in Crane when a severe coughing spell came on him. He walked out on the street where he soon expired from the blood. We understand he leaves a wife and six children to mourn him.

Harry Smith came in from the ranch the other day suffering from a cold. His wife conceived the scheme to keep him at home for a few days and had the authorities quarantine the house as a suspect of influenza but it didn't work for very long as Andrew Irwin, who looks after those quarantined, took the mail over and asked what he could do and when Harry appeared on the scene and Andy got a look at him he said: "You haven't any flu", wait on yourself, I'm too busy to be a party to such camouflage."

Cal Geer called in to say "hello Thursday as he was going by and in discussing the weather he remarked it was a finer day than it was 50 years ago on Thursday and when asked why he remembered that particular day so well he said that 50 years ago on the 21st day of November he and Mrs. Geer were made man and wife. It is a foregone conclusion that they have been years of contentment and good fellowship as they are still sweethearts. Their many friends of this city certainly extend best wishes to these respected people who have journeyed together for so many years and who have been responsible for many happy times for younger people who had the good fortune to be numbered as their friends. May they live to celebrate their diamond wedding in the hope of the writer.

The Times-Herald is informed by neighbors of the Drewsey country that neighborhood can boast of the crack rifle shot of the world in the person of Jesse Jones. The boy had always been a good shot at game and remarked at the time he was drafted that if Uncle Sam would let him take his own gun he'd guarantee a Hun for every shot he fired within range. Upon arriving at Camp Lewis he was taken to the rifle range with his squad and scored a bull's eye every shot at a distance of 440 yards at a moving target. The officer in charge thought there was some mistake and tried him again with the same result. Jesse was sent post-haste on east and then over where it is understood he made good in his average. That's the kind of record the American boys were expected to make and Jesse is one of them that came up to expectations and then some.

Charley Backus was in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mahon were in town Wednesday.

G. W. Simmons and J. O. Butler were up from Narrows the fore part of this week assisting a neighbor in making proof on his land.

Henry Trowbridge was among our visitors during the present week. He makes frequent trips to our vicinity in his business dealings.

The Red Cross Christmas packages have had the attention of Rev. Father Francis and some of the ladies during the week. The time for mailing has been extended to Nov. 30 which will give more time for this work and thus give the boys a better chance to receive something from home.

James Anderson and Joe Lillard were in town Thursday renewing acquaintances and attending to some business affairs. Jim had just completed his work on the United War Drive in his community and hurried over to turn in his money before he spent it he said. If all the people were like Jim Anderson and his neighbors it wouldn't be any trick at all to secure war funds.

Friends in this section have recently received letters from Mrs. James Mahon and her daughter, Mrs. Claude Smyth, to the effect that the latter has been ill with Spanish influenza at Los Angeles, but is recovering. They are spending the winter in Southern California and have asked that this great religious weekly be sent to them for the remainder of the time they are down there.

Mrs. E. C. Eggleston called at this office the first of the week and stated that she had decided to continue the business of her late husband. He was connected with the Oregon Life Insurance Co. and was a district man of important territory. Mrs. Eggleston received flattering propositions from the company to continue, the work of Mr. Eggleston and after consulting with some of her friends in this section decided to accept the responsibility. She is a capable woman and one that will do creditable work.

Marshall McDonald informs The Times-Herald that the hospital that was fitted up for influenza patients in the building formerly occupied by Mrs. Piroved has been closed as the patients had all recovered but later some developed and he was arranging to house them in the Mary Caldwell building which is more convenient for such purpose. The first emergency hospital was taken care of by Mrs. J. E. Sizemore and Mrs. Katherine Graham who proved fine nurses and capable women. They deserve the best wishes of this community for their sacrifice in undertaking this important work and munity. In connection with the present epidemic of influenza there certainly have the thanks of the community to those who also should be given particular praise but as the writer other than the two ladies above, is not familiar with all it refrains from making any personal mention. Some time we may be able to get the necessary information to give proper mention to those who have given their time and skill toward relieving the situation.

John Seethoff, Sen., died at Metolius, Ore., last Sunday. Mr. Seethoff lived in this city for about two years prior to 1912 and still owns a section of land adjoining town. He moved from here to Metolius where he built a large flour mill. He leaves four children and his widow. Mrs. H. V. Schmalz is a daughter of the deceased.

Fred Goyt and family took their departure last Monday morning for Portland. Fred had disposed of his interests in the Universal Garage and was preparing to move to Portland where he has a position; on Sunday morning they received a telegram announcing the sudden death of Mrs. Goyt's mother which hastened their departure. Fred stated to the writer that he had a good position in Portland which was so attractive that he preferred it to a business of his own.

Rye Smyth and his son Claude were here from Happy Valley Wednesday on business.

The aviator at Dallas, Texas, who set the world's record by accomplishing 192 consecutive loops, must have imagined at his flash that he had been suddenly whirled back to non-prohibition days.

G. W. Clevenger is preparing to move his undertaking business into the Odd Fellow building, to occupy the north store room of the building where W. E. Huston formerly conducted his business. The place is being remodeled for his occupancy.

Nick Voegtly and wife were here the fore part of this week from Alberson. They came in to visit with relatives and friends for a few days and to get vaccinated. Nick states he is doing a very good business in the mercantile line at that point.

THE WAR'S ON GERMAN TERRITORY NOW.

Here is a detailed map of the allies' mortgage on Germany. It is the line where Foch will stop his troops until Germany signs the peace papers which the allies will dictate. It means that the war is moved over into Germany, and, if further fighting is necessary, it will be in Hun villages. The shaded area shows German territory, with bridge-heads across the Rhine, which will be occupied. France and Belgium are free from the cannon's roar.
